

Writing Guide

of

East Asia School of Theology

Benson Goh

BLANK PAGE

Writing Guide
of
East Asia School of Theology

Benson Goh

Copyright © 2020, 2022, 2024 by Benson Goh
Cover photo and design by Benson Goh benson@east.edu.sg
All rights reserved

Published by

EAST

East Asia School of Theology
118 Joo Chiat Road #04-01
Singapore 427407
Republic of Singapore www.east.edu.sg

Table of Contents

Foreword ..... vi

Preface to 2024 Edition ..... vii

Preface and Acknowledgement to the 2020 and 2022 Editions ..... viii

PART I ACHIEVING ACADEMIC INTEGRITY 1

Form and Style and General Guidelines 2

Ten Commandments for Writing Assignment Papers 3
Punctuality, Spelling and Grammar 4
The Pitfall of a "Bounced Paper" 4

Producing Plagiarism-free Academic Assignments 6

An Example of Paraphrasing with Quotation and Citation 7
What is Plagiarism? 9
Disciplinary Actions for Plagiarism 9
Types of Plagiarism 11
Citations 15
Quotations 17
Using One's Own Previously Submitted Materials 19

Turnitin 20

Samples of Turnitin Similarity Reports 20
Understanding the Turnitin Scores and Results 23

PART II NOTES-BIBLIOGRAPHY CITATION STYLE 24

General Instructions 25

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume) 26

One Author 26
Two Authors 27
Three Authors 27
Four or more Authors 27
Organization or Corporate Author/s 28
A Later or Revised Edition 28

Editor/s or Translator/s without Author/s 28
Author/s with Editor/s and/or Translator/s 29
One Source Quoted in Another 30
An article or chapter written by an Author found in a book authored or edited by another Author 30

Books in Multivolume or Commentary Sets or Series 31
A Separately Titled Volume in a Multivolume Set with a General Title 31
A Multivolume Work with No Individual Title 31
A Separately Authored and Titled Chapter in a Larger Volume in a Multivolume Set 32
A Separately Authored and Titled Volume in a Multivolume Commentary Set Without Volume Number 32
A Separately Authored and Titled Volume in a Multivolume Commentary Set with Volume Number 33
A Volume in a Series with the Series Editor 33
A Volume in a Series with Author and Series Editor 33

Bible Reference Resources 35
Bible Dictionary Entries 35
Theological Dictionary or Encyclopedia Entries 38
Greek and Hebrew Lexicon Entries 40
Strong's Concordance & Lexicon Entries 43
Bible Hub and Blue Letter Bible Resources 43
Study Bible Notes 45
NET Bible Notes 47
BibleRef Notes 48
English Dictionary Entries 49

Books in Digital Library and Internet 50
Digital Theological Library 50
Internet E-Books 52

App-Based and Device-Based Electronic Resources 54
Logos Bible Software Resources 54
Adobe Digital Editions (ADE) 56
Device-Based E-Books 56
Other Digital Resources 57

Journal Articles 58
Printed Journals 58
Printed Journals made available Online 59

Newspaper and Magazine Articles 61
Printed Newspaper 61

Digital or Electronic News 61
Printed Magazine 62
Digital or Electronic Magazines 63

Websites and Social-Media 64
Websites and Blogs 64
Social-Media 66

Papers, Sermons, Lectures, and Others 68
Papers, Lectures, and Others 68
Sermons Transcripts 68
Video or Sound Recording (YouTube) 68
Podcasts 69
Interviews and Personal Communications 70

Bibliography 71

Citation Management Tools 76

PART III AUTHOR-DATE (PARENTHETICAL) CITATION STYLE 77

General Instructions 78

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume) 79
One Author 79
Two Authors 80
Three Authors 80
Four or more Authors 80
Organization or Corporate Author/s 80
A Later or Revised Edition 81
Editor/s or Translator/s without Author/s 81
Author/s with Editor/s and/or Translator/s 82
One Source Quoted in Another 82
An article or chapter written by an Author found in a book authored or edited by another Author 82

Books in Multivolume or Commentary Sets or Series 84
A Separately Titled Volume in a Multivolume Set with a General Title 84
A Multivolume Work with No Individual Title 84
A Separately Authored and Titled Chapter in a Larger Volume in a Multivolume Set 84
A Separately Authored and Titled Volume in a Multivolume Commentary Set Without Volume Number 85

A Separately Authored and Titled Volume in a Multivolume Commentary Set with Volume Number 85
A Volume in a Series with the Series Editor 86
A Volume in a Series with Author and Series Editor 86

Books in Digital Library and Internet 87
Digital Theological Library 87
Internet E-Books 89

App-Based and Device-Based Electronic Resources 91
Logos Bible Software Resources 91
Adobe Digital Editions (ADE) 92
Device-Based E-Books 93
Other Digital Resources 93

Journal Articles 94
Printed Journals 94
Printed Journals made available Online 95

Newspaper and Magazine Articles 96
Printed Newspaper 96
Digital or Electronic News 96
Printed Magazine 97
Digital or Electronic Magazines 97

Websites and Social-Media 98
Websites and Blogs 98
Social-Media 99

Papers, Sermons, Lectures, and Others 100
Papers, Lectures, and Others 100
Sermons Transcripts 100
Video or Sound Recording (YouTube) 100
Podcasts 101
Interviews and Personal Communications 101

References 102

PART IV GUIDE ON GENERAL STYLE AND FORMAT OF PAPER 107

Front Matters for Assignments Papers 108

Headings and Sub-headings....112

Bibliography or References Page for Assignments Papers....113

Bible Book Names and Abbreviations....114

Selected Religious Publishers in Short Form....117

Checklist for Assignment Papers....119

Bibliography....120

Foreword

Most of us would agree that writing is hard work as it takes time, discipline and a lot of thinking and decision making for us to communicate what we really want to say. Some would describe writing as cooking a dish while some playfully call it Lego-building. In fact, I recently read about a university that taught their students on academic writing using Lego pieces. Writing is a tedious process, similar to putting the right amount of different ingredients to whip up a delicious dish or finding and assembling Lego blocks to create a beautiful model. Whether it is cooking or Lego-building, I always find it helpful to have a recipe or instructional guide that provides me with some steps as I embark on a project.

When it comes to writing a research paper, I find myself going to the EAST Writing Guide as my first point of reference. Not only am I familiar with it because I have been using it throughout my theological studies, but because it also provides a concise, practical and easy-to-read guide for any academic writing. Previous editions of this writing guide were thoughtfully crafted with helping seminary students in mind. This revised edition continues with the very same purpose, but with additional explanations on citations and how to avoid committing plagiarism.

Dr. Benson has diligently invested hours into the revision of this guide. In order to ensure this guide serves our students' needs, Dr. Benson has taken a number of good examples from our EAST students' assignments as illustrations. I am grateful for his willingness to undertake this task to serve our students. As a meticulous bible scholar, he has carefully and thoughtfully designed and presented this guide for all of us.

I trust that this writing guide will serve as a great resource for you in your academic writing journey. As you explore and search for the ingredients and building blocks for your writings, it is my prayer that you will experience the joy of writing.

Liong Kwok Wai
EAST Academic Dean
June 2024

Preface to 2024 Edition

This edition has extensive changes made for two reasons. Reviewing the earlier edition of the guide, I have found numerous errors, lack of clarity in differentiating various types of plagiarism, and a major lack of explanation in the citation styles and examples. As such, I decided to write, re-write, and explain as many parts as possible to provide a clearer understanding and succinct instructions. The aim is that you will have a good guide to last your whole program studies at EAST.

I also purposed that this edition will last for at least three to five years. Updating a writing guide requires a lot of time and effort. Doing it every one to two years, as was the case before 2020, is not a work I look forward to. Thus, I have sought to cover as much ground as I can so that this edition will last longer before any need for revision.

Before itemizing the changes in broad strokes, I wish to thank Brandon Chan for supplying a good number of examples for the notes-bibliography citation style from his past paper submissions as a student in EAST. In the year that he was in my Biblical Greek student, he demonstrated not only a superior grasp of Greek knowledge and skills but also very good concise writing and citation skills. I also wish to appreciate Amy Lau for her suggestions to improve this guide based on her experience as a faculty member teaching many courses and grading many assignments.

The first improvement to note is that the PDF version of this guide now contains a content or outline table on the sidebar of your PDF reading app from which you can click on to go to different chapters and sections quickly.

Inside the guide, there is now a whole section on the various types of plagiarism. Examples are given to help students understand what each type is. Suggestions and advise are also given for how to avoid committing them unwittingly. An additional section on Turnitin is now given to describe what this software does, what the Turnitin similarity report contains, and how to read them.

The notes-bibliography and author-date citation styles now occupy two major parts on their own, with the notes-bibliography style being positioned in Part II and the author-date style in Part III. All the citation examples are also now regrouped under new categories to help students locate them better. More examples are now provided and more explanations and descriptions are given to help students understand why certain formats are done the way they need to be.

It has been my joy to complete writing this new guide. It is my honour that this work will accompany you throughout your academic journey at EAST. I hope you will find it helpful.

Benson Goh, PhD
June 2024

Preface and Acknowledgement to the 2020 and 2022 Editions

When I first started theological studies, one lesson I did not anticipate learning is this: my paper's formats and footnotes are as important as my thoughts and arguments in it. While readers are most interested in the latter, the former is what makes it credible and believable. Needless to say, I was very surprised that my Greek teacher would literally measure the margins of my research paper with a ruler to check that it was precisely one inch! What words should and should not be italicized was not a slant I had imagined I would become sensitive to. Over time, "Turabian" became for me a byword alongside "indicative mood" and "eschatology." Although I was not able to fully appreciate when and why a period or comma should be used in citations then, the act of ensuring they are accurately done began to have an effect on me. I became more conscious of what I thought an author was saying and more careful of how I was relating and applying it to my situations. I hope that you too would welcome academic and scholarly writing not merely as an unavoidable part of your life at East Asia School of Theology (EAST) but more importantly an indispensable and rewarding skill to hone in your service and ministry in God's kingdom.

This guide builds upon the former annually-updated A Guide to Term Paper Writing. It would not be possible were it not for the hard work and contribution of the following EAST faculty members (current and former) in creating and updating its predecessor, and proof-reading it:

Jeannette Shubert, PhD, DMin
Lau Ying Kheng, EdD
Keith Shubert, PhD
Victor Kwok, ThM
Kwa Kiem Kiok, PhD
Ng Tjoh Dju, PhD
Casey Ng, PhD
Davina Soh, PhD

This guide provides a compilation of academic policies and expectations regarding written papers at EAST. It serves as a quick reference to common parenthetical and reference list citations (in author-date style) and footnote and bibliography citations (in notes-bibliography style).

The lists of instructions and examples on citation styles are based on the two widely used and credible research and writing manuals below. When in doubt or when examples of your sources are not presented in this guide, you should consult these two manuals.

Turabian, Kate L. A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations: Chicago Style for Students and Researchers. Edited by Wayne C. Booth, Gregory G. Colomb, Joseph M. Williams, Joseph Bizup, William T. FitzGerald, and The University of Chicago Press Editorial Staff. 9th ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2018.

Society of Biblical Literature. The SBL Handbook of Style: For Biblical Studies and Related Disciplines. 2nd ed. Atlanta, GA: SBL Press, 2014.

This new edition comprises a major reorganization of the examples of both author-date and notes-bibliography citation styles into two categories: Internet and electronic sources, and print sources. This is to give students and faculty more focused guidance on citing Internet and electronic sources in light of their prevalent usage in academic research and writing. Paraphrasing, citations, and quotations are also consolidated into one chapter. For the electronic PDF version, the content page is hyperlinked such that you can go to the specific chapter or section by clicking on it. Clicking on the page number of every page brings you back to the content page. To distinguish this version from its forerunner, and along with the support of the Academic Dean's Team, it is thus given a new title and an editor is named.

The first version of this guide was done in 2020 at the peak of the COVID-19 outbreak. I thank Jo, my wife, for allowing me to spend long hours and days labouring over the editing of this guide. We would have exercised more often were it not for the "circuit breaker" mode that Singapore was still in in her fight against COVID-19. The real reason was I had to finish this. Jo knew that and encouraged me to get it done. Thank you Da!

I also wish to thank two of my former teachers. Davina Soh instilled in me the importance of paying attention to the details of paper formats and citations during my student days at EAST. She set me on a crucial research writing foundation that paid off in huge dividends when I eventually did my doctoral work at Asbury Theological Seminary. Dr. Fredrick J. Long, my doctoral mentor, reinforced and exemplified these same principles. He models solid scholarly research and writing which I now seek to pass on to my students. I am indebted to them. Incidentally, they are both Greek teachers, and I too have become one.

The icons found on the headers of pages 16–26 and 33–50 of Part II "Guides on Citation Styles" are made by Freepik and used with permission from www.flaticon.com.

Benson Goh, PhD
Editor
Updated 20 June 2022

PART I ACHIEVING ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Form and Style and General Guidelines

One of the goals of East Asia School of Theology (EAST) is to equip and develop Christian leaders who are communicating God's Word effectively to others. Therefore, it is very crucial that we emphasize good and careful written communication.

Your assignment papers' format must conform to the form and style presented in Kate L. Turabian's A Manual for Writers 9th ed. and Society of Biblical Literature, SBL Handbook of Style 2nd ed., unless specified otherwise by your course instructor.

a. Include the school's name, the name of the course, the title of the paper, the course instructor's title and name, your name, and the date submitted on the cover (or title) page.

b. Double-spacing for main text and single-spacing for block quotations, footnotes, and reference list or bibliography entries.

c. Use Times New Roman font. Do not use ornamental fonts. Twelve-point type should be used for the main text and ten-point type should be used for footnotes.

d. All directly quoted or paraphrased contents and ideas from sources (books, journals, websites, etc.) must have proper citations, whether using parenthetical (author-date) or notes-bibliography (footnoting) citation styles. EAST allows for both styles. Please check with the course instructors which style you should use in that course and then use it.

e. New students are allowed to use the parenthetical (author-date) style for their assignments in their first semester and when they are attending the core course on research and writing. However, by the time they complete the core course on research and writing, they are expected to know and be able to use the notes-bibliography (footnoting) style which more EAST instructors prefer. As such, it is more beneficial for students to master the notes-bibliography style early in their program studies.

f. Visiting (credit) students should follow the instructions in this guide, in particular the citation samples shown in PART II "Guide on Citation Styles." Whenever they are in doubt about citations, they should clarify with their instructors and follow the rules and formats stated in Turabian and Society of Biblical Literature as much as possible.

g. A "Bibliography" or "Reference List" must be included and accurately documented according to the citation styles used. "Bibliography" is used for notes-bibliography (footnoting) style and "Reference List" is used for parenthetical (author-date) style.

h. Additional items or content related to the paper but not crucial to be included the main text may be collated into an Appendix or Appendices.

i. Pages must be numbered starting with the page after the table of contents, if there is one. Page numbers should be centered at the bottom of the page throughout the paper.

j. Follow the "Ten Commandments for Writing Assignment Papers" on the next page.

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR WRITING ASSIGNMENT PAPERS

Follow these ten commandments in writing and evaluating your papers.

1. Understand your assignment. Make sure you clearly understand what you are required to do for your assignment. Ask your course instructor for clarification.

2. Plan ahead. Set dates for (1) determining your topic and available books, (2) making an outline, (3) completing your research, and (4) writing your draft. You should finish your second draft at least two days before your paper is due so you have time to proofread and revise it.

3. Clearly state your central idea. Have you clearly stated what you are trying to accomplish in the paper? Somewhere near the beginning of the paper there should be at least one sentence which clearly states the purpose or central idea of your paper.

4. Develop your arguments. The points you make paragraph-by-paragraph should support your main idea. Each should be as clearly stated as your original statement of purpose or central idea.

5. Support your points. Each time you make a claim or statement, you should support that statement. Use arguments, examples, data, and illustrations to support each point. Make sure all the information is accurate. Ask yourself, "Who is my audience? If I were that person, would I be convinced by what I have written?"

6. Organize your ideas in a logical sequence. Be sure your paper has a clear order of the sequence of points so that it is easy for the reader to follow your reasoning sentence by sentence and paragraph by paragraph.

7. Include transitions between ideas. Use transitional words, phrases, or transitional sentences as you move from one point to the next. Don't simply launch into an argument without giving some hint as to how it ties to the one before it. Begin each paragraph with words, a phrase, or a sentence that ties the preceding thought to the one you are about to make.

8. Begin well and end well. Make sure your introduction catches the reader's attention and gives the reader a clear idea of what is the purpose of the paper. Your conclusion needs to wrap up the main points and reiterate the central idea. After writing your draft, ask, "Does my paper fulfil the assignment?"

9. Check the mechanics. Go through your paper checking for (1) accuracy, (2) grammar, (3) punctuation, (4) spelling, and (5) capitalization. Use the spell-check and grammar-check functions of your computer word-processor to do these tasks.

10. Prepare your final copy. "Clean up" your final draft for presentation to your course instructor. Check all the notes and reference list or bibliography entries for accuracy and proper form. Print your final copy. Proofread it carefully. Correct it. Then turn it in rejoicing!

PUNCTUALITY, SPELLING AND GRAMMAR

1. All late assignments will be penalized with some mark deductions or grade reduction unless the course instructor determines otherwise. Often, the later an assignment is submitted, the greater the penalty.

2. Check the spelling and grammar of all written assignments and ensure they are proofread before submission. Assignments that are hard to read and/or understand could be returned to the student for resubmission and may include an appropriate reduction in the grade.

   All of us make mistakes in our writings, whether we are good at English or not. Mistakes can often be detected and corrected when you use the spelling and grammar checking functions in your computer word-processor or apps. It is a good habitual practice to use these features so as to ensure that the words you write are spelled correctly and that the ideas you are communicating are easily read and understood. Therefore, remember to check your spelling and grammar in your work and make the necessary corrections after you have finished writing!

   Proofread your work upon completion to refine the quality. One person wrote, "Suffering is better, but its fruit is sweet" when what he really wanted to say is "Suffering is bitter . . .". Another wrote, "We need to tell everyone that Jesus Christ is a lie today" when he actually meant "Jesus Christ is alive today". The spelling checking function in your computer word-processor cannot spot or correct these kinds of error in meaning, unless you really think so. Proofreading, however, will help to identify them for correction.

   To proofread your work consistently, you need to avoid two unhealthy writing habits. Firstly, avoid writing a paper at the last minute. When you do this, you usually have little time for proofreading. The second bad habit is to proofread the work only immediately after you have finished writing. If you proofread one time at this stage, you may miss some errors because you are mentally tired. You may read what you think you have written, but not what you actually wrote. You can proofread your work either directly from your monitor screen or from a printed draft (though often mistakes are better caught in a printed document than they are on a screen). Your final proofreading is best done on a printed copy of your paper.

3. Your course instructor may want you to indicate on the assignment the time you took to complete it. This has no bearing on your grade. It helps the instructor evaluate the estimated time he/she thinks is needed and has planned for the assignment.

THE PITFALL OF A "BOUNCED PAPER"

A "bounced paper" happens when the final paper submitted is not clear or when there are major problems with a paper that prevents the course instructor from grading it. When you receive a "bounced paper" or a returned paper without a grade, do not feel that you are being attacked personally, but give thanks to God because you are being given another chance to make a grade instead of receiving a failing grade "F" for it.

Course instructors have the right to return papers to students without grades and to require students to redo their papers when the written communication is unclear or when the work content does not reflect sufficient learning. They do not enjoy it but do so because they expect you to do your best to abide by the standard of performance for writing papers, essays, and written projects (see above). Please consult your teacher if you are in doubt about what is wrong or how to correct it when you receive a “bounced paper.”

Producing Plagiarism-free Academic Assignments

As you pursue your degree here at EAST, you would do well to return to this guide to reread this part on "Achieving Academic Integrity." You will better appreciate and understand the explanations and apply them in your assignments. The next few sections will demonstrate how paraphrasing, citations, and quotations should be done and can be done well. It is also critical that students understand what plagiarism is, the severity of plagiarism, and that it is possible to produce papers, essays, and written assignments that are plagiarism-free.

Writing summaries, paraphrasing, and quoting other researchers or speakers are essential skills you need to develop as a student and minister in your church, ministry, and work place. One of the main goals that you should do these in writing assignment papers is that you learn to use the facts, data, and information presented by others to substantiate your own arguments and thoughts. Turabian's definitions and explanations of these skills are concise and clear. They are reproduced in full here to establish a common basis for all EAST students and faculty.

> You should build most of your paper out of your own words that reflect your own thinking. But you'll support much of that thinking with words of others, delivered in quotations, paraphrases, and summaries. …
>
> - Summarize when details are irrelevant or a source isn't important enough to warrant much space.
> - Paraphrase when you can state what a source says more clearly or concisely or when your argument depends on the details in a source but not on its specific words.
> - Quote for these purposes:
>   - The words themselves are evidence that backs up your reasons.
>   - The words are from an authority who backs up your claims.
>   - The words are strikingly original or express your key concepts so compellingly that the quotation can frame an extended discussion.
>   - The words express a claim that you disagree with, and to be fair you want to state it exactly.
>
> Readers value research only to the degree that they trust its sources. So for every summary, paraphrase, or quotation you use, cite its bibliographic data in the appropriate style. Under no circumstances should you stitch together passages from the internet with a few sentences of your own. Teachers grind their teeth reading such papers, dismayed by their lack of original thinking. Readers of advanced projects rejects such patchworks out of hand.[1]

[1] Kate L. Turabian, A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations: Chicago Style for Students and Researchers, ed. Wayne C. Booth et. al., 9th ed. (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2018), 77–78.

AN EXAMPLE OF PARAPHRASING WITH QUOTATION AND CITATION

Turabian instructs, "You paraphrase appropriately when you represent an idea in your own words more clearly or pointedly than the source does."[2] Consider the following excerpt taken from Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free authored by F. F. Bruce.

> It appears, then, that while Paul was born into a Jewish family which enjoyed citizen rights in a Greek-speaking city, Aramaic and not Greek was the language spoken in the home and perhaps also in the synagogue which they attended. Unlike many Jews resident in Anatolia, this family was strictly observant of the Jewish way of life and maintained its links with the home country. Paul would have been given little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus during his boyhood: indeed, his parents made sure of an orthodox up-bringing for him by arranging for him to spend his formative years in Jerusalem.[3]

Below is an example of how Bruce's original paragraph is paraphrased, quoted, and cited in blue (for illustration) according to the two citation styles that EAST allows.

Paraphrasing, quoting, and citing in notes-bibliography (footnotes) citation style:

According to F. F. Bruce, the apostle Paul had "little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus" in his growing up years.[1] He reasons that Paul's parents, being devout Jews who valued their heritage, very likely led the family to adhere closely to their Jewish culture and speak Aramaic rather than Greek in their daily and religious life.[2] Bruce further suggests that they would have sent Paul to Jerusalem when he was young so that he might be totally immersed in the Jewish culture and living.[3] As a result, although Paul was a Roman citizen of Tarsus permeated by the Greek culture, he was not absorbed by it.[4]

[1] F. F. Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free (Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1977), 43.

[2] Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free, 43.

[3] Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free, 43.

[4] Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free, 43.

[2] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 82.

[3] F. F. Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free (Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1977), 43.

Paraphrasing, quoting, and citing in parenthetical (author-date) citation style:

> According to F. F. Bruce, the apostle Paul had "little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus" in his growing up years (1977, 43). He reasons that Paul's parents, being devout Jews who valued their heritage, very likely led the family to adhere closely to their Jewish culture and speak Aramaic rather than Greek in their daily and religious life (Bruce 1977, 43). Bruce further suggests that they would have sent Paul to Jerusalem when he was young so that he might be totally immersed in the Jewish culture and living (1977, 43). As a result, although Paul was a Roman citizen of Tarsus permeated by the Greek culture, he was not absorbed by it (Bruce 1977, 43).

In the examples above, it can be observed that:

a. Paraphrasing is expressing what someone has said or written using your own words and in a summarized fashion. The paraphrased sentences concisely communicate the idea or information of the original but are not a word-for-word duplicate of it.

b. The paraphrased sentences do not need to be placed within quotation marks. Only the parts that are quoted directly from the source are placed within quotation marks.

c. It is critical to give a proper citation of the original source. In the examples above, the original source is the author F. F. Bruce in his book Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free. A proper citation must include all the bibliographic data unique to and required of that source so that others can find it.

d. Every sentence in which an idea or content from an author has been used, referenced, or quoted, a citation should be given at the end of that sentence.

e. It is a good practice to identify and write the name of the author before referencing or quoting his/her material. This shows respect to the author or scholar and that you are acknowledging he/she is the owner of the content that follows. In the first instance of writing the name of the author, write the full name (usually the one found on the book cover or title page). In subsequent writing of the author's name, only the last name is needed. One does not need to add the author's honorific title or salutations (e.g., "Dr") because these are rarely used in books but it is not wrong to do so and can be a form of further recognition and respect. To explain what this means, read the paragraph below in which the author's name and the pronoun referring to him are shown in blue for illustration:

> According to F. F. Bruce, the apostle Paul had "little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus" in his growing up years. He reasons that Paul's parents, being devout Jews who valued their heritage, very likely led the family to adhere closely to their Jewish culture and speak Aramaic rather than Greek in their daily and religious life. Bruce further suggests that they would have sent Paul to Jerusalem when he was young so that he might be totally immersed in the Jewish culture and living. As a result, although Paul was a Roman citizen of Tarsus permeated by the Greek culture, he was not absorbed by it.

WHAT IS PLAGIARISM?

The Oxford English Dictionary for Schools defines "plagiarize" as "to take someone else's writings or ideas and use them as if they were your own."[4] It is wrong to buy a research paper from someone else or to submit someone else's work as their own. Most students understand this but many do not realize that the improper use or inadequate acknowledgment of source materials—books, periodical articles, internet sources, reports, and etc—also constitutes plagiarism. Thus, if you had learned a concept or idea from a certain author and had explained it in your own words in your paper but had not given a proper citation for that book, you have plagiarized. If you had quoted directly from that author, i.e. used the actual original words or phrases from his book in the original order they are written, but had not encased them in quotation marks (" "), you have plagiarised even if you had given a proper citation for it.

Plagiarism is easy to avoid if you learn and do paraphrasing well, and acknowledge all direct or indirect uses of anyone's research and work. This includes quotes taken from the Internet as well as more traditional sources. When it comes to plagiarism, ignorance of the rules and guidelines is NOT an acceptable excuse. Plagiarism is considered a violation of academic integrity because it is taking someone else's work and representing or mispresenting it as your own. It is seen by good scholars around the world as a form of cheating, stealing, bearing false witness, or even hypocrisy because you are not acknowledging from whom or where you took the information. You will be held responsible for it whether you intended to do so or not because, as a student of higher education, the global community of scholars expect you to know better.

DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS FOR PLAGIARISM

To help our students develop their own original idea and thinking, EAST offers courses and coaching to help students learn to avoid plagiarism. The academic rigour that avoids plagiarism is an on-going learning process.

Plagiarism can result in significant penalties that can damage your reputation and credibility in EAST and in Christian ministry. When a student submits work that bears indications of plagiarism, the course instructor will return the paper and require the student to make all necessary corrections and then resubmit it. A notation will be given to the Dean of Academics that the student has plagiarised.

If a student receives more than one notation, the Dean of Academics may take further actions that include requiring the student to do one or more of the following depending on the facts related to the repeated violation: a) re-take the core course on research and writing; b) take a reduced academic workload; c) re-take the course in which the student plagiarised; d) be suspended for a period; e) be expelled from the school.

Details of disciplinary actions for plagiarism are listed in the "Violations and Plagiarism" section of the EAST Student Handbook.

---

[4] Oxford English Dictionary for Schools (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2012), s.v. "plagiarize."

The Plagiarism Spectrum 2.0

turnitin

The Plagiarism Spectrum 2.0 identifies twelve types of unoriginal work. Familiarity with traditional forms of plagiarism and emerging trends helps students develop original thinking skills and do their best original work.

Original Thinking

When someone submits assignments that are their own work, composed of original ideas built on attributed sources.

Student Collusion

Working with other students on an assignment meant for individual assessment.

Word-for-Word Plagiarism

Copying and pasting content without proper attribution.

Self Plagiarism

Reusing one's previously published or submitted work without proper attribution.

Mosaic Plagiarism

Weaving phrases and text from several sources into one's own work. Adjusting sentences without quotation marks or attribution.

Software-based Text Modification

Taking content written by another and running it through a software tool (text spinner, translation engine) to evade plagiarism detection.

Contract Cheating

Engaging a third party (for free, for pay, or in-kind) to complete an assignment and representing that as one's own work.

Inadvertent Plagiarism

Forgetting to properly cite or quote a source or unintentional paraphrasing.

Paraphrase Plagiarism

Rephrasing a source's ideas without proper attribution.

Computer Code Plagiarism

Copying or adapting source code without permission from and attribution to the original creator.

Source-based Plagiarism

Providing inaccurate or incomplete information about sources such that they cannot be found.

Manual Text Modification

Manipulating text with the intention of misleading plagiarism detection software.

Data Plagiarism

Falsifying or fabricating data or improperly appropriating someone else's work, putting a researcher, institution, or publisher's reputation in jeopardy.

A note about AI Writing Tools:

While AI writing tools offer huge potential for creativity and innovation in the classroom, misconduct may occur with unauthorized use. When students use AI generated text without attribution and represent it as their own original work, such misuse may qualify as a breach of academic integrity.

www.turnitin.com

©2023 Turnitin, LLC. All rights reserved.

TII_GL_PlagSpectrum2.0_StudentGuide_Infographic_Tabloid_US_0623

TYPES OF PLAGIARISM

Turnitin is a software that EAST uses to check students' works for plagiarism. As shown in the infographic poster on the previous page, Turnitin names up to 12 types of plagiarism that students tend to commit and must be avoided at all costs.[5]

Some of the more commonly found types of plagiarism committed by EAST students are listed below. They are defined and explained in such a way as to make students more aware of themselves and what types of plagiarism they have a higher tendency to commit or be found committing. They also serve as the knowledge base on which teachers can discuss plagiarism with students so as to educate and mentor you to improve. They are never intended to show students how to plagiarise. On the contrary, explaining them openly paves the way for constructive conversations and education on how to avoid them.

"Inadvertent" and "Paraphrase" plagiarism[6]

The simplest way one can commit plagiarism is failing to cite a source, even if one has paraphrased a source very well. Using the paraphrased paragraph of Bruce's original work shown earlier, it will appear like the example below in red without a citation.

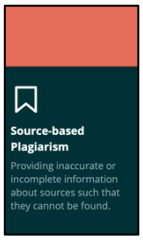

This is a very common problem as students struggle with the rigors of academic studies or when they fail to understand the necessity of doing citations or the implications of not doing them. Regardless how one might argue it is unintentional or forgetfulness, he is not excused from the personal responsibility to ensure citations are provided and readers are not misled to think the written content is his own work when in fact it is not. The simplest way to avoid this is to write the citation in your notes or drafts immediately without delay when you are doing your research.

> According to F. F. Bruce, the apostle Paul had "little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus" in his growing up years. He reasons that Paul's parents, being devout Jews who valued their heritage, very likely led the family to adhere closely to their Jewish culture and speak Aramaic rather than Greek in their daily and religious life. Bruce further suggests that they would have sent Paul to Jerusalem when he was young so that he might be totally immersed in the Jewish culture and living. As a result, although Paul was a Roman citizen of Tarsus permeated by the Greek culture, he was not absorbed by it.

---

[5] Turnitin, "The Plagiarism Spectrum 2.0," 2023, accessed April 19, 2024, https://www.turnitin.com/infographics/the-plagiarism-spectrum; Turnitin, "The Plagiarism Spectrum," 2016, accessed April 19, 2024, https://www.turnitin.com/static/plagiarism-spectrum/.

[6] Turnitin, "The Plagiarism Spectrum 2.0."

"Source-based" plagiarism[7]

This is when one fails to give correct or accurate information in the citation. Errors can be made in any part of a citation, bibliography, or reference list entry, e.g., the author's name, the title, the year of publishing, the page number, the url or doi, etc. Using the paraphrased paragraph of Bruce's original work again, the incorrect and inaccurate data in the citation is highlighted in red.

Insufficient, inaccurate, or wrong information given will cause readers not be able to locate the right source or the right point in the source where the content was taken. This can happen when one is careless, not attentive, or still adjusting to the formats and complexity of doing citations. Apart from being careful, you should proofread and check your citations again before submission.

According to F. F. Bruce, the apostle Paul had "little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus" in his growing up years.[1] He reasons that Paul's parents, being devout Jews who valued their heritage, very likely led the family to adhere closely to their Jewish culture and speak Aramaic rather than Greek in their daily and religious life.[2] Bruce further suggests that they would have sent Paul to Jerusalem when he was young so that he might be totally immersed in the Jewish culture and living.[3] As a result, although Paul was a Roman citizen of Tarsus permeated by the Greek culture, he was not absorbed by it.[4]

[1] F. F. Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heat Sent Free (Grand Rapids, MI: Eardmans, 1977), 43.

[2] Brice, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free, 43.

[3] Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free, 34.

[4] Bruce, Saul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free, 43

According to F. F. Bruce, the apostle Paul had "little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus" in his growing up years (1978, 43). He reasons that Paul's parents, being devout Jews who valued their heritage, very likely led the family to adhere closely to their Jewish culture and speak Aramaic rather than Greek in their daily and religious life (Bruce 1977, 4). Bruce further suggests that they would have sent Paul to Jerusalem when he was young so that he might be totally immersed in the Jewish culture and living (1977, 43). As a result, although Paul was a Roman citizen of Tarsus permeated by the Greek culture, he was not absorbed by it (Brace 1977, 43).

[7] Turnitin, "The Plagiarism Spectrum 2.0."

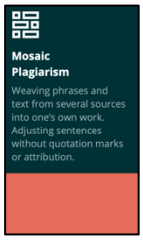

"Clone" or "Word-for-Word" plagiarism[8]

This is when a word-for-word replica of the original text is handed in as if it is one's own work. It is also called "verbatim" plagiarism.[9] The original content is reproduced in the paper without paraphrasing, without placing within quotation marks, and without a proper citation, as show below with all of Bruce's original work highlighted in red.

To prevent this, students who think that it is a good idea to submit an exact copy of all of an author's words must change that mindset. It is absolutely not! Likewise, if English is not your first language of communication in speaking or writing, you must not give up or be discouraged but keep speaking and writing to improve or ask for coaching help.

> According to F. F. Bruce, it appears, then, that while Paul was born into a Jewish family which enjoyed citizen rights in a Greek-speaking city, Aramaic and not Greek was the language spoken in the home and perhaps also in the synagogue which they attended. Unlike many Jews resident in Anatolia, this family strictly was strictly observant of the Jewish way of life and maintained its links with the home country. Paul would have been given little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus during his boyhood: indeed, his parents made sure of an orthodox up-bringing for him by arranging for him to spend his formative years in Jerusalem.

"Mosaic" or Patchwork plagiarism[10]

This is a sentence-by-sentence copying of the original with very minimal changes of a few words here and there in each sentence. The words in red in the example below are exactly the same as the original and should have been encased in quotation marks and a proper citation should have been given. Some words and phrases are changed but most of the wordings, structures, and organizations of the sentences remain identical or almost identical to the original. Merely transposing or substituting a few words or short phrases here and there is not paraphrasing.

> According to F. F. Bruce, Paul was born into a Jewish home which possessed the rights of citizens in a Greek-speaking city. Aramaic rather than Greek was spoken in the home and the synagogue to which they went. Unlike many Jewish families of Anatolia, Paul's family strictly observed the Jewish way of life and kept close links with their home country. Paul was not given much opportunity of imbibing in the culture of Tarsus during his boyhood. His parents made sure he had an orthodox upbringing by arranging for Paul to spend his growing up years in Jerusalem.

[8] Turnitin, "The Plagiarism Spectrum 2.0."

[9] Harvard University, "What Constitutes Plagiarism?" Harvard Guide to Using Sources, accessed April 22, 2024, https://usingsources.fas.harvard.edu/what-constitutes-plagiarism-0.

[10] Turnitin, "The Plagiarism Spectrum 2.0."

Below is another example. Although it reads less like the original, more paraphrasing is needed. The student should also encase the exact words taken from the original within quotation marks and give a proper citation.

> According to F. F. Bruce, Paul was born into a Jewish home which enjoyed citizen rights in a Greek-speaking city of Anatolia. Aramaic rather than Greek was spoken both in the home and the synagogue which they attended. However, Paul's family strictly observed the Jewish way of life and his parents made sure that Paul had an orthodox up-bringing by sending him to Jerusalem during his formative years.

This third example contains more of the student's own words but it is still considered plagiarism because she did not use quotation marks for the exact words taken from the original and she did not provide a proper citation.

> According to F. F. Bruce, Paul was born in the city of Anatolia where even Jewish residents enjoyed citizen rights. Though Anatolia was a Greek-speaking city, her Jewish residents spoke Aramaic both at home and in the synagogue. As devout Jews, Paul's parents strictly observed the Jewish way of life. Paul was given little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus as he was sent to Jerusalem by his parents when he was a young boy.

Another form of plagiarism combines the "word-for-word" plagiarism with "mosaic" plagiarism. As shown below, materials related to the same topic are taken from different sources or authors and stitched or patched together without placing within quotation marks and without citation. It can be seen that the first and second sentences (in red) are quoted directly from Bruce but no quotation marks and no citations are given for them. The third sentence in purple is directly quoted from an article "The Early Life and Background of Paul the Apostle" written by Quency E. Wallace in the website of "The American Journal of Biblical Theology."[11] It is similarly without quotation marks and a proper citation.

> According to F. F. Bruce, it appears, then, that while Paul was born into a Jewish family which enjoyed citizen rights in a Greek-speaking city, Aramaic and not Greek was the language spoken in the home and perhaps also in the synagogue which they attended. Unlike many Jews resident in Anatolia, this family strictly was strictly observant of the Jewish way of life and maintained its links with the home country. At age five, Paul would have left Tarsus to live in Jerusalem to begin his formal training at the Hillel rabbinical school in Jerusalem and studied under the renown rabbi Gamaliel, who was one of the greatest rabbinical teachers of the first century.

[11] Quency E. Wallace, "The Early Life and Background of Paul the Apostle," The American Journal of Biblical Theology, April 21, 2002, accessed April 22, 2024, https://www.biblicaltheology.com/Research/WallaceQ01.html.

A final word of caution about the above examples of "mosaic" or "patchwork" plagiarism. If quotation marks are used in the correct positions and all the correct citations are given such that the submissions may not be considered "inadvertent" or "source-based" plagiarism, if they are all that a student writes and submits in his paper, he/she has not shown any original thinking or critical interaction with the author yet. What teachers are expecting you to do and what is required at seminary studies is that you write and submit your own original ideas and thoughts about issues or topics after having interacted thoughtfully with the authors and books which you have read. We do not want you to become professional scribes rewriting and reproducing the exact same content that others have already written. As such, please ensure you explain clearly why you quoted any material and how they relate to the points or arguments you are making.

"Software-based Text Modification" and "Manual Text Modification" plagiarisms[12]

This is when a software or application is used to alter the original content of an author such that the final product might not be found to be similar to the original by similarity checkers such as Turnitin. There are many Artificial Intelligence (AI) tools and applications today that have the ability to rephrase one's input, even such that it would sound more formal or academic. "Grammarly" is an example. There are many more advanced software and tools being produced. While such tools and applications become prevalent in everyday life, over-reliant on them in life and studies is unhelpful in the long run; using them when instructors disallow or to produce content that are not one's original thinking are wrong. In the same stream, manually manipulating an original text to mislead, trick, or confuse plagiarism checkers are also unwanted. Instead of conniving to get around plagiarism checkers, students should use the time to properly learn the material and produce honest original work that they can be proud of.

CITATIONS

By now, you must understand that citations are very critical whenever you reference or directly quote an author's content in your assignment papers. In all instances of summarizing, paraphrasing, and quoting material from any source, you must ensure a proper citation is given for the source material. You must use either the notes-bibliography (footnotes) citation style or the parenthetical (author-date or in-text) citation style. Please clarify with your teachers what citation style you are required to use for their courses. The following are examples of the two citation styles being used in EAST. The words in blue are the proper citations done based on the two styles.

Proper notes-bibliography (footnoting) citations

The notes-bibliography style is also commonly referred to as footnoting style because the author, title, publisher, date, and location of the borrowed material in its source are all presented as a footnote at the bottom of the page. This is shown in blue below.

[12] Turnitin, "The Plagiarism Spectrum 2.0."

According to F. F. Bruce, Paul was born of Jewish parents in the Greek city of Tarsus.[1] He thinks that although Greek was widely used there, Paul and his parents probably spoke Aramaic both at home and in the synagogue.[2] Bruce further writes that being devout Jews who valued their heritage, his parents sent him to Jerusalem when he was young to totally immerse in the Jewish culture and living.[3] Bruce claims this would have ensured that Paul had "little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus."[4]

[1] F. F. Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free (Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1977), 43.

[2] Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free, 43.

[3] Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free, 43.

[4] Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free, 43.

Proper parenthetical (author-date) citations

The parenthetical style is also commonly referred to as author-date or in-text style because the author, date, and location of the borrowed material in its source are inserted in the text directly, as shown below in blue.

According to F. F. Bruce, Paul was born of Jewish parents in the Greek city of Tarsus (Bruce 1977, 43). He thinks that although Greek was widely used there, Paul and his parents probably spoke Aramaic both at home and in the synagogue (Bruce 1977, 43). Bruce further writes that being devout Jews who valued their heritage, his parents sent him to Jerusalem when he was young to totally immerse in the Jewish culture and living (Bruce 1977, 43). Bruce claims this would have ensured that Paul had "little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus" (Bruce 1977, 43).

Citations are critically important in academic assignments because they show readers who, what, and where you are relying for facts and data presented in your papers that are not your own. They give readers confidence that the information is trustworthy. They also serve to recognize the authors or scholars for their research and work.[13] For more detailed examples and specific instructions of both these citation styles, please refer to PART II of this guide.

[13] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 139–40.

QUOTATIONS

Direct quotation is the use of a writer's exact words in one's paper. Direct quotations can be added into your paper as a "run-in" quotation or a "block" quotation.[14]

"Run-in" quotation

In a run-in quotation, only four or less lines of the source material are directly quoted and included into your own sentences in the paper.[15] The source material quoted should be limited to a short section, like a word, phrase, or clause, as shown in blue in the examples below. You must use quotation marks before and after the quoted words to indicate that you are borrowing the writer's exact words.

"Run-in" quotation with parenthetical citation:

> Although Paul grew up in Tarsus, F. F. Bruce suggests he likely had "little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus during his boyhood" (Bruce 1977, 43).

"Run-in" quotation with notes-bibliography citation:

> Although Paul grew up in Tarsus, F. F. Bruce suggests he likely had "little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus during his boyhood."[1]
>
> [1] F. F. Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free (Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1977), 43.

"Block" quotation

A block quotation is when five or more lines of the source material is directly quoted. This is highly discouraged unless you have very good reasons for doing so. In the block quotations shown in blue below, all the lines taken from the source are formatted into one single-spaced block, indented a half inch from the left margin of the preceding paragraph, and not enclosed with quotation marks. A blank single-spaced line should be inserted before and after it to separate it from your own text.[16]

[14] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 359–63.

[15] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 359–61.

[16] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 361–63.

"Block" quotation with notes-bibliography citation:

With regards to Paul's upbringing, Bruce claims, > that while Paul was born into a Jewish family which enjoyed citizen rights in a Greek-speaking city, Aramaic and not Greek was the language spoken in the home and perhaps also in the synagogue which they attended. Unlike many Jews resident in Anatolia, this family was strictly observant of the Jewish way of life and maintained its links with the home country. Paul would have been given little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus during his boyhood.[1]

This insight into Paul's early childhood helps us understand how Paul can be so conversant in Greek, as all his epistles demonstrate, yet so thoroughly immersed in and familiar with his Jewish heritage. These enable him to minister to both Gentiles and Jews effectively.

---

[1] F. F. Bruce, Paul: Apostle of the Heart Set Free (Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1977), 43.

"Block" quotation with parenthetical citation:

With regards to Paul's upbringing, Bruce claims,

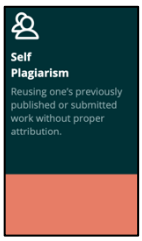

> that while Paul was born into a Jewish family which enjoyed citizen rights in a Greek-speaking city, Aramaic and not Greek was the language spoken in the home and perhaps also in the synagogue which they attended. Unlike many Jews resident in Anatolia, this family was strictly observant of the Jewish way of life and maintained its links with the home country. Paul would have been given little opportunity of imbibing the culture of Tarsus during his boyhood. (Bruce 1977, 43)

This insight into Paul's early childhood helps us understand how Paul can be so conversant in Greek, as all his epistles demonstrate, yet so thoroughly immersed in and familiar with his Jewish heritage. These enable him to minister to both Gentiles and Jews effectively.

If you are quoting two or more lines from a poem or drama work, you must set the quoted material as a block quotation. For details about the alignment and indentation of a poem or drama block quotation, please refer to Turabian.[17]

Thus, for all quotations, you must provide a citation to identify the source. Furthermore, you must place the quoted material within an open and close quotation marks, except when quoting five or more lines from the source material into a block quotation. Having just the citation alone does not show which words in that portion of your paper are quoted, i.e. not your own. Similarly, using just the quotation marks alone do not tell your readers what your source is. Both the citation and the open and close quotation marks are necessary for "run-in" quotations, while for "block" quotations, indenting and single-spacing the quoted material and the citation are required.

USING ONE'S OWN PREVIOUSLY SUBMITTED MATERIALS

One type of plagiarism Turnitin has identified is called the "Self" plagiarism.[18] This is when you take and add what you wrote in an earlier assignment paper into a current assignment paper that you are writing and submit it without proper citation. This is wrong and considered cheating. Students are easily tempted to do this when there are many assignments and papers of different courses to work on and there seems to be so little time. The remedy to avoid plagiarising yourself is to plan your time very carefully at the start of the semester and start working on your assignments early.

At times, it can be legitimate for students to build on what has been researched or submitted earlier to establish a stronger argument, position, or proposal, or to expand the research to a wider scope for future ministry purposes. As such, you can be allowed to include your own research and writings that has been previously submitted in one or more of your other courses. To do so, you must:

1. Inform the instructor that you had previously researched and submitted written assignments on a subject topic.

2. Share with the instructor that you intend to build upon that previously submitted work in the current assignment in the new course. Clear explanations of how you intend to build on the previous work will help instructors understand and grant permission.

3. Seek permission and obtain approval, in either verbal or written form, from the instructor for such use of the previously submitted material.

4. Summarize, paraphrase, or quote directly from your previously researched and submitted written material and ensure that proper citations are given in the current paper for the new course.

Marks and grades will only be given on the new works done beyond the previously written submission.

---

[17] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 362–63.

[18] Turnitin, "The Plagiarism Spectrum 2.0."

Turnitin

As mentioned earlier, EAST uses Turnitin to detect for possible plagiarism, manipulating of texts, and using of AI to do academic writing.

Turnitin compares the submitted paper against internet sources and its huge database of student papers to identify similarities. Similarity is an alert to instructors that signals possible plagiarism. Instructors will study each instance of similarity and determine whether students have plagiarised. While not all similarities may be confirmed as plagiarism, instructors have established quite a number of cases. Turnitin is not the only method instructors depend on to detect plagiarism. With their expertise in their fields of study and their experience in teaching students and grading assignments, instructors are able to know and accurately confirm whether students have plagiarised even without Turnitin.

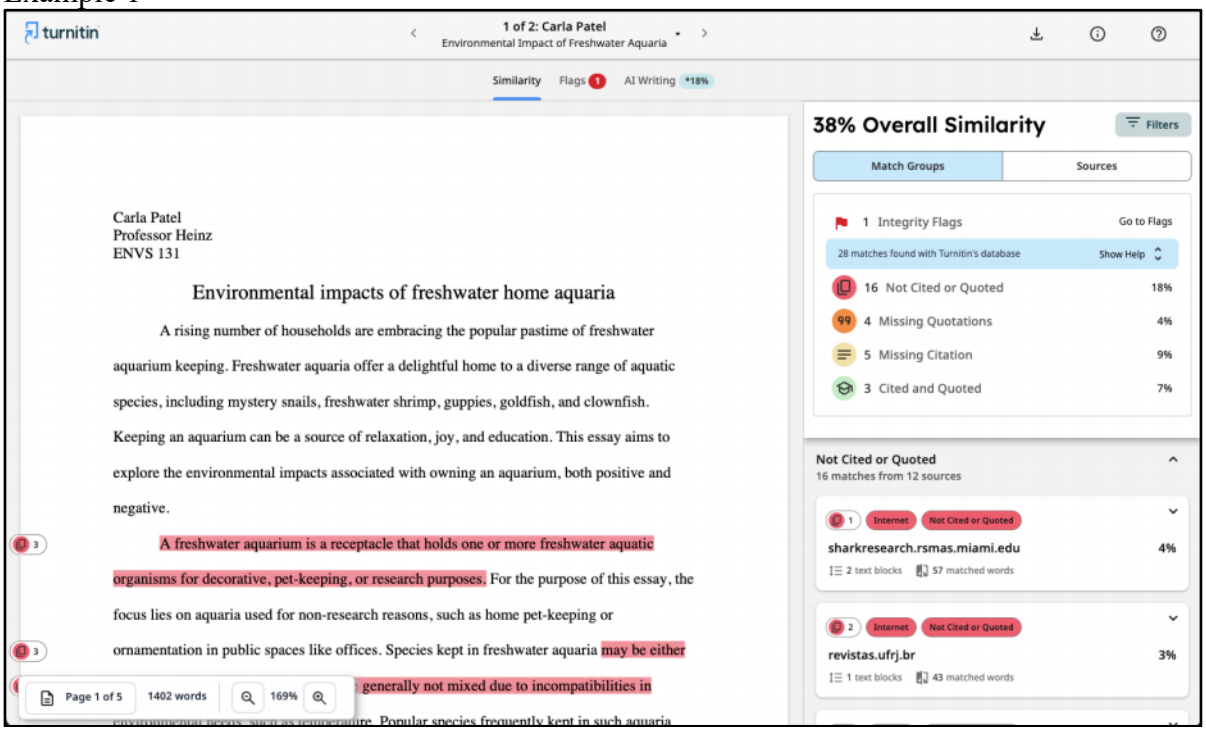

In Turnitin, "Flags" refer to possibility of make serious manipulation of the text. Instructors will pay more attention to "flags." Turnitin also detects for AI writing in the assignment paper. In a similar fashion as the similarity report, AI writing report presents a percentage of possible usage of AI tools in writing any part of the paper. Just as similarity does not amount to plagiarism yet, the AI writing detection, as a tool, presents a likelihood that AI was used to write the content.

SAMPLES OF TURNITIN SIMILARITY REPORTS

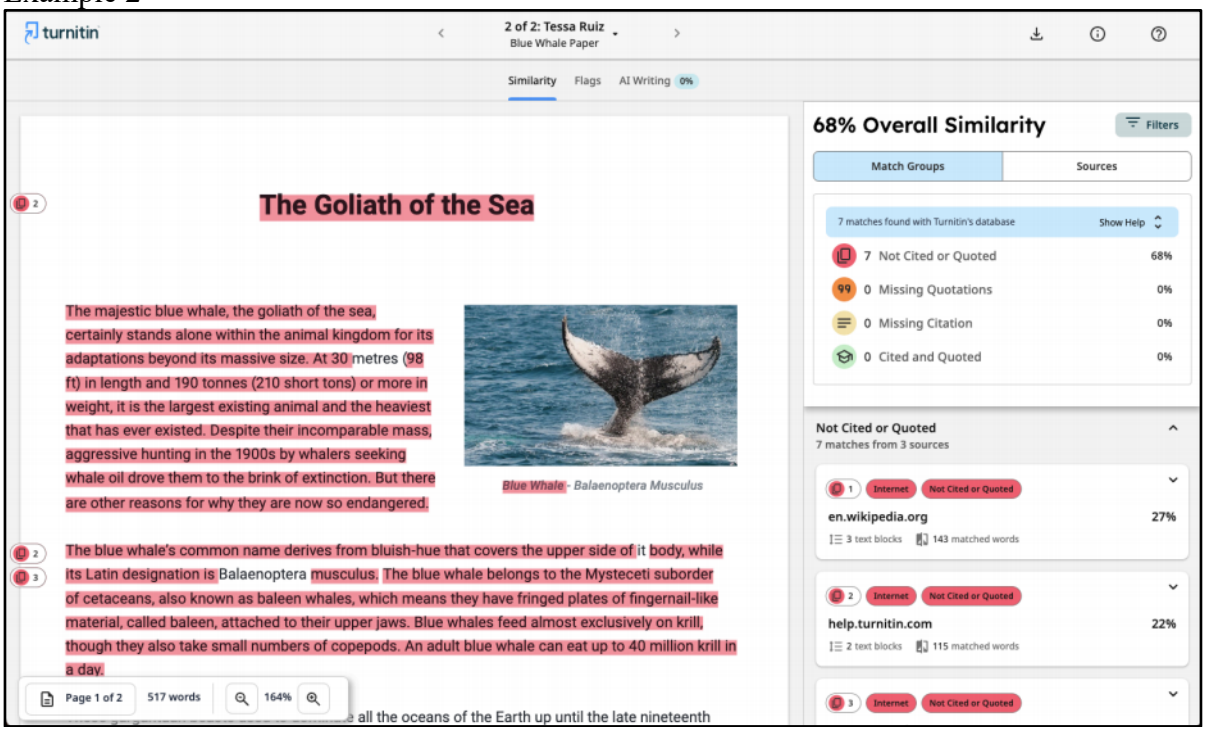

Below are screenshots of Turnitin similarity reports showing what the reports contain.

- The assignment paper is shown on the left of the screen.
- The highlighted sentences are those that Turnitin detected some form of similarity with sources in the internet and its database.
- The right side of the screen displays the overall percentage of similarity of the paper.
- Turnitin shows four types of similarities, namely "Not Cited or Quoted," "Missing Quotations," "Missing Citations," and "Cited and Quoted."
- The highlighted sentences in the assignment are classified under these categories of similarities, showing the number of similarities and the percentage for each category.
- For each type of similarity found, Turnitin provides the locations and where possible the actual texts of existing documents or resources that bear the same or similar words, phrases, or clauses in the order in which they are written in the assignment paper.

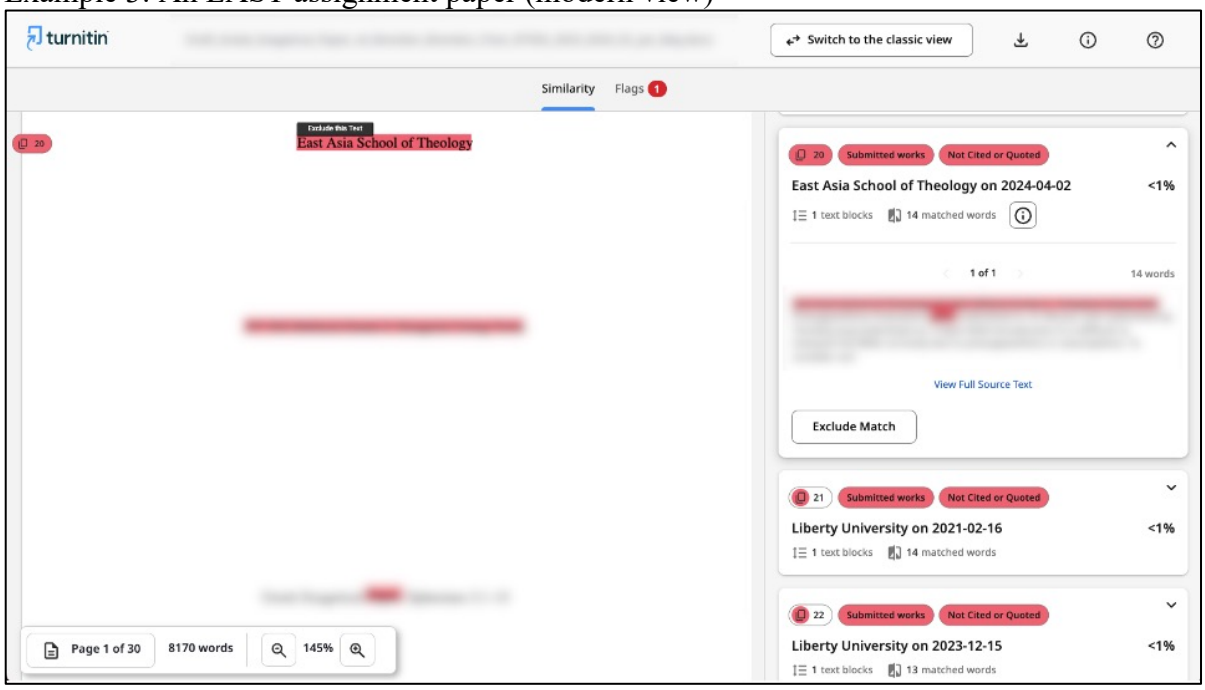

Example 1

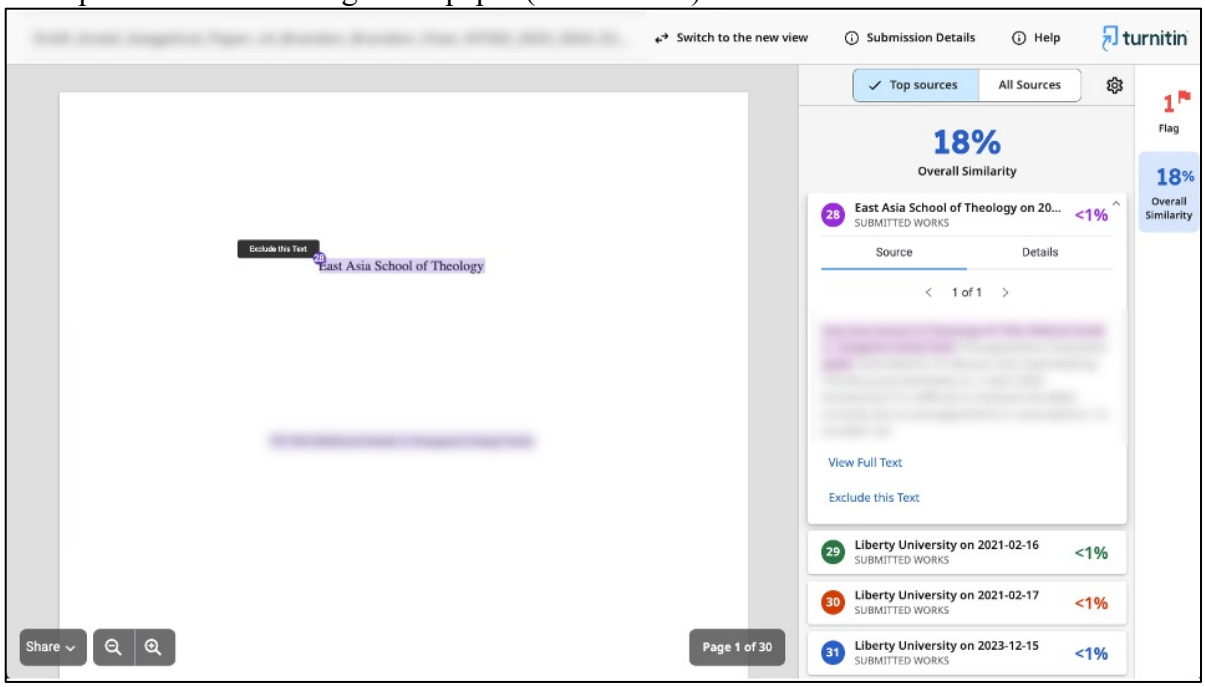

Example 2

Example 3: An EAST assignment paper (modern view)

Example 4: An EAST assignment paper (classic view)

In Examples 3 and 4 of an EAST assignment paper, the cover page bearing the course code and title, assignment title, and instructor's name will be highlighted because other students in the same course now or earlier will also have the same cover page. As such, these similarities should not be taken into consideration.

UNDERSTANDING THE TURNITIN SCORES AND RESULTS

Below is Turnitin's guide for instructors on how to read the similarity reports. Read it to understand how to read your reports if they are made visible to you.

turnitin

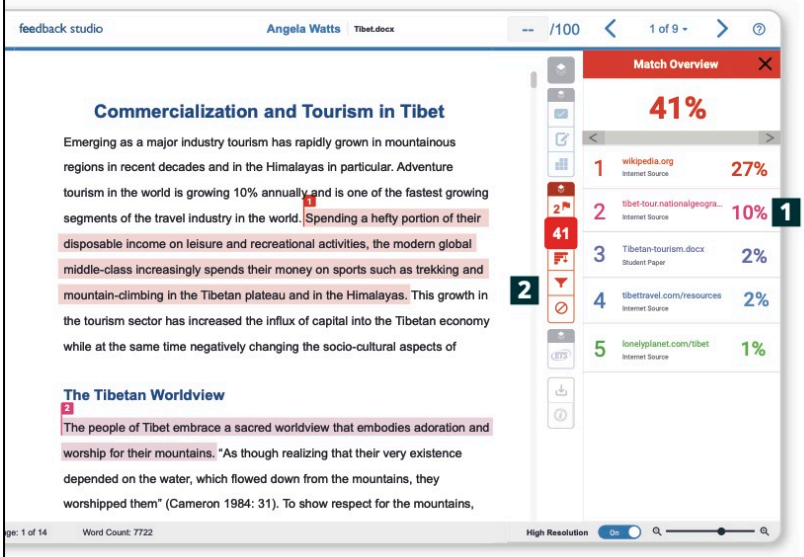

Understanding the Turnitin Similarity Report

An educator guide

The Turnitin Similarity Report is the result of a comparison between a submission and the search targets selected for an assignment. These search targets include billions of pages of active and archived internet information, a repository of works previously submitted to Turnitin, and a repository of tens of thousands of periodicals, journals and publications.

Similarity Score

The Similarity Score represents the percentage of a student's writing that is similar to something found on the internet, in our databases or in someone else's paper. Similarity does not mean that this work is plagiarised. Consider a student's use of quotations, citations and bibliographic material when reviewing the score.

What is a reasonable Similarity Score?

There is not a right or wrong number to receive as a score. Your institution may have assigned a number as an acceptable threshold for assignments. If not, consider the following:

- Set a reasonable threshold for assignments. Some similarity is usually expected if students are using text from sources. Asking for zero similarity means that students will not be incorporating any source-based evidence in their writing.
- Use the filters available in the Similarity Insights Panel to strategically exclude citations, quotes or bibliographic information from affecting a student's score.

Match Overview 1

The Match Overview offers a clear summary of sources that match text in the writing. A high percentage score shows a larger degree of text that is similar, and matches are highlighted in the same colour.

Similarity Insights Panel 2

Flags
The Flags insight identifies potential issues by highlighting evidence of hidden characters and/or text replacement within a student's writing.

Match Overview
The Match Overview reveals the overall Similarity Score and a list of sources that match student writing. The colours in this list match the colours highlighted in the student's writing.

All Sources
Every source that matches the text in a student's paper is available to review.

Filters and Settings
Use filters and settings to exclude citations, quotes or bibliographic information from a student's score.

Excluded Sources
Access every source omitted from a student's Similarity Report through the All Sources tab.

© 2021 Turnitin LLC. All rights reserved.

TLI_DP_S_UnderstandtheSimilarityReport_EducatorGuide_UK_EN_0721

PART II NOTES-BIBLIOGRAPHY CITATION STYLE

General Instructions

1. The notes-bibliography (footnoting) citation style is required in Biblical Studies (BS/OT/NT), Theological Studies (TS), and very often in Intercultural Studies (IS) courses. As such, it is the style preferred by more instructors and required by more courses in EAST.

2. New students are allowed to use the parenthetical (author-date) style for their assignments in their first semester and when they are attending the core course on research and writing. However, by the time they complete the core course on research and writing, they are expected to know and be able to use the notes-bibliography (footnoting) style which more EAST instructors prefer and more EAST courses require. As such, it is more beneficial for students to master the notes-bibliography style early in their program studies.

3. Please clarify with your instructor/s what style is required if you are in doubt.

4. Footnote reference numbers in the footnote area are to be in superscript form. This is allowed by Turabian and set as the default in most word processors.

5. Set the font in the footnotes to Times New Romans and the font size to 10.

6. The use of "Ibid." ("in the same place") is not encouraged in EAST.

7. A "Bibliography" is used for notes-bibliography style. An example is shown at the end of this chapter on pages 71–75.

8. Run over lines (i.e., the second and subsequent lines) of bibliography entries should have a hanging indent of 0.5 inch or about 1.5 cm.

9. When two or more books by the same person/s are listed in the bibliography, the name/s of the person/s in second and later entries are replaced with a long dash, created using six hyphens that look like this: "———."

10. See more examples of footnotes and bibliography style in chapters 16 and 17 of Turabian, and chapter 6 of SBL Handbook.

11. In the following examples of resource citations,
    - "N" denotes the first citations of the sources in notes-bibliography style.
    - "S" denotes the subsequent or shortened citations of the sources.
    - "B" denotes the bibliography entries of the sources.
    - The blue colour font is used for emphasis to highlight the parts of the citations and bibliography entries that students must ensure to include or write for that type of books or resources.

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume)

1. Standalone books have these basic bibliographic data on the book covers and title pages: the name/s of the author/s, the book title and subtitle, and the publishing information.
2. They are not part of any multivolume or commentary sets or series of books. As such, one will not find the name of a multivolume or commentary set or series on their book cover or title pages.
3. They can be authored, edited, and/or translated by one or more author/s, editor/s, and/or translator/s, and be revised to a newer later edition.
4. The designs on their book covers will usually be different from other books. This is unlike books in multivolume or commentary sets or series that usually have similar looking book cover designs although they may have different authors and/or titles.

– –

One Author

- In the footnote citations and bibliography, give the name of the author, then the book title and subtitle, then the publishing information.
- The page number/s or locator/s in which the original content can be found must be provided in the footnote citations but should not be in the bibliography.
- In the first subsequent citation of a source (e.g., S[1a] below), use the shortened form, i.e., give only the author's last name (not first name), the source title without subtitle (in italics for books), and the page number(s) or locator(s) in which the original content can be found.
- When the same source is cited in immediate and consecutive order (e.g., S[1b] below), one may only give the author's last name and page number/s; the source title may be omitted.
- When two or more resources by the same author are cited, the source titles should be given in all subsequent and repeated footnote citations to differentiate the resources produced by that same author (see N[2] and S[2] below).

N[1]: [1] Walter C. Kaiser, Jr., Toward an Exegetical Theology (Grand Rapids, MI: Baker, 1981), 63.

S[1a]: [2] Kaiser, Toward an Exegetical Theology, 80.

S[1b]: [3] Kaiser, 81.

N[2]: [4] Walter C. Kaiser, Jr. Preaching and Teaching the Last Things: Old Testament Eschatology for the Life of the Church (Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Academic, 2011), 47.

S[2]: [5] Kaiser, Preaching and Teaching the Last Things, 93.

B: Kaiser, Walter C., Jr. Preaching and Teaching the Last Things: Old Testament Eschatology for the Life of the Church. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Academic, 2011.

———. Toward an Exegetical Theology. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker, 1981.

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume)

Two Authors

- In the footnote citations and bibliography, give the names of both authors.
- Connect them using "and."
- Add a comma before the second author in the bibliography.

N: [1] Gordon D. Fee and Douglas Stuart, How to Read the Bible for All Its Worth: A Guide to Understanding the Bible (Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1982), 45.

S: [4] Fee and Stuart, How to Read the Bible for All Its Worth, 80.

B: Fee, Gordon D., and Douglas Stuart. How to Read the Bible for All Its Worth: A Guide to Understanding the Bible. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1982.

Three Authors

- In the footnote citations and bibliography, give the names of all three authors.
- Separate the first two authors' names using a comma. Write "and" before the name of the third author.

N: [1] Andreas J. Köstenberger, Benjamin L. Merkle, and Robert L. Plummer, Going Deeper with New Testament Greek: An Intermediate Study of the Grammar and Syntax of the New Testament (Nashville, TN: B&H Academic, 2016), 231.

S: [2] Köstenberger, Merkle, and Plummer, Going Deeper with New Testament Greek, 80.

B: Köstenberger, Andreas J., Benjamin L. Merkle, and Robert L. Plummer. Going Deeper with New Testament Greek: An Intermediate Study of the Grammar and Syntax of the New Testament. Nashville, TN: B&H Academic, 2016.

Four or More Authors

- In the footnote citations, give only the name of the first author. Then use "et al." to replace the names of the other authors.
- In the bibliography, give the full names of all the authors.

N: [1] Melvin E. Dieter et al., Five Views on Sanctification, Counterpoints Series, ed. Stanley N. Gundry (Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1996), 28.

S: [6] Dieter et al., Five Views on Sanctification, 38.

B: Dieter, Melvin E., Anthony A. Hoekema, Stanley M. Horton, J. Robertson McQuilkin, and John F. Walvoord. Five Views on Sanctification. Counterpoints Series. Edited by Stanley N. Gundry. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1996.

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume)

Organization or Corporate Author/s

- Use the name of the organization or corporation in place of a human author.

N: [2] UNICEF, Generation in Jeopardy: Children in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, ed. Alexander Zouev (Armonk, NY: M. E. Sharpe, 1999), 11.

S: [5] UNICEF, Generation in Jeopardy, 38.

B: UNICEF. Generation in Jeopardy: Children in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union. Edited by Alexander Zouev. Armonk, NY: M. E. Sharpe, 1999.

– –

A Later or Revised Edition

- Insert the edition identifier or number between the book title and publishing information.
- Second edition is written as "2nd ed." Third edition is written as "3rd ed." Fourth edition is written as "4th ed." Revised edition is written as "rev."
- Word processors tend to automatically superscript the ordinal abbreviations into "2nd," "3rd," and "4th." Use the "Undo Typing" command to change these superscripts back to "2nd," "3rd," and "4th."

N: [4] Douglas Stuart, Old Testament Exegesis: A Primer for Students and Pastors, 2nd ed. (Philadelphia, PA: Westminster, 1984), 54.

S: [6] Stuart, Old Testament Exegesis, 80.

B: Stuart, Douglas. Old Testament Exegesis: A Primer for Students and Pastors. 2nd ed. Philadelphia, PA: Westminster, 1984.

– – – – – – – – – – –

N: [1] Gary Thomas, Sacred Pathways: Discover Your Soul's Path to God, rev. ed. (Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2010), 12.

S: [7] Thomas, Sacred Pathways, 30.

B: Thomas, Gary. Sacred Pathways: Discover Your Soul's Path to God. Rev. ed. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2010.

– –

Editor/s or Translator/s without Author/s

- Some books are edited or translated. This will be written on the book covers and title pages. E.g., "Edited by," "Translated by," "ed.", and "trans.".
- For the footnote citations and bibliography of an edited work, give the name/s of the editor and add "ed." behind the name to show that the person is the editor.
- For the footnote citations and bibliography of a translated work, give the name of the translator and add "trans." behind the name to show that the person is the translator.

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume)

- If there are two to three editors or translators, give the names of all the editors and translators before adding "ed." or "trans."
- If there are four or more editors or translators, give only the name of the first editor or translator. Then use "et al." to replace the names of the other editors or translators and then add "ed." or "trans."

N: [1] Claus Westermann, ed., Essays on Old Testament Hermeneutics (Atlanta, GA: John Knox, 1963), 37.

S: [3] Westermann, Old Testament Hermeneutics, 80.

B: Westermann, Claus, ed. Essays on Old Testament Hermeneutics. Atlanta, GA: John Knox, 1963.

– –

AUTHOR/S WITH EDITOR/S AND/OR TRANSLATOR/S

- Some books have author/s and also editor/s and/or translators/s.
- In the footnote citations and bibliography, give the name/s of the author/s in front. Then add the name/s of the editor/s and/or translator/s between the book title and publishing information
- For editor/s, use the abbreviation "ed." in the footnote but write "Edited by" in the bibliography.
- For translator/s, use the abbreviation "trans." in the footnote but write "Translated by" in the bibliography.

N: [1] UNICEF, Generation in Jeopardy: Children in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, ed. Alexander Zouev (Armonk, NY: M. E. Sharpe, 1999), 11.

S: [9] UNICEF, Generation in Jeopardy, 38.

B: UNICEF. Generation in Jeopardy: Children in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union. Edited by Alexander Zouev. Armonk, NY: M. E. Sharpe, 1999.

– – – – – – – – – –

N: [1] Mieke Bal, Narratology, trans. Christine van Boheemen (Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 1985), 20.

S: [5] Bal, Narratology, 80.

B: Bal, Mieke. Narratology. Translated by Christine van Boheemen. Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 1985.

– –

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume)

One Source Quoted in Another

- Authors will often quote directly and cite other authors too. You will do well to find those other books to read in context what was quoted and their meaning. Then, if it is useful in your paper, cite those other books directly in your footnotes.
- Some of those other books may be much older or out of print and you may not be able to find and read their contexts despite your best efforts. In such cases and only in such cases, if you really have to reference or quote that older source according to what was quoted in the current book you are reading, this is how you cite it.
- In the footnote citations and bibliography, cite the older earlier source fully first. Refer to the citation and bibliography given by the current author. Then write "quoted in" before citing the current author and book fully. Write "Quoted in" in the bibliography.

N: [4] Louis Zukofsky, "Sincerity and Objectification," Poetry 37 (February 1931): 269, quoted in Bonnie Costello, Marianne Moore: Imaginary Possessions (Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 1981), 78.

S: [7] Zukofsky, "Sincerity and Objectification," 269.

B: Zukofsky, Louis. "Sincerity and Objectification," Poetry 37 (February 1931): 269. Quoted in Bonnie Costello, Marianne Moore: Imaginary Possessions. Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 1981.

– –

An Article or Chapter Written by an Author Found in a Book Authored or Edited by Another Author

- In the footnote citations and bibliography, the name of the person who wrote the article or chapter is entered first.
- Write the title of the article or chapter in quotation marks "".
- Then write "in" before the book title, followed by the book title and name/s of the author/s and/or editor/s of the book.
- In the bibliography, provide the range of pages of the article or chapter in the book.

N: [8] Paul D. Feinberg, "Meaning of Inerrancy," in Inerrancy, ed. Norman L. Geisler (Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1979), 269.

S: [10] Feinberg, "Meaning of Inerrancy," 280.

B: Feinberg, Paul D. "Meaning of Inerrancy." In Inerrancy, edited by Norman L. Geisler, 265–304. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1979.

– –

Books in Multivolume or Commentary Sets or Series

1. Books in multivolume or commentary sets or series have more bibliographic data than the basic ones for standalone books.
2. Firstly, the multivolume or commentary set or series must be identified and properly entered. This includes the volume, set, or series number that is attributed to the book. This information can be readily found on the book cover or title page.
3. The designs on their book covers will usually be the same or similar to others that are in the same set or series, although the authors and/or titles may be different.

A Separately Titled Volume in a Multivolume Set with a General Title

- In this example, the multivolume set Systematic Theology has two volumes. The title of the second volume is God, Creation. Both of them must be italicized.
- The volume number must be indicated clearly before the title of the multivolume set.

N: [15] Norman Geisler, God, Creation, vol. 2 of Systematic Theology (Minneapolis, MN: Bethany House, 2004), 323.

S: [19] Geisler, God, Creation, 380.

B: Geisler, Norman. God, Creation. Vol. 2 of Systematic Theology. Minneapolis, MN: Bethany House, 2004.

A Multivolume Work with No Individual Title

- In this example, the multivolume set is The International Critical Commentary set. The title of a commentary set is not italicized. This commentary set has no set number. Its abbreviation "ICC" is used and recognized by bible scholars.
- The book by John Goldingay and David Payne titled Isaiah 40–55 has two volumes in this commentary set. This is written in both footnote citation and bibliography.
- In the first footnote (N), the citation is from volume 1, page 118. This is written as "1:118." The second footnote (S) is from volume 2, page 180. This is written as "2:180."

N: [13] John Goldingay and David Payne, Isaiah 40–55, 2 vols., ICC (New York: T&T Clark, 2006), 1:118.

S: [21] Goldingay and Payne, Isaiah 40–55, 2:180.

B: Goldingay, John and David Payne. Isaiah 40–55. 2 vols. The International Critical Commentary. New York: T&T Clark, 2006.

Books in Multivolume or Commentary Sets or Series

A Separately Authored and Titled Chapter in a Larger Volume in a Multivolume Set

- In this example, the multivolume set is the Expositor's Bible Commentary set edited by Frank E. Gaebelein. It is a huge commentary of the whole bible and has many volumes. Different authors comment on different books of the Bible progressively through the volumes, each forming a different chapter of the whole set.
- Robert L. Thomas is the author for the chapter on 1 Thessalonians. The chapter title is written within quotation marks "" in both the footnote citations and bibliography. Then write "in" followed by Expositor's Bible Commentary and the name of the editor Frank E. Gaebelein.
- This chapter makes up pages 227 to 298 in volume 11. This is written as "11:227–98" in the bibliography.
- The first footnote citation (N) is from volume 11, page 234. This is written as "11:234." The second footnote (S) is from `volume 11, page 280. This is written as "11:280."

N: [17] Robert L. Thomas, "1 Thessalonians," in Expositor's Bible Commentary, ed. Frank E. Gaebelein (Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1978), 11:234.

S: [34] Thomas, "1 Thessalonians," 11:280.

B: Thomas, Robert L. "1 Thessalonians." In Expositor's Bible Commentary, edited by Frank E. Gaebelein, 11:227–98. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1978.

– –

A Separately Authored and Titled Volume in a Multivolume Commentary Set Without Volume Number

- In this example, the multivolume set is Interpretation. It is similar to the previous example except that each volume of the commentary set is separately authored and titled without a volume number. The title of this set is not italicized.
- The editor of the whole set is James L. Mays. This has to be written in the first footnote citation and bibliography.

N: [19] Gerard Stephen Sloyan, John, Interpretation, ed. James L. Mays (Atlanta, GA: John Knox, 1988), 128-30.

S: [24] Sloyan, John, 180.

B: Sloyan, Gerard Stephen. John. Interpretation. Edited by James L. Mays. Atlanta, GA: John Knox Press, 1988.

– –

Books in Multivolume or Commentary Sets or Series

A Separately Authored and Titled Volume in a Multivolume Commentary Set with Volume Number

- In this example, the multivolume set is Word Biblical Commentary. Its abbreviation is "WBC." Each volume of the commentary set is separately authored and titled, with an assigned volume number. The title of this set is not italicized.
- F. F. Bruce authored volume 45 on 1 and 2 Thessalonians. So the footnote shows "WBC 45" while the bibliography spells out the commentary set name in full.
- Although each volume may indicate a long list of editors, they are meant for the commentary set and will be too long and cumbersome to be listed in the footnotes and bibliography.

N: [21] F. F. Bruce, 1 and 2 Thessalonians, WBC 45 (Waco, TX: Word, 1982), 65.

S: [30] Bruce, 1 and 2 Thessalonians, 80.

B: Bruce, F. F. 1 and 2 Thessalonians. Word Biblical Commentary 45. Waco, TX: Word, 1982.

A Volume in a Series with the Series Editor

- In this example, the multivolume series is Guides to New Testament Exegesis. It has no abbreviation. Each volume of the series is separately authored or edited, titled, with a volume number. The title of this set is not italicized.
- Scot McKnight edited volume 1. Since there is no commonly recognized abbreviation for this series, the series title has to be spelt out in full in the footnote and bibliography.

N: [3] Scot McKnight, ed., Introducing New Testament Interpretation, Guides to New Testament Exegesis 1 (Grand Rapids, MI: Baker, 1989), 58.

S: [9] McKnight, Introducing New Testament Interpretation, 80.

B: McKnight, Scot, ed. Introducing New Testament Interpretation. Guides to New Testament Exegesis 1. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Book House, 1989.

A Volume in a Series with Author and Series Editor

- In this example, the multivolume series is the "Library of Early Christianity" series edited by Wayne A. Meeks.
- John E. Stambaugh and David L. Balch are the authors of volume 2 of the series entitled The New Testament in Its Social Environment.

N: [5] John E. Stambaugh and David L. Balch, The New Testament in Its Social Environment, Library of Early Christianity 2, ed. Wayne A. Meeks (Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1986), 10.

Books in Multivolume or Commentary Sets or Series

S:	[10] Stambaugh and Balch, The New Testament in Its Social Environment, 80.
B:	Stambaugh, John E., and David L. Balch. The New Testament in Its Social Environment. Library of Early Christianity 2. Edited by Wayne A. Meeks. Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1986.

Bible Reference Resources

1. Bible reference resources are resources such as biblical language lexicons, Bible dictionaries, theological dictionaries, and encyclopedia, etc.
2. These resources categorize their content in a very different way from normal books. As such, citing them requires a different format altogether.
3. The author-date citation style is designed to cater more to social science studies similar to the APA style and uses essentially the author's last name, year of publishing, and page number/s to locate the source.[19] It is thus unable to do citations for bible reference resources in the correct way that these resources need to be cited. This makes it inadequate to be used for Biblical Studies (BS/OT/NT), Theological Studies (TS), and Intercultural Studies (IS) courses which require students to research and cite such Bible reference resources correctly.
4. Study Bibles generally target the general public readers. Students in post-graduate academic studies like yourself should not rely on them as the main or only resource. Nevertheless, students who do not learn the biblical languages may find some of the text notes on Greek or Hebrew words useful. As such, examples of citations for Study Bibles notes are also given.

– –

BIBLE DICTIONARY ENTRIES

- Before doing the citation, check how many volumes make up the whole Bible dictionary set and whether the page numbers run consecutively from one volume to another or restart with a new volume.
- In the footnote citations, state the author/s, the title of the topic or entry in quotation marks, the dictionary title (use the commonly known abbreviation if you know it), the volume number (if there is one), and the page numbers. In the first citation, the page ranges of that topic or entry in the dictionary must be stated.
- In the bibliography, the editor/s of that dictionary should be placed in front instead of the individual contributor/s. Only one entry for the Bible dictionary is required (B^1) regardless of the number of articles and contributors cited in the footnotes.
- An alternate way of writing the bibliography entry is shown in B^2. In this way, every individual article and dictionary contributor referenced in the paper is being acknowledged. Check with your instructor which of the two bibliography entries he/she prefers.

Anchor Bible Dictionary (ABD)

- In this example, the theological dictionary is the Anchor Bible Dictionary, commonly referred to by its abbreviation ABD. The whole set has 6 volumes in total and the page numbers run consecutively from one volume to another. It is important to cite the correct volume and page numbers.

[19] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 223.

Bible Reference Resources

- John J. Collins wrote an article on the book of Daniel. This article is in volume 2 of the ABD on pages 29–38. The full page range of the article is shown in the first footnote. In the subsequent footnote, the specific page is shown.
- There are two possible ways B^1 and B^2 to write the bibliographic entry. Follow B^1 if two or more articles from the same dictionary are cited in the paper. On the other hand, B^2 makes it easier to locate the entry as it bears the name of the author and title of the article.

N: [7] John J. Collins, "Daniel, Book of," ABD 2:29–38.

S: [18] Collins, ABD 2:35.

B^1: Freedman, David Noel et al., eds. Anchor Bible Dictionary. 6 vols. New York, NY: Doubleday, 1992.

B^2: Collins, John J. "Daniel, Book of." In Anchor Bible Dictionary, edited by David Noel Freedman et al. 6 vols. 2:29–38. New York, NY: Doubleday, 1992.

– – – – – – – – – –

Eerdmans Dictionary of the Bible (EDB)

- In this example, the Bible dictionary is the Eerdmans Dictionary of the Bible, commonly referred to by its abbreviation EDB.
- Joseph E. Jensen wrote an article on the "Flood." This article is on pages 464–466. The full page range of the article is shown in the first footnote. In the subsequent footnote, the specific page is shown.
- There are two possible ways B^1 and B^2 to write the bibliographic entry. Follow B^1 if two or more articles from the same dictionary are cited in the paper. On the other hand, B^2 makes it easier to locate the entry as it bears the name of the author and title of the article.

N: [4] Joseph E. Jensen, "Flood," EDB 464–466.

S: [11] Jensen, EDB 465.

B^1: Freedman, David Noel et al., eds. Eerdmans Dictionary of the Bible. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 2000.

B^2: Jensen, Joseph E. "Flood." In Eerdmans Dictionary of the Bible, edited by David Noel Freedman et al. 464–466. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 2000.

– – – – – – – – – –

IVP Bible Dictionary – Dictionary of the Old Testament: Prophets

- The Dictionary of the Old Testament: Prophets is one of 4 volumes of the commonly used IVP Bible Dictionary on the Old Testament. The other titles are: Dictionary of the Old Testament: Pentateuch, Dictionary of the Old Testament: Historical Books, and Dictionary of the Old Testament: Wisdom, Poetry, and Writings.

Bible Reference Resources

- There are another 4 volumes on the New Testament, namely Dictionary of Jesus and the Gospels, Dictionary of Paul and His Letters, Dictionary of New Testament Background, and Dictionary of the Later New Testament and Its Developments,
- However, they do not form a dictionary set like the ABD or EDB. Each volume is standalone. As such, they should be cited separately.
- There are two possible ways B^1 and B^2 to write the bibliographic entry. Follow B^1 if two or more articles from the same dictionary are cited in the paper. On the other hand, B^2 makes it easier to locate the entry as it bears the name of the author and title of the article.

N: [7] J. Charles. Halton, "Law," in Dictionary of the Old Testament: Prophets, eds., Mark J. Boda and J. Gordon McConville (Downers Grove, IL: IVP, 2012), 493.

S: [18] Halton, "Law," 499.

B^1: Boda, Mark J., and J. Gordon McConville, eds. Dictionary of the Old Testament: Prophets. Downers Grove, IL: IVP, 2012.

B^2: Halton, J. Charles. "Law." In Dictionary of the Old Testament: Prophets, edited by Mark J. Boda and J. Gordon McConville, 493–501. Downers Grove, IL: IVP, 2012.

– – – – – – – – – –

Exegetical Dictionary of the New Testament (EDNT)

- In this example, the dictionary is the Exegetical Dictionary of the New Testament, commonly referred to by its abbreviation EDNT. The whole set has 3 volumes in total and the page numbers restart with a new volume. It is important to cite the correct volume and page numbers.
- Peter Fiedler wrote an article on the Greek word "ἁμαρτία." This article is in volume 1 of the EDNT on pages 65–69. The full page range of the article is shown in the first footnote. In the subsequent footnote, the specific page is shown.
- There are two possible ways B^1 and B^2 to write the bibliographic entry. Follow B^1 if two or more articles from the same dictionary are cited in the paper. On the other hand, B^2 makes it easier to locate the entry as it bears the name of the author and title of the article.

N: [4] Peter Fiedler, "ἁμαρτία," EDNT 1:65–69.

S: [11] Fiedler, EDNT 1:67.

B^1: Balz, Horst, and Gerhard Schneider, eds. Exegetical Dictionary of the New Testament. 3 vols. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1990.

B^2: Fiedler, Peter. "ἁμαρτία." In Exegetical Dictionary of the New Testament, edited by Horst Balz and Gerhard Schneider. 3 vols. 1:65–69. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1990.

– –

Bible Reference Resources

THEOLOGICAL DICTIONARY OR ENCYCLOPEDIA ENTRIES

- Before doing the citation, check how many volumes make up the whole theological dictionary or encyclopedia set and whether the page numbers run consecutively from one volume to another or restart with a new volume.
- In the footnote citations, state the author/s, the title of the topic, word, or entry in quotation marks, the dictionary title (use the commonly known abbreviation if you know it), the volume number (if there is one), and the page numbers. In the first citation, the page ranges of that topic, word, or entry in the dictionary must be stated.
- In the bibliography, the editor/s of that dictionary should be placed in front instead of the individual contributor/s. Only one entry for the theological dictionary is required (B^1) regardless of the number of articles and contributors cited in the footnotes.
- An alternate way of writing the bibliography entry is shown in B^2. In this way, every individual article and dictionary contributor referenced in the paper is being acknowledged. Check with your instructor which of the two bibliography entries he/she prefers.

Theological Dictionary of the New Testament (TDNT)

- In this example, the theological dictionary is the Theological Dictionary of the New Testament, commonly referred to as Kittel or its abbreviation TDNT. The whole set comes with a blue printed book cover and has 10 volumes in total. The page numbers run consecutively from one volume to another. It is important to cite the correct volume and page numbers.
- Ulrich Wilckens wrote an article on the Greek words "σοφία, σοφός, σοφίζω." This article is in volume 7 of the TDNT on pages 465–526. The full page range of the article is shown in the first footnote. In the subsequent footnote, the specific page is shown.
- There are two possible ways B^1 and B^2 to write the bibliographic entry. Follow B^1 if two or more articles from the same dictionary are cited in the paper. On the other hand, B^2 makes it easier to locate the entry as it bears the name of the author and title of the article.

N: [9] Ulrich Wilckens, "σοφία, σοφός, σοφίζω," TDNT 7:465–526.

S: [12] Wilckens, TDNT 7:485.

B^1: Kittel, Gerhard, and Gerhard Friedrich, eds. Theological Dictionary of the New Testament. Translated by Geoffrey W. Bromiley. 10 vols. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1964.

B^2: Wilckens, Ulrich. "σοφία, σοφός, σοφίζω." In Theological Dictionary of the New Testament, edited by Gerhard Kittel and Gerhard Friedrich. 10 vols. 7:465–526. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1964.

Bible Reference Resources

– – – – – – – – – –

Theological Dictionary of the New Testament: Abridged in One Volume (TDNTA)

- The TDNT also has an abridged one volume version that comes with a red printed book cover. Its abbreviation is TDNTA.
- Ulrich Wilckens' article on the Greek words "σοφία, σοφός" is on pages 1056–1064. The full page range of the article is shown in the first footnote. In the subsequent footnote, the specific page is shown.
- There are two possible ways B^1 and B^2 to write the bibliographic entry. Follow B^1 if two or more articles from the same dictionary are cited in the paper. On the other hand, B^2 makes it easier to locate the entry as it bears the name of the author and title of the article.

N: [7] Ulrich Wilckens, "σοφία, σοφός," TDNTA 1056–1064.

S: [18] Wilckens, TDNTA 1060.

B^1: Kittel, Gerhard, and Gerhard Friedrich, eds. Theological Dictionary of the New Testament: Abridged in One Volume. Translated by Geoffrey W. Bromiley. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1985.

B^2: Wilckens, Ulrich. "σοφία, σοφός." In Theological Dictionary of the New Testament: Abridged in One Volume, edited by Gerhard Kittel and Gerhard Friedrich, 1056–1064. Translated by Geoffrey W. Bromiley. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1985.

– – – – – – – – – –

Theological Dictionary of the Old Testament (TDOT)

- The Theological Dictionary of the Old Testament, commonly referred to by its abbreviation TDOT, is the equivalent of TDNT. The whole set has 16 volumes in total. The page numbers restart with a new volume. It is important to cite the correct volume and page numbers.
- Ronald E. Clements wrote an article on the Hebrew word "אַבְרָהָם." This article is in volume 1 of the TDOT on pages 52–58. The full page range of the article is shown in the first footnote. In the subsequent footnote, the specific page is shown.
- There are two possible ways B^1 and B^2 to write the bibliographic entry. Follow B^1 if two or more articles from the same dictionary are cited in the paper. On the other hand, B^2 makes it easier to locate the entry as it bears the name of the author and title of the article.

N: [9] Ronald E. Clements, "אַבְרָהָם," TDOT 1:52–58.

S: [12] Clements, TDOT 1:54.

B^1: Botterweck, G. Johannes, and Helmer Ringgren, eds. Theological Dictionary of the Old Testament. Translated by John T. Willis. 16 vols. Grand Rapids, MI:

Bible Reference Resources

Eerdmans, 1974.

B[2]: Clements, Ronald E. "אַבְרָהָם." In Theological Dictionary of the Old Testament, edited by G. Johannes Botterweck and Helmer Ringgren. Translated by John T. Willis. 16 vols. 1:52–58. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1974.

– – – – – – – – – –

Theological Interpretation of the New Testament

- The Theological Interpretation of the New Testament is a single volume work. It has no known abbreviations.

N: [7] I. Howard Marshall, "1 Timothy," in Theological Interpretation of the New Testament: A Book-by-Book Survey, ed. Kevin J. Vanhoozer et al. (Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Academic, 2008), 165–169.

S: [18] Marshall, "1 Timothy," 168.

B[1]: Vanhoozer, Kevin J. et al., eds. Theological Interpretation of the New Testament: A Book-by-Book Survey. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Academic, 2008.

B[2]: Marshall, I. Howard. "1 Timothy." In Theological Interpretation of the New Testament: A Book-by-Book Survey, edited by Kevin J. Vanhoozer et al., 165–169. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Academic, 2008.

– –

Greek and Hebrew Lexicon Entries

- The SBL Handbook of Style website explains how an entry in a biblical language lexicon should be cited:

> [T]he distinction between an entry and an article is not merely a matter of length but more of the way in which information is presented. A lexical entry generally includes a simple definition of the term, but it may also provide grammatical notes and the sources from which the meaning of the term is derived. All this is presented in list form. A dictionary article, however, usually offers a prose discussion of a word or group of related words.[20]

- As such, citations of lexica entries ought to be in a footnote and not embedded in the text. Only the notes-bibliography style can perform this task.
- The abbreviation "s.v." (sub verbo in Latin meaning "under the word") followed by the Greek or Hebrew words in quotation marks should be used to locate the word entry instead of page numbers. Subsequent citations are similar to the first citation because there are no shortened forms.

[20] "Citing Reference Works 2: Lexica," SBL Handbook of Style: Explanations, Clarifications, Expansions, 30 March, 2017, accessed 21 June, 2020, https://sblhs2.com/2017/03/30/citing-reference-works-2-lexica/.

Bible Reference Resources

- The author-date style is not suited to cite lexicons. Since lexicons typically comprise of many authors and/or editors, an author-date citation of a lexicon will appear as a long cumbersome chain of names. Moreover, the actual Greek or Hebrew words must be cited in the footnotes. Page numbers are not accurate locators of lexica entries. The author-date style is unable to perform the task.

Hebrew Lexicon: HALOT

- HALOT is the leading Hebrew and Aramaic lexicon used today. The commonly known and used abbreviation "HALOT" is created by joining together the first letters of the key words from the book title. As such, it is italicized.
- In the footnotes, write "s.v." and the Hebrew words you are studying in HALOT in quotation marks.
- In the bibliography, only one bibliography entry for HALOT is required regardless of the number of Hebrew words cited in the footnotes.

N: [3] HALOT, s.v. "חָכְמָה."

S: [12] HALOT, s.v. "חָכְמָה."

B: Koehler, Ludwig, Walter Baumgartner, and Johann J. Stamm. The Hebrew and Aramaic Lexicon of the Old Testament. Translated and edited under the supervision of Mervyn E. J. Richardson. 2 vols. Leiden: Brill, 2001.

– – – – – – – – – –

Other Hebrew Lexicons

- The same method of citation and bibliography shown above for HALOT should be used for other Hebrew lexicons as well, such as
  - the Enhanced Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew and English Lexicon (BDB),
  - the 3-volume Theological Lexicon of the Old Testament (TLOT),
  - the 5-volume New International Dictionary of Old Testament Theology & Exegesis (NIDOTTE), and
  - the Abridged Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew-English Lexicon of the Old Testament (Abridged BDB).

B: Brown, Francis, Samuel Rolles Driver, and Charles Augustus Briggs. Enhanced Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew and English Lexicon. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1977.

Jenni, Ernst, and Claus Westermann, eds. Theological Lexicon of the Old Testament. Translated by Mark E. Biddle. 3 vols. Peabody, MA: Hendrickson 1997.

VanGemeren, Willem A., et al, eds. The New International Dictionary of Old Testament Theology and Exegesis. 5 vols. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1997.

Bible Reference Resources

Whitaker, Richard, Francis Brown, Samuel Rolles Driver, and Charles Augustus Briggs. The Abridged Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew-English Lexicon of the Old Testament. Boston, NY: Houghton, Mifflin and Company, 1906.

– – – – – – – – – –

Greek Lexicon: BDAG

- BDAG is the leading Greek-English lexicon used today. The commonly known abbreviation "BDAG" is created by joining the first letters of the last names of the four authors, namely Bauer, Danker, Arndt, and Gingrich. It is not italicized.
- In the footnotes, write "s.v." and the Greek words you are studying in BDAG in quotation marks.
- In the bibliography, Danker's name is in first place because of his immense work and contribution in the third edition. Only one bibliography entry for BDAG is required regardless of the number of Greek words cited in the footnotes.

N: [9] BDAG, s.v. "σοφία."

S: [15] BDAG, s.v. "σοφία."

B: Danker, Frederick W., Walter Bauer, William F. Arndt, and F. Wilbur Gingrich. A Greek-English Lexicon of the New Testament and Other Early Christian Literature. 3rd ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2000.

– – – – – – – – – –

Other Greek Lexicons

- The same method of citation and bibliography shown above for BDAG should be used for other Greek lexicons as well, such as
  - Colin Brown's 4-volume New International Dictionary of New Testament Theology (NIDNTT),
  - Moisés Silva's 5-volume New International Dictionary of New Testament Theology and Exegesis (NIDNTTE),
  - Spicq's 3-volume Theological Lexicon of the New Testament (TLNT), and
  - Thayer's Greek-English Lexicon of the New Testament (GELNT).

B: Brown, Colin. The New International Dictionary of New Testament Theology. 4 vols. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1986.

Silva, Moisés, ed. The New International Dictionary of New Testament Theology and Exegesis. 2nd ed. 5 vols. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2014.

Spicq, Ceslas. Theological Lexicon of the New Testament. Translated and edited by James D. Ernest. 3 vols. Peabody, MA: Hendrickson 1994.

Thayer, Joseph H. Greek-English Lexicon of the New Testament. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Book House, 1977. https://libguides-thedtl-org.dtl.idm.oclc.org/c.php?g=1146312.

Bible Reference Resources

STRONG'S CONCORDANCE & LEXICON ENTRIES

- Citing a Strong's concordance or lexicon entry is very similar to that for Greek and Hebrew lexicons.
- In the footnotes, write "s.v." and the Strong's number and the Greek or Hebrew words in quotation marks.
- Add "G" in front of the Strong's number if it is a Greek word and "H" in front if it is a Hebrew word.
- Reproduce the Greek or Hebrew words in the way they appear at the start of the concordance or lexicon entry. If the words are transliterated into English, then italicize it in your citation.
- When a concordance or lexicon is cited more than once, an abbreviation may be used. In the examples below, the abbreviation for Enhanced Strong's Lexicon is ESL.
- In the bibliography, only one bibliography entry for the concordance or lexicon is required regardless of the number of words cited in the footnotes.

N: [3] Enhanced Strong's Lexicon, s.v. "G2884 κόρος."

S: [12] ESL, s.v. "H7185 קָשָׁה."

B: Strong, James. Enhanced Strong's Lexicon. Woodside Bible Fellowship, 1995.

BIBLE HUB AND BLUE LETTER BIBLE RESOURCES

- Concordances and lexicons are increasingly found in websites such as Bible Hub (https://biblehub.com/) and Blue Letter Bible (https://www.blueletterbible.org/).
- Below are examples of how to cite concordance or lexicon entries found in Bible Hub or Blue Letter Bible, whether in Greek, Hebrew, or using Strong's number.
- In the footnotes, write "s.v." and cite the word referenced in quotation marks. When a same resource is cited more than once, an abbreviation may be used.
- In the bibliography, only one bibliography entry is required for each concordance or lexicon regardless of the number of words cited from it.

Greek and Hebrew Lexicons in Biblehub.com

- In the examples of the first footnote citations (N) below, Thayer's Greek Lexicon in Bible Hub is used for the Greek word monogenés with Strong's number 3439. Next, the Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew and English Lexicon in Bible Hub is used for the Hebrew word laqat with Strong's number 3950.
- In the second citations (S), the two words are cited again.
- In the bibliography, each concordance or lexicon is only entered once.

Bible Reference Resources

N: [4] Thayer's Greek Lexicon, in Bible Hub (Biblehub.com, Online Parallel Bible Project, 2024), s.v. "G3439 monogenés," https://biblehub.com/thayers/3439.htm.

[6] Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew and English Lexicon, in Bible Hub (Biblehub.com, Online Parallel Bible Project, 2024), s.v. "H3950 laqat," https://biblehub.com/bdb/3950.htm.

S: [7] Thayer, s.v. "G3439 monogenés," https://biblehub.com/thayers/3439.htm.

[9] BDB, s.v. "H3950 laqat," https://biblehub.com/bdb/3950.htm.

B: Brown-Driver-Briggs Hebrew and English Lexicon. In Bible Hub. Biblehub.com, Online Parallel Bible Project, 2024. https://biblehub.com.

Thayer's Greek Lexicon. In Bible Hub. Biblehub.com, Online Parallel Bible Project, 2024. https://biblehub.com.

– – – – – – – – – –

Commentaries in Biblehub.com

- The example below shows the way to cite content from the Pulpit Commentary that is found in Bible Hub for Ruth 2:2.

N: [4] Pulpit Commentary, in Bible Hub (Biblehub.com, Online Parallel Bible Project, 2024), at Ruth 2:2, https://biblehub.com/commentaries/pulpit/ruth/2.htm.

[6] Expositor's Bible Commentary, in Bible Hub (Biblehub.com, Online Parallel Bible Project, 2024), at Luke 3:1, https://biblehub.com/commentaries/expositors/luke/3.htm.

S: [12] Pulpit Commentary, at Ruth 3:11, https://biblehub.com/commentaries/pulpit/ruth/3.htm.

B: Expositor's Bible Commentary. In Bible Hub. Biblehub.com, Online Parallel Bible Project, 2024. https://biblehub.com.

Pulpit Commentary. In Bible Hub. Biblehub.com, Online Parallel Bible Project, 2024. https://biblehub.com.

– – – – – – – – – –

Atlas and Maps in Biblehub.com

- One can also find atlas and maps in Bible Hub.

N: [4] "Bible Atlas," in Bible Hub (Biblehub.com, Online Parallel Bible Project, 2024), Golgotha (Jerusalem), https://bibleatlas.org/golgotha.htm.

S: [12] "Bible Atlas," Valley of Aven (Bethel), https://bibleatlas.org/full/valley_of_aven.htm.

B: "Bible Atlas." In Bible Hub. Biblehub.com, Online Parallel Bible Project, 2024. https://biblehub.com.

– –

Bible Reference Resources

STUDY BIBLE NOTES

- There are many study bibles available today. Many of them provide good study notes and articles written by well-known scholars. It is easy to get hold of a study bible for quick information.
- However, the treatment of topics or verses in the notes or articles is often cursory and targeted at the general public audience, not students in post-graduate academic studies. Students should not refer to them as their main or only resource for their learning and completion of assignments.
- Students should build the habit of reading scholarly works such as commentaries that explore and explain biblical books and passages with more extensive details and analysis of the passages and topics they are studying.
- Nevertheless, students who do not learn the biblical languages may find some of the text notes on Greek or Hebrew words in study bibles useful. As such, examples of citations for Study Bibles notes are given below.

NIV Study Bible

- This example is taken directly from the SBL citation guide of Seattle Pacific Library at Seattle Pacific University.[21]
- Donald W. Burdick is the contributor for the Book of James in the NIV Study Bible. The Bible book name is written in quotation marks similar to citing a book chapter.
- In the footnote citations, give more specific location of the content within the page range of the bible book. E.g., a study note on a verse ("Study Note on Jas. 2:14-26"), a text note on a verse ("Text Note on Jas. 4:11"), an introduction to a book ("Introduction"), or an article ("Article on 'James and Wealth'"). This is inserted after the publishing information and before the page number/s.
- In the bibliography, the page range of the bible book or article is written in front of the study bible title.

N: [3] Donald W. Burdick, "James," in NIV Study Bible: New International Version, fully rev. ed., ed. Kenneth L. Barker et al. (Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2020), Study Note on Jas, 2:14-26, 2182.

S^a: [6] Burdick, "James," Text Note on Jas. 4:11, 2182.

S^b: [8] Burdick, "James," Article on "James and Wealth," 2185.

S^c: [9] Burdick, "James," Introduction, 2175.

B: Burdick, Donald W. "James." Pages 2175–2186 in NIV Study Bible: New International Version. Fully rev. ed. Edited by Kenneth L. Barker et al. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2020.

[21] "SBL Citation Style," Subject Guides @ SPC, Seattle Pacific Library, at Seattle Pacific University, accessed 30 April, 2024, https://spu.libguides.com/citations/cite_sbl#s-lg-box-26403158.

Bible Reference Resources

– – – – – – – – – –

NIV Biblical Theology Study Bible

- In this example, Douglas J. Moo is the contributor for the Book of Romans in the NIV Biblical Theology Study Bible.
- In the footnote citations, give more specific location of the content within the page range of the bible book. E.g., "Introduction to Romans," "Study Note on Rom. 13:1–7," and "Text Note on Rom 14:10." This is inserted after the publishing information and before the page number/s.
- N^2 cites another author John N. Oswalt who contributed to the book of Isaiah.
- N^3 cites D. A. Carson who contributed an article "A Biblical-Theological Overview of the Bible." This article is given space of its own not within the page range of any bible book. As such, it is treated like a book chapter.
- In the bibliography, the page ranges of the bible books and articles are written in front of the study bible titles.

N^1: [1] Douglass J. Moo, "Romans," in NIV Biblical Theology Study Bible: Follow God's Redemptive Plan as It Unfolds Throughout Scripture, ed. D. A. Carson et al. (Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2018), Introduction to Romans, 2018.

S^{1a}: [2] Moo, "Romans," Study Note on Rom. 13:1–7, 2042.

S^{1b}: [3] Moo, "Romans," Text Note on Rom. 14:10, 2144.

N^2: [5] John N. Oswalt, "Isaiah," in NIV Biblical Theology Study Bible: Follow God's Redemptive Plan as It Unfolds Throughout Scripture, ed. D. A. Carson et al. (Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2018), Introduction to Isaiah, 1163.

N^3: [8] D. A. Carson, "A Biblical-Theological Overview of the Bible," in NIV Biblical Theology Study Bible: Follow God's Redemptive Plan as It Unfolds Throughout Scripture, ed. D. A. Carson et al. (Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2018), 2325.

B: Carson, D. A. "A Biblical-Theological Overview of the Bible." Pages 2325–2327 in NIV Biblical Theology Study Bible: Follow God's Redemptive Plan as It Unfolds Throughout Scripture. Edited by D. A. Carson et al. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2018.

Moo, Douglass J. "Romans." Pages 2017–2048 in NIV Biblical Theology Study Bible: Follow God's Redemptive Plan as It Unfolds Throughout Scripture. Edited by D. A. Carson et al. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2018.

Oswalt, John N. "Isaiah." Pages 1159–1283 in NIV Biblical Theology Study Bible: Follow God's Redemptive Plan as It Unfolds Throughout Scripture. Edited by D. A. Carson et al. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2018.

– –

Bible Reference Resources

NET Bible Notes

- The examples in this category are directly taken from the SBL citation guide of Seattle Pacific Library at Seattle Pacific University.[22]
- In the NET Bible at netbible.org, the abbreviations used and meanings are: sn=study note; tc=text critical note; tn=translators' note; map=map note.[23]
- In the first footnote citation (N) below, the student is referring to the NET Bible Notes, note 12 at Matthew 5:11, which is a text critical note for a Greek word.
- In the subsequent citation (S^a), he is referring to note 9 at Matt 5:6, which is a study note.
- In the third citation (S^b), he is referring to note 15 at Matt 5:15, which is a translators' note.
- In the bibliography, only one entry for all the "NET Notes" is required.

N: [6] "NET Notes," in the NET Bible (Bible.org, Biblical Studies Press, 2019), note 12 (a text critical note) at Matt 5:11, https://netbible.org/bible/Matthew+5.

S^a: [9] "NET Notes," note 9 (a study note) at Matt 5:6, https://netbible.org/bible/Matthew+5.

S^b: [10] "NET Notes," note 15 (a translators' note) at Matt 5:15, https://netbible.org/bible/Matthew+5.

B: "NET Notes." In the NET Bible. Bible.org, Biblical Studies Press, 2019. https://netbible.org.

– – – – – – – – – –

Matthew Henry's commentary notes in the NET Bible

- In the first footnote citation (N) below, the student is referring to Matthew Henry's commentary note in the NET Bible, at Genesis 12.
- In the second citation (S), he is referring to another place of the same commentary note at Gen 12.
- In the bibliography, only one entry for all the Matthew Henry commentary notes referred to in the NET Bible is required.

N: [4] Matthew Henry, in the NET Bible (Bible.org, Biblical Studies Press, 2019), at Gen 12, https://netbible.org/bible/Genesis+12.

S: [7] Henry, at Gen 12, https://netbible.org/bible/Genesis+12.

---

[22] "SBL Citation Style," Subject Guides @ SPC, Seattle Pacific Library, at Seattle Pacific University, accessed 30 April, 2024, https://spu.libguides.com/citations/cite_sbl#s-lg-box-26403158.

[23] "List of Abbreviations (for the NET Bible Footnotes)," in Bible.org, Biblical Studies Press, 2019, accessed 30 April, 2024, https://bible.org/list-abbreviations-net-bible-footnotes.

Bible Reference Resources

B: Henry, Matthew. In the NET Bible. Bible.org, Biblical Studies Press, 2019. https://netbible.org.

– – – – – – – – – –

Thomas L. Constable's Notes in the NET Bible

- In the first footnote citation (N) below, the student is referring to Constable's note in the NET Bible, at Genesis 12, specifically under the sub-heading Gen 12:10-20.
- In the second citation (S), he is referring to another one of Constable's notes at Gen 11, specifically under the sub-heading Gen 11:10-26.
- In the bibliography, only one entry for all the Constable's notes referred to in the NET Bible is required.

N: [2] "Constable's Notes," in the NET Bible (Bible.org, Biblical Studies Press, 2019), at Gen 12:10-20, https://netbible.org/bible/Genesis+12.

S: [5] "Constable's Notes," at Gen 11:10-26, https://netbible.org/bible/Genesis+11.

B: "Constable's Notes." In the NET Bible. Bible.org, Biblical Studies Press, 2019. https://netbible.org.

– –

BIBLEREF NOTES

- In BibleRef at bibleref.com, three sections appear for every Bible chapter or verse: the "What does it mean?" section, the "Context Summary" section, and the "Chapter Summary" section.
- In the first footnote citation (N) below, the student is referring to the BibleRef Notes under the "What does John chapter 1 mean" section.
- In the subsequent citation (S^a), he is referring to the "Context Summary" section at John 1:19.
- In the third citation (S^b), he is referring to the "What does Ruth 1:1 mean?" section at Ruth 1:1.
- In the bibliography, only one entry for all the "BibleRef Notes" is required.

N: [4] "BibleRef Notes," in BibleRef (BibleRef.com, Got Questions Ministries, 2024), "What does John chapter 1 mean?" at John 1, https://www.bibleref.com/John/1/John-chapter-1.html.

S^a: [7] "BibleRef Notes," "Context Summary" at John 1:19, https://www.bibleref.com/John/1/John-1-19.html.

S^b: [9] "BibleRef Notes," "What does Ruth 1:1 mean?" at Ruth 1:1, https://www.bibleref.com/Ruth/1/Ruth-1-1.html.

B: "BibleRef Notes." In BibleRef. BibleRef.com, Got Questions Ministries, 2024. https://www.bibleref.com.

– –

Bible Reference Resources

English Dictionary Entries

- Citing an English language dictionary entry is very similar to that for Greek and Hebrew lexicons.
- In the footnotes, write "s.v." and cite the word in quotation marks. When a dictionary is cited more than once, an abbreviation may be used. In the examples below, the abbreviation for Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary is MWCD, while for Oxford English Dictionary, the abbreviation is OED.
- In the bibliography, only one bibliography entry for the dictionary is required regardless of the number of English words cited in the footnotes.

N: [3] Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, 11th ed., s.v. "pericope."

S: [12] MWCD, s.v. "pericope."

B: Merriam-Webster, Inc. Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary. Springfield, MA: Merriam-Webster, Inc., 2003.

_ _ _ _ _

N: [14] Oxford English Dictionary for Schools, s.v. "permissible."

S: [18] OED for Schools, s.v. "perjury."

B: Allen, Robert, and Susan Rennie, eds. Oxford English Dictionary for Schools. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2012.

_ _

Books in Digital Library and Internet

1. Turabian establishes clearly, "Electronic books…are cited just like print books…. In addition, you will need to include information about the format you consulted. If you read the book online, include a URL. If you consulted the book in a commercial database, you can instead give the name of the database."[24]
2. Take note that a URL or DOI (digital object identifier) address needs to be provided. A DOI address that does not begin with http://doi.org/ needs to be appended with it to become a URL address. Whenever URL or DOI addresses need to be broken at the end of the line, the break should be inserted "after a colon [:] or a double slash [//]; before or after an equals sign [=] or ampersand [&]; or before a single slash [-], a period [.], or any other punctuation or symbol."[25]

– –

DIGITAL THEOLOGICAL LIBRARY

- EAST is a co-owner of the Digital Theological Library (the DTL). All EAST faculty, staff, program students, and visiting (credit) students have access rights to this digital library. Students should visit www.digitaltheologicallibrary.org and log-in with their assigned access codes to view and read e-books and articles.
- Visiting (audit) students can visit the Open Access Digital Theological Library (the OADTL) for free at https://oadtl.org/ to find resources.
- While the names of DTL and OADTL need not be appended in the citations, it is a good practice to append the URL or DOI addresses used to access the resources.

ProQuest Databases

- ProQuest is a major group of databases in the DTL. ProQuest databases include ProQuest Academic Complete, ProQuest Central, ProQuest Dissertations & Theses Global, ProQuest Ebook Central, and ProQuest One Academic.
- After you have logged in using your personal DTL access code, you will also need to create or sign in to your own account with ProQuest, select "DTL – Singapore" as the institution country where your DTL provider resides in and log in further.
- In the footnote citations and bibliography, give the basic citation information for the book. Add the access date and the name of the database. Copy the URL of the book and paste it at the end of your citations so that your instructor/s can access the book and locate the same content easily.
- Note that when you read the book online or download the whole book to read using Adobe Digital Editions app, the page numbers given are generally only for the E-book version provided by ProQuest and do not correspond to the page numbers of the printed version. On the other hand, be advised that PDFs of book chapters that you download may not contain page numbers.

[24] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 186.

[25] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 304.

Books in Digital Library and Internet

- Generally, when page numbers are not shown on the pages of the Ebook, or if they appear to be of the same size and font as the text of the Ebook (typically Times New Romans) or are found or given elsewhere on the webpage, they do not correspond to the actual page numbers of the printed version of the book.
- For example, in the first footnote citation of the Ebook of Donald A. Hagner's The New Testament: A Historical and Theological Introduction in the ProQuest Ebook Central database, chapter 4 on the Gospels starts on page number 93. This page number 93 is not shown on the page view of the Ebook but given on the top right-hand corner of the Ebook page view. In the printed book however, chapter 4 starts on page 59.
- Likewise, in the subsequent citation of the same book in the ProQuest Ebook database, chapter 32 on Ephesians begins on page 706 given on the top right-hand corner of the Ebook page view. In the printed book, it begins on page 585.
- Students should quote the page number that appears either the Ebook version or the printed version but not both as it will mislead readers. If you are quoting the Ebook version, ensure that the URL or DOI of the Ebook is given.

N: [9] Donald A. Hagner, The New Testament: A Historical and Theological Introduction (Grand Rapids: Baker Academic. 2012), 93, accessed 3 May, 2024, ProQuest Ebook Central, https://ebookcentral-proquest-com.dtl.idm.oclc.org/lib/dtl/reader.action?docID=3117085.

S: [17] Hagner, The New Testament, 706.

B: Hagner, Donald A. The New Testament: A Historical and Theological Introduction. Grand Rapids: Baker Academic. 2012. Accessed 3 May, 2024. ProQuest Ebook Central. https://ebookcentral-proquest-com.dtl.idm.oclc.org/lib/dtl/reader.action?docID=3117085.

– – – – – – – – – –

Cambridge University Press

- In this example of a book published by the Cambridge University Press, the page view of the book looks exactly like the printed version.
- Add the URL or DOI of the Ebook so that readers can visit the website and read the content exactly as how you read it.

N: [3] Fredrick J. Long, Ancient Rhetoric and Paul's Apology: The Compositional Unity of 2 Corinthians, Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 131 (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2004), 126, https://doi-org.dtl.idm.oclc.org/10.1017/CBO9780511488054.

S: [7] Long, Ancient Rhetoric and Paul's Apology, 36.

B: Long, Fredrick J. Ancient Rhetoric and Paul's Apology: The Compositional Unity of 2 Corinthians. Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 131. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2004. https://doi-org.dtl.idm.oclc.org/10.1017/CBO9780511488054.

– – – – – – – – – –

Books in Digital Library and Internet

EBSCOHost

- EBSCOHost is another huge database where DTL may direct you to. The citations look similar to other examples in this section. The page numbers will again be different between different Ebook formats.
- In the example below, readers can read the book online on EBSCOHost or download the Ebook to be read using the app Adobe Digital Editions (ADE). The page numbers reading online, in ADE, and in the printed version are all different.
- Students should remain consistent in using only one version of the book and indicate clearly by appending the URL when using the online version or appending the app name "Adobe Digital Editions" when using the downloaded version. See the next section for how to cite app-based and device-based Ebooks.

N: [3] Henri J. Nouwen, The Inner Voice of Love: A Journey through Anguish to Freedom (New York: Image Books, 2013), 78, http://search.ebscohost.com.dtl.idm.oclc.org/login.aspx?direct=true&db=nlebk&AN=722312&site=ehost-live&scope =site, EBSCOhost.

S: [15] Nouwen, The Inner Voice of Love, 34.

B: Nouwen, Henri J. The Inner Voice of Love: A Journey through Anguish to Freedom. New York: Image Books, 2013. http://search.ebscohost.com.dtl.idm.oclc.org/login.aspx?direct=true&db=nlebk&AN=722312&site=ehostlive&scope=site. EBSCOhost.

– –

INTERNET E-BOOKS

- In citing internet book resources, the key element to add apart from the general format for books is to ensure that the URL or DOI is appended at the end of the footnote citation and bibliography entry. The access date is also needed at times.

Internet Archive

- Internet Archive is yet another place where you may find books.
- Just as with ProQuest databases, the page numbers on the Internet Archive can be different from the printed version.
- In the example below for Wayne Grudem's widely used Systematic Theology, chapter 2 on "The Word of God" begins on page 29 on the Internet Archive Ebook version while on the printed version, the chapter begins on page 53.

N: [6] Wayne A. Grudem, Systematic Theology: An Introduction to Bible Doctrine (Grand Rapids: Zondervan. 2009), 29, https://archive.org/details/WayneGrudemSystematicTheology.

S: [11] Grudem, Systematic Theology, 34.

B: Grudem, Wayne A. Systematic Theology: An Introduction to Bible Doctrine. Grand Rapids: Zondervan. 2009. https://archive.org/details/WayneGrudemSystematicTheology.

Books in Digital Library and Internet

– – – – – – – – – –

Other Examples

- Certain internet resources provide a DOI or digital object identifier. When one is provided, use it in your citation, as such this example below.

N: [2] Sean A. Adams and Zanne Domoney-Lyttle, eds., Abraham in Jewish and Early Christian Literature (London: T&T Clark, 2019), 87, http://dx.doi.org /10.5040/9780567675545.

S: [19] Adams and Domoney-Lyttle, Abraham in Jewish and Early Christian Literature, 91.

B: Adams, Sean A., and Zanne Domoney-Lyttle, eds. Abraham in Jewish and Early Christian Literature. London: T&T Clark, 2019. http://dx.doi.org/10 .5040/9780567675545.

– – – – – – – – – –

- Other resource sites may provide the URL instead and may or may not allow downloading of the book. Use the URL given in such cases, such as below.

N: [23] Ryan P. Bonfiglio, Reading Images, Seeing Texts: Towards a Visual Hermeneutics for Biblical Studies, Orbis Biblicus Et Orientalis 280 (Fribourg: Academic Press Fribourg, 2016), 32, http://www.zora.uzh.ch/id/eprint/133250.

S: [25] Bonfiglio, Reading Images, Seeing Texts, 91.

B: Bonfiglio, Ryan P. Reading Images, Seeing Texts: Towards a Visual Hermeneutics for Biblical Studies. Orbis Biblicus Et Orientalis 280. Fribourg: Academic Press Fribourg, 2016. http://www.zora.uzh.ch/id/eprint/133250.

– – – – – – – – – –

- When the internet website appears to be managed not by a publisher or organized library but by a ministry or individual, append the access date.

N: [7] John Piper, Don't Waste Your Life (Wheaton, IL: Crossway, 2007), accessed June 14, 2017, https://www.desiringgod.org/books/dont-waste-your-life, 14.

S: [11] Piper, Don't Waste Your Life, 25.

B: Piper, John. Don't Waste Your Life. Wheaton, IL: Crossway, 2007. Accessed June 14, 2017. https://www.desiringgod.org/books/dont-waste-your-life.

– – – – –

N: [8] Flavius Josephus, The Wars of the Jews, translated by William Whiston, bk. 1, chap. 1, accessed June 14, 2017, http://www.sacred-texts.com/jud/josephus /war-1.htm.

S: [13] Josephus, The Wars of the Jews, bk. 2, chap. 3.

B: Josephus, Flavius. The Wars of the Jews. Translated by William Whiston. Accessed June 14, 2017. http://www.sacred-texts.com/jud/josephus/war-1.htm.

– –

App-Based and Device-Based Electronic Resources

1. Turabian states, "if you downloaded a book from Amazon or Apple or the like in a format that requires a specific app or device, include that information instead."[26]
2. E-books that are based on reading apps (e.g., Book in MacOS) and devices (e.g., Kindle) often show different page numbers from the printed versions of the books. This is because the apps and devices allow users to adjust the screen settings and resolutions and font sizes. Therefore, page numbers shown in E-book reading apps and devices are not consistent or reliable to be used for citation purposes. As such, in the footnote citations, cite the number or name of the section or chapter that the material comes under and then in both the footnote citations and bibliography indicate the app or device name, e.g., "Book" or "Kindle."[27]

– –

LOGOS BIBLE SOFTWARE RESOURCES

- Logos Bible Software allows users to show the page numbers of the resources. Most Logos books have page numbers that are similar to and consistent with the printed versions of the books.
- After opening the resource, select "Show page numbers" inside the "Visual Filters" feature. Scroll up and down to check what page the content is located within. Cite it like a printed version and then add the name "Logos Bible Software" at the end of the citation.

Logos Books

N: [2] Thomas á Kempis, The Imitation of Christ (Oak Harbor, WA: Logos Research Systems, 1996), 5, Logos Bible Software.

S: [8] Kempis, The Imitation of Christ, 42.

B: Kempis, Thomas á. The Imitation of Christ. Oak Harbor, WA: Logos Research Systems, 1996. Logos Bible Software.

– – – – –

N: [6] Kim Huat Tan, Mark: A New Covenant Commentary, ed. Michael F. Bird and Craig Keener, New Covenant Commentary Series (Eugene, OR: Cascade Books, 2015), 58, Logos Bible Software.

S: [11] Tan, Mark, 121.

B: Tan, Kim Huat. Mark: A New Covenant Commentary. Edited by Michael F. Bird and Craig Keener. New Covenant Commentary Series. Eugene, OR: Cascade Books, 2015. Logos Bible Software.

– – – – –

[26] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 186.

[27] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 186.

App-Based and Device-Based Electronic Resources

N: [6] Allen P. Ross, "Genesis," In The Bible Knowledge Commentary: An Exposition of the Scriptures. 2 vols, ed. John F. Walvoord and Roy B. Zuck (Wheaton, Ill.: Victor Books, 1983-1985). Accessed April 19, 2023. Logos Bible Software.

S: [11] Ross, "Genesis," in The Bible Knowledge Commentary, Logos Bible Software.

B: Ross, Allen P. "Genesis," In The Bible Knowledge Commentary: An Exposition of the Scriptures. 2 vols, edited by John F. Walvoord and Roy B. Zuck. Wheaton, Ill.: Victor Books, 1983-1985. Accessed April 19, 2023. Logos Bible Software.

– – – – – – – – – –

Logos Videos

- Logos videos are usually part of a Logos Mobile Course. These are usually purchased and not readily available in libraries. Instructors may not possess these content or able to access them easily. Students should be ready to show these videos upon instructors' requests.

N: [3] Craig A. Evans, "The Preservation of the New Testament Manuscripts," in NT308 Reliability of New Testament Manuscripts (Video), Logos Mobile Education (Bellingham, WA: Lexham Press, 2014), Logos Bible Software.

S: [6] Evans, "The Preservation of the New Testament Manuscripts."

B: Evans, Craig A. "The Preservation of the New Testament Manuscripts." In NT308 Reliability of New Testament Manuscripts (Video). Logos Mobile Education. Bellingham, WA: Lexham Press, 2014. Logos Bible Software.

Logos Guides and Workflows

- Students should go to more credible sources that provide more detailed in-depth content and discussion on theological topics and passages than the quick and simplified information from Logos guides and workflows.
- Nevertheless, if you use the content provided by a Logos guide or workflow, you should write and describe it clearly in your paper and you must give a citation for it. The citation can be found in the "Panel menu" option of that guide or workflow, under "Information." Below is an example.
- If this "Information" option is not available, please refrain from using that content.

N: [6] Faithlife, LLC, "Logos Bible Study Factbook," Logos Bible Study, Computer software (Bellingham, WA: Faithlife, LLC, 2024).

S: [18] Faithlife, "Logos Bible Study Factbook."

B: Faithlife, LLC. "Logos Bible Study Factbook." Logos Bible Study, Computer software. Bellingham, WA: Faithlife, LLC, 2024.

– – – – –

- Here is another example.

App-Based and Device-Based Electronic Resources

N: [5] Faithlife, LLC, "Crucifixion," Logos Bible Study, Computer software, Logos Bible Study Factbook (Bellingham, WA: Faithlife, LLC, 2024), https://ref.ly/logos4/Factbook?id=ref%3abk.%25crucifixion.

S: [8] Faithlife, "Crucifixion."

B: Faithlife, LLC. "Crucifixion." Logos Bible Study, Computer software. Logos Bible Study Factbook. Bellingham, WA: Faithlife, LLC, 2024. https://ref.ly/logos4/Factbook?id=ref%3abk.%25crucifixion.

– –

ADOBE DIGITAL EDITIONS (ADE)

- Adobe Digital Editions (ADE) is a computer application commonly used to read Ebooks that various publishers through DTL databases allow users to download and read. You will need to install it on your computer before you can read the books.
- As discussed in the earlier section, the page numbers of the Ebooks may not correspond with those of the print versions. As such, it is important to append the name of the app "Adobe Digital Editions" before the URL or DOI in the footnote citation and bibliography entry to show that you are not using the printed book.

N: [3] Henri J. Nouwen, The Inner Voice of Love: A Journey through Anguish to Freedom (New York: Image Books, 2013), 78, Adobe Digital Editions, http://search.ebscohost.com.dtl.idm.oclc.org/login.aspx?direct=true&db=nlebk&AN=722312&site=ehost-live&scope =site, EBSCOhost.

S: [15] Nouwen, The Inner Voice of Love, 34.

B: Nouwen, Henri J. The Inner Voice of Love: A Journey through Anguish to Freedom. New York: Image Books, 2013. Adobe Digital Editions. http://search.ebscohost.com.dtl.idm.oclc.org/login.aspx?direct=true&db=nlebk&AN=722312&site=ehostlive&scope=site. EBSCOhost.

– –

DEVICE-BASED E-BOOKS

- E-books that are based on reading apps (e.g., Book in MacOS) and devices (e.g., Kindle) often show different page numbers from the printed versions of the books. This is because the apps and devices allow users to adjust the screen settings and resolutions and font sizes. Therefore, page numbers shown in E-book reading apps and devices are not consistent or reliable to be used for citation purposes. As such, in the footnote citations, cite the number or name of the section or chapter that the material comes under and then in both the footnote citations and bibliography indicate the app or device name, e.g., "Book" or "Kindle."[28]

[28] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 186.

App-Based and Device-Based Electronic Resources

Kindle by Amazon

N: [14] Anthony Weston, A Rulebook for Arguments, 4th ed. (Indianapolis, IN: Hackett, 2009), chap. 2, Kindle.

S: [18] Weston, Rulebook for Arguments, chap. 4.

B: Weston, Anthony. A Rulebook for Arguments. 4th ed. Indianapolis, IN: Hackett, 2009. Kindle.

– – – – –

Books by Apple

N: [12] Timothy Keller, Prayer: Experiencing Awe and Intimacy with God (New York, NY: Penguin Books, 2016), chap. 2, section "The Supremacy of Prayer," Books.

S: [14] Keller, Prayer: Experiencing Awe and Intimacy with God, chap. 3, section "Types of Prayer."

B: Keller, Timothy. Prayer: Experiencing Awe and Intimacy with God. New York, NY: Penguin Books, 2016. Books.

– –

Other Digital Resources

A DVD resource

N: [5] William D. Mounce, Greek for the Rest of Us, DVD (Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2003), disc 2.

S: [7] Mounce, Greek for the Rest of Us, disc 3.

B: Mounce, William D. Greek for the Rest of Us. DVD. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2003.

– –

Journal Articles

1. Students should begin the habit of researching journals for the latest research in various fields and studies.
2. A journal consists of its title, volume number, issue number, and date of publication. The name of the publisher is usually not named. Each issue of a journal will comprise a number of long articles and short book reviews.
3. Footnote citation of a journal article therefore must reflect the article author, article title, journal title, volume, issue, date, and article page number. In the first citation, the complete page range of the article in the journal should be given.
4. The same should be shown in the bibliography entry except that the complete page range of the article in the journal must be given.

– –

PRINTED JOURNALS

- In this example below, J. Paul Tanner wrote the article "The Gideon Narrative as the Focal Point of Judges." It is published in the journal Bibliotheca Sacra, volume 149, issue 594 which is for the months April to June in 1992. The article is on pages 146–61 of that journal issue.
- The journal title may be abbreviated (e.g., BSac) in the footnotes but it must be written in full in the bibliography. Use only the accepted abbreviations listed in The SBL Handbook of Styles.[29] Some common ones are given at the end of this section.

N: [4] J. Paul Tanner, "The Gideon Narrative as the Focal Point of Judges," BSac 149, no. 594 (Apr–Jun 1992): 146–61.

S: [9] Tanner, "The Gideon Narrative as the Focal Point of Judges," 150.

B: Tanner, J. Paul. "The Gideon Narrative as the Focal Point of Judges." Bibliotheca Sacra 149, no. 594 (Apr–Jun 1992): 146–61.

– – – – –

- In this example below, Lawrence Freedman wrote the article "The Changing Roles of Military Conflict" published in the journal Survival, volume 40, issue 4 which is in 1998. The article is on pages 35–56 of that journal issue.

N: [5] Lawrence Freedman. "The Changing Roles of Military Conflict." Survival 40, no. 4 (1998): 39–56.

S: [8] Freedman, "The Changing Roles of Military Conflict," 42.

B: Freedman, Lawrence. "The Changing Roles of Military Conflict." Survival 40, no. 4 (1998): 39–56.

– – – – –

[29] Society of Biblical Literature, SBL Handbook, 117–260.

Journal Articles

- In this example below, John T. Kirby wrote the article "Aristotle on Metaphor" published in the journal American Journal of Philology, volume 118 in 1997. The article is on pages 517–554 of that journal issue.

N: [4] John T. Kirby, "Aristotle on Metaphor." American Journal of Philology 118 (1997): 517–554.

S: [9] Kirby, "Aristotle on Metaphor," 523.

B: Kirby, John T. "Aristotle on Metaphor." American Journal of Philology 118 (1997): 517–554.

– –

Printed Journals Made Available Online

- When an online journal article is quoted, you must cite the URL or DOI (digital object identifier) of the article.[30] Journal articles should contain "a date of publication or posting or the date the source was last modified or updated;" but in case this is missing in certain articles, an access date must be included.[31] Generally, it is best to consult with your course instructor or to just include it as an additional precaution.

N: [3] Kerry Mallan and Natasha Giardina, "Wikidentities: Young People Collaborating on Virtual Identities in Social Network Sites," First Monday 14, no. 6 (June 2009), accessed June 15, 2019, https://doi.org/10.5210/fm.v14i6.2445.

S: [8] Mallan and Giardina, "Wikidentities."

B: Mallan, Kerry, and Natasha Giardina. "Wikidentities: Young People Collaborating on Virtual Identities in Social Network Sites." First Monday 14, no. 6 (June 2009). Accessed June 15, 2019. https://doi.org/10.5210/fm.v14i6.2445.

– – – – –

N: [6] Ruben Zimmermann, "Memory and Jesus' Parables: J.P. Meier's explosion and the restoration of the 'Bedrock' of Jesus' Speech," Journal for the Study of the Historical Jesus 16, no. 2–3 (Dec 2018): 167, accessed June 15, 2019, https://doi .org/10.1163/17455197-01602006.

S: [9] Zimmermann, "Memory and Jesus' Parables," 164.

B: Zimmermann, Ruben. "Memory and Jesus' Parables: J.P. Meier's explosion and the restoration of the 'Bedrock' of Jesus' Speech." Journal for the Study of the [30] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 145, 187. Turabian recommends "[i]f a URL is listed along with the article, use that instead of the one in your browser's address bar. If a DOI is listed, append the DOI to https://doi.org/ to form the URL" (187).

---

[31] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 145–6. According to the Society of Biblical Literature, "SBL Press no longer recommends including access dates…as they are unreliable, unverifiable, and unnecessary" (Society of Biblical Literature, The SBL Handbook of Style: For Biblical Studies and Related Disciplines, 2nd ed. [Atlanta, GA: SBL Press, 2014], 84).

Journal Articles

Historical Jesus 16, no. 2–3 (Dec 2018): 156–72. Accessed June 15, 2019. https://doi.org/10.1163/17455197-01602006.

– – – – –

N: [3] Malcolm Gaskill, "The Pursuit of Reality: Recent Research into the History of Witchcraft," Historical Journal 51, no. 4 (2008): 1069–1088, accessed June 10, 2019, https://doi.org/10.1017/S0018246X0800719X.

S: [8] Gaskill. "The Pursuit of Reality," 1074.

B: Gaskill, Malcolm. "The Pursuit of Reality: Recent Research into the History of Witchcraft." Historical Journal 51, no. 4 (2008): 1069–1088. Accessed June 10, 2019. https://doi.org/10.1017/S0018246X0800719X.

– –

Here are the abbreviations of a few commonly used journals provided by The SBL Handbook of Styles. If you cannot find the journal you are using, please refer to that resource for the abbreviation. Do no create your own abbreviation for the journal.

Journal Title	Abbreviation
Bibliotheca Sacra	BSac
Catholic Biblical Quarterly	CBQ
Interpretation	Int
Journal of Biblical Literature	JBL
Journal of Religious Studies	JRelS
Journal for the Study of the New Testament	JSNT
Journal for the Study of the Old Testament	JSOT
Journal of Theological Studies	JTS
Trinity Journal	TJ
Tyndale Bulletin	TynBul

Newspaper and Magazine Articles

1. Newspapers and magazines are cited quite similarly to journals.
2. They have fewer elements such as volume or issue numbers to be shown in the citation.

Printed Newspaper

- Newspaper articles are cited in the body of the paper; but often not in the Bibliography.[32] Turabian recommends to "[i]nclude a specific article in your bibliography only if it is critical to your argument or frequently cited."[33]

N: [12] Melody Tan, "New Age Dawning in Singapore? It's in the (Tarot) Cards," Straits Times, May 21, 2005, S2.

S: [15] Tan, "New Age Dawning in Singapore?"

B: Tan, Melody. "New Age Dawning in Singapore? It's in the (Tarot) Cards," Straits Times, May 21, 2005, S2.

Digital or Electronic News

- News is also available in digital and electronic formats. When citing digital and electronic news, make sure the URL or DOI is given.

N: [3] Amelia Teng, "NUS and NTU tie as Asia's top university," Straits Times, June 19, 2019, https://www.straitstimes.com/singapore/education/nus-and-ntu-tie-as-asias-top-university.

S: [7] Teng, "NUS and NTU tie as Asia's top university."

B: Teng, Amelia. "NUS and NTU tie as Asia's top university," Straits Times, June 19, 2019. https://www.straitstimes.com/singapore/education/nus-and-ntu-tie-as-asias-top-university.

N: [7] Yan Han, Goh, "Parliament Repeals Section 377A, Endorses Amendments Protecting Definition of Marriage," Straits Times, November 30, 2022, https://www.straitstimes.com/singapore/politics/parliament-repeals-section-377a-endorses-amendments-protecting-marriage-definition.

S: [9] Goh, "Parliament Repeals Section 377A, Endorses Amendments Protecting Definition of Marriage."

B: Goh, Yan Han. "Parliament Repeals Section 377A, Endorses Amendments Protecting Definition of Marriage." Straits Times, November 30, 2022. https://www.straitstimes.com/singapore/politics/parliament-repeals-section-

[32] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 192–93.

[33] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 192.

Newspaper and Magazine Articles

377a-endorses-amendments-protecting-marriage-definition.

– – – – –

- This is from CNN.

N: [12] Christina, Zdanowicz, "Women Have Abortions for Many Reasons Aside from Rape and Incest. Here Are Some of Them," CNN, May 22, 2019, https://edition.cnn.com/2019/05/21/health/women-reasons-abortion-trnd/index.html.

S: [17] Zdanowicz, "Women Have Abortions for Many Reasons Aside from Rape and Incest. Here Are Some of Them."

B: Zdanowicz, Christina. "Women Have Abortions for Many Reasons Aside from Rape and Incest. Here Are Some of Them." CNN, May 22, 2019. https://edition.cnn.com/2019/05/21/health/ women-reasons-abortion-trnd/index.html.

– – – – –

- This is from Reuters.

N: [2] Reuters Fact Check, "Termination of Pregnancy Can Be Necessary to Save a Woman's Life, Experts Say," Reuters, December 28, 2021, accessed March 27, 2023, https://www.reuters.com/article/factcheck-abortion-false-idUSL1N2TC0VD.

S: [6] Reuters Fact Check, "Termination of Pregnancy Can Be Necessary to Save a Woman's Life, Experts Say."

B: Reuters Fact Check. "Termination of Pregnancy Can Be Necessary to Save a Woman's Life, Experts Say." Reuters, December 28, 2021. Accessed March 27, 2023. https://www.reuters.com/article/factcheck-abortion-false-idUSL1N2TC0VD.

– –

Printed Magazine

- Magazine articles are cited very similarly to newspaper articles.

N: [6] John W. Kennedy, "The 4–14 Window," Christianity Today, July 1, 2004, 53.

S: [8] Kennedy, "The 4–14 Window," 55.

B: Kennedy, John W. "The 4–14 Window." Christianity Today, July 1, 2004.

– – – – –

N: [9] Paul Goldberger, "Machines for Living: The Architectonic Allure of the Automobile," Architectural Digest (October 1996): 81.

S: [10] Goldberger, "Machines for Living," 82.

B: Goldberger, Paul. "Machines for Living: The Architectonic Allure of the Automobile." Architectural Digest. October 1996.

– –

Newspaper and Magazine Articles

DIGITAL OR ELECTRONIC MAGAZINES

- Whenever a digital or electronic resource is cited, its URL or DOI must be provided.

N: [3] Dickey, Christopher, "Reflecting on race barriers," Newsweek, November 15, 2008, accessed June 22, 2009, http://www.newsweek.com/id/169302.

S: [6] Christopher, "Reflecting on race barriers."

B: Dickey, Christopher. "Reflecting on race barriers." Newsweek, November 15, 2008. Accessed June 22, 2009. http://www.newsweek.com/id/169302.

Websites and Social-Media[34]

1. Many resources and contents are available on websites nowadays. This section and its examples refer specifically to content published on a website that is not part of a bible reference website, study bible website, journal, newspaper, or magazine.
2. They may be an author's ministry website, an individual's blog, or a church website.

– –

Websites and Blogs

- In the five examples below, Desiring God is the title of the website. This website contains articles, messages, and books. As such, the citations for all the resources in this website are very similar.

N: [4] Rosaria Butterfield, "Can the Pandemic Be an Answered Prayer?" Desiring God, May 23, 2020, accessed June 7, 2020, https://www.desiringgod.org /articles/can-the-pandemic-be-an-answered-prayer.

S: [10] Butterfield, "Can the Pandemic Be an Answered Prayer?"

B: Butterfield, Rosaria. "Can the Pandemic Be an Answered Prayer?" Desiring God. May 23, 2020. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/can-the-pandemic-be-an-answered-prayer.

– – – – –

N: [7] Jon Bloom, "Relentlessly Call Abortion What It Really Is," Desiring God, January 22, 2014, accessed Mar 23, 2023, https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/relentlessly-call-abortion-what-it-really-is.

S: [11] Bloom, "Relentlessly Call Abortion What It Really Is."

B: Bloom, Jon. "Relentlessly Call Abortion What It Really Is." Desiring God, January 22, 2014. Accessed Mar 23, 2023. https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/relentlessly-call-abortion-what-it-really-is.

– – – – –

N: [4] John Piper, "Ten Reasons Why It Is Wrong to Take the Life of Unborn Children," Desiring God, April 7, 1989, accessed Mar 23, 2023, https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/ten-reasons-why-it-is-wrong-to-take-the-life-of-unborn-children.

S: [12] Piper, "Ten Reasons Why It Is Wrong to Take the Life of Unborn Children."

B: Piper, John. "Ten Reasons Why It Is Wrong to Take the Life of Unborn Children." Desiring God, April 7, 1989. Accessed Mar 23, 2023, https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/ten-reasons-why-it-is-wrong-to-take-the-life-of-unborn-children.

– – – – –

[34] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 194–97.

Websites and Social-Media[34]

N: [2] David Mathis, "Lord of All the Law: How Jesus Handled the Ten Commandments," Desiring God, June 7, 2024, accessed June 14, 2024, https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/lord-of-all-the-law.

S: [9] Mathis, "Lord of All the Law: How Jesus Handled the Ten Commandments."

B: Mathis, David. "Lord of All the Law: How Jesus Handled the Ten Commandments." Desiring God, June 7, 2024. Accessed June 14, 2024, https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/lord-of-all-the-law.

– – – – –

N: [34] David Mathis, "What Is It Like to 'Know Christ'?" (message, Cities Church, St. Paul, June 12, 2024), accessed June 14, 2024, https://www.desiringgod.org/messages/what-is-it-like-to-know-christ.

S: [48] Mathis, "What Is It Like to 'Know Christ'?"

B: Mathis, David. "What Is It Like to 'Know Christ'?" Message, Cities Church, St. Paul, June 12, 2024. Accessed June 14, 2024. https://www.desiringgod.org/messages/what-is-it-like-to-know-christ.

– – – – –

- This is from The Gospel Coalition website.

N: [4] Trevin Wax, "10 Questions a Pro-Choice Candidate is Never Asked by the Media," The Gospel Coalition, October 24, 2012, accessed April 20, 2023, https://www.thegospelcoalition.org/blogs/trevin-wax/10-questions-a-pro-choice-candidate-is-never-asked-by-the-media/.

S: [8] Wax, "10 Questions a Pro-Choice Candidate is Never Asked by the Media."

B: Wax, Trevin. "10 Questions a Pro-Choice Candidate is Never Asked by the Media." The Gospel Coalition, October 24, 2012. Accessed April 20, 2023, https://www.thegospelcoalition.org/blogs/trevin-wax/10-questions-a-pro-choice-candidate-is-never-asked-by-the-media/.

– – – – –

- This is from Crossway website.

N: [3] Scott R. Swain, "10 Things You Should Know about Systematic Theology," Crossway, October 8, 2017, accessed June 7, 2020, https://www.crossway.org/articles/10-things-you-should-know-about-systematic-theology/.

S: [6] Swain, "10 Things You Should Know about Systematic Theology."

B: Swain, Scott R. "10 Things You Should Know about Systematic Theology." Crossway. October 8, 2017. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.crossway.org/articles/10-things-you-should-know-about-systematic-theology/.

– – – – –

Websites and Social-Media[34]

- This is from Got Question.Org website.

N: [4] Got Questions.Org, "Does the Greek word arsenokoitai in 1 Corinthians 6:9 really mean 'homosexuals' or something else?", accessed March 21, 2024, https://www.gotquestions.org/arsenokoitai.html.

S: [11] Got Questions.org, "Does the Greek word arsenokoitai in 1 Corinthians 6:9 really mean 'homosexuals' or something else?"

B: Got Questions.Org. "Does the Greek word arsenokoitai in 1 Corinthians 6:9 really mean 'homosexuals' or something else?" Accessed March 21, 2024. https://www.gotquestions.org/arsenokoitai.html.

– – – – –

- Lewis Winkler is a resident faculty of EAST. This is his blog post about abortion.

N: [7] Lewis Winkler, "Abortion: From a Necessary Evil to an Essential Service and a Blessing," lewinkler (blog), April 14, 2020, accessed June 8, 2020, https://lewinkler.com/2020/04/14/abortion-from-a-necessary-evil-to-an-essential-service-and-a-blessing/.

S: [13] Winkler, "Abortion."

B: Winkler, Lewis. "Abortion: From a Necessary Evil to an Essential Service and a Blessing." Lewinkler (blog). April 14, 2020. Accessed June 8, 2020. https://lewinkler.com/2020/04/14/abortion-from-a-necessary-evil-to-an-essential-service-and-a-blessing/.

– – – – –

- This is from Saddleback Church website.

N: [10] Andy Wood, "A Better Way to Live," Resource Details, Saddleback Church, May 19, 2024, https://saddleback.com/connect/Articles/MAP/2024/5/20/map.

S: [15] Wood, "A Better Way to Live."

B: Wood, Andy. "A Better Way to Live." Resource Details, Saddleback Church. May 19, 2024. https://saddleback.com/connect/Articles/MAP/2024/5/20/map.

– –

SOCIAL-MEDIA

- Social-media posts are short and brief in the content they provide. At best they function as triggers to introduce a certain topic or discussion. Due to their brevity and subjectivity, they would not do much to substantiate academic research at the post-graduate level.
- This example is given in Turabian but is no longer available.[35] However, it demonstrates very clearly how a social-media post such as on Facebook should be

[35] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 196.

Websites and Social-Media[34]

cited.

N: [5] Chicago Manual of Style, "Is the world ready for singular they? We thought so back in 1993," Facebook, April 17, 2015, https://www.facebook.com/ChicagoManual/posts/10152906199367915 1.

S: [10] Chicago Manual of Style, "Is the world ready for singular they?"

B: Chicago Manual of Style. "Is the world ready for singular they? We thought so back in 1993." Facebook. April 17, 2015. https://www.facebook.com/ChicagoManual/posts/10152906199367915 1.

Papers, Sermons, Lectures, and Others

1. This is the last set of resource students might consider using in their academic papers. These are either unpublished content such as sermons and presentations or those already written by others or taught in class by teachers which do not amount to much original thinking by students.
2. Nevertheless, if there is a reason to refer to them in academic writings, here are some examples how to cite them.

_ _

Papers, Lectures, and Others

- Unpublished dissertations, theses, research papers, or course handouts may be cited in as shown below.

N: [2] John Lee, "The Art of Evangelism" (lecture, East Asia School of Theology, Singapore, May 26, 2004), 2.

S: [5] Lee, "The Art of Evangelism," 3.

B: Lee, John. "The Art of Evangelism." Lecture, East Asia School of Theology, Singapore. May 26, 2004.

_ _

Sermons Transcripts

- Sermon transcripts should be accessible to the academic community.

N: [12] Tony Reinke, "Glory-Finding in the Gospel of John: The War in Our Social Media Feeds (Part II)" (sermon, High Pointe Theology Conference, Austin, TX, May 7, 2020), accessed June 7, 2020, https://www.desiringgod.org/messages/glory-finding-in-the-gospel-of-john.

S: [13] Reinke, "Glory-Finding in the Gospel of John."

B: Reinke, Tony. "Glory-Finding in the Gospel of John: The War in Our Social Media Feeds (Part II)." Sermon, High Pointe Theology Conference, Austin, TX, May 7, 2020. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.desiringgod.org/messages/glory-finding-in-the-gospel-of-john.

_ _

Video or Sound Recording (YouTube)

- In citing a video or sound recording, students should indicate in the footnote citation the time from which the extracted content begins. This is a necessary locator equivalent to the page number for a book.

N: [18] Kay Kiong Tan, "You Will Get Through This!" Covenant Evangelical Free Church, Singapore, April 26, 2020, video of sermon, 40:00, accessed June 7, 2020, https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uNcsmeDpXqA.

S: [20] Tan, "You Will Get Through This!," 51:35.

Papers, Sermons, Lectures, and Others

B: Tan, Kay Kiong. "You Will Get Through This!" Covenant Evangelical Free Church, Singapore, April 26, 2020. Video of sermon. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uNcsmeDpXqA.

– – – – –

N: [2] Ben Shapiro, "Ben Shapiro Shreds Pro-Choice Argument," UBCFSC Talk on YouTube, November 16, 2018, 2:24, accessed March 29, 2023, https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZF3cUjl2WG0&t=6s.

S: [6] Shapiro, "Ben Shapiro Shreds Pro-Choice Argument," 1:05.

B: Shapiro, Ben. "Ben Shapiro Shreds Pro-Choice Argument." UBCFSC Talk on YouTube. November 16, 2018. Accessed March 29, 2023. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZF3cUjl2WG0&t=6s.

– – – – –

N: [5] Voddie Baucham, "Is Gay the New Black: Unlocking the Mysteries in Genesis" (Video of Sermon, Institute of Creation Research Conference, October 10-12th 2014), 11:35, accessed 28 March, 2024, https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZkL3lT95vOU&t=231s.

S: [9] Baucham, "Is Gay the New Black: Unlocking the Mysteries in Genesis," 27:56.

B: Baucham, Voddie. "Is Gay the New Black: Unlocking the Mysteries in Genesis." Video of Sermon, Institute of Creation Research Conference, October 10-12th 2014. Accessed 28 March, 2024, https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZkL3lT95vOU&t=231s.

– –

Podcasts

- Just as the earlier examples, indicate in the footnote citations the time during the podcast when the content can be located.

N: [12] Mark Harwood, "Creation in 6 Days? Part 1 – Young Earth View," East Asia School of Theology, February 28, 2024, EAST Express podcast, 14:45, accessed June 7, 2024, https://youtu.be/DXKX5xIaNm8?si=Qs2iXVpuwpYDjCaE.

S: [17] Harwood, "Creation in 6 Days? Part 1 – Young Earth View," 15:57.

B: Harwood, Mark. "Creation in 6 Days? Part 1 – Young Earth View." East Asia School of Theology. February 28, 2024. EAST Express Podcast. Accessed June 7, 2024. https://youtu.be/DXKX5xIaNm8?si=Qs2iXVpuwpYDjCaE.

– – – – –

N: [6] Abdu Murray, "Evangelism in an Honor and Shame Culture, Part 1," Ravi Zacharias International Ministries, May 23, 2020, Let My People Think podcast, 26:26, accessed June 7, 2020, https://www.rzim.org/listen/let-my-people-think/evangelism-in-an-honor-and-shame-culture-part-1.

S: [9] Murray, "Evangelism in an Honor and Shame Culture," 30:00.

B: Murray, Abdu. "Evangelism in an Honor and Shame Culture, Part 1." Ravi Zacharias

Papers, Sermons, Lectures, and Others

International Ministries. May 23, 2020. Let My People Think Podcast. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.rzim.org/listen/let-my-people-think/evangelism-in-an-honor-and-shame-culture-part-1.

– –

Interviews and Personal Communications

- For interviews and personal communications where no published transcripts or recordings are available, this is the only way to cite them.

N: [14] David Shields, Interview by author, Seattle, July 22, 2016.

S: [26] Shields, Interview.

B: Shields, David. Interview by author. Seattle. July 22, 2016.

– –

[1 inch from the top]

Bibliography

[leave 2 blank lines]
[between the title and the first entry]

Mayor, Joseph B. The Epistle of St James. London: Macmillan & Company, 1913. Reprint, Minneapolis, MN: Klock & Klock Christian Publishers, 1977.

Singleton, Robert C. "Mentoring and Professional Socialization in a Theological Seminary Setting." PhD diss., University of Texas, 1992.

Westermann, Claus. Praise and Lament in the Psalms. Translated by Keith R. Crim and Richard N. Soulen. Atlanta, GA: John Knox Press, 1981.

NB:
• In notes-bibliography style, the year of publication is placed at the end of each bibliography entry.
• A complete bibliography of all the examples quoted in this section on notes-bibliography citation style is shown in the next few pages.

Bibliography

Adams, Sean A., and Zanne Domoney-Lyttle, eds. Abraham in Jewish and Early Christian Literature. London: T&T Clark, 2019. http://dx.doi.org/10.5040/9780567675545.

Bal, Mieke. Narratology. Translated by Christine van Boheemen. Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 1985.

Bonfiglio, Ryan P. Reading Images, Seeing Texts: Towards a Visual Hermeneutics for Biblical Studies. Orbis Biblicus Et Orientalis 280. Fribourg: Academic Press Fribourg, 2016. http://www.zora.uzh.ch/id/eprint/133250.

Bruce, F. F. 1 and 2 Thessalonians. Word Biblical Commentary 45. Waco, TX: Word, 1982.

Buntain, Ian. "While We Wait." Church Blog (blog), Grace Baptist Church. May 28, 2020. https://english.gracebaptistchurch.sg/blog/post/while-we-wait.

Butterfield, Rosaria. "Can the Pandemic Be an Answered Prayer?" Desiring God. May 23, 2020. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/can-the-pandemic-be-an-answered-prayer.

Chicago Manual of Style. "Is the world ready for singular they? We thought so back in 1993." Facebook. April 17, 2015. https://www.facebook.com/ChicagoManual/posts/10152906199367915l.

Danker, Frederick W., Walter Bauer, William F. Arndt, and F. Wilbur Gingrich. Greek-English Lexicon of the New Testament and Other Early Christian Literature. 3rd ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2000.

Dickey, Christopher. "Reflecting on race barriers." Newsweek, November 15, 2008. Accessed June 22, 2009. http://www.newsweek.com/id/169302.

Dieter, Melvin E., Anthony A. Hoekema, Stanley M. Horton, J. Robertson McQuilkin, and John F. Walvoord. Five Views on Sanctification. Counterpoints Series. Edited by Stanley N. Gundry. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1996.

Fee, Gordon D., and Douglas Stuart. How to Read the Bible for All Its Worth: A Guide to Understanding the Bible. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1982.

Feinberg, Paul D. "Meaning of Inerrancy." In Inerrancy, edited by Norman L. Geisler, 265–304. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1979.

Freedman, Lawrence. "The Changing Roles of Military Conflict." Survival 40, no. 4 (1998): 39–56.

Gaskill, Malcolm. "The Pursuit of Reality: Recent Research into the History of Witchcraft." Historical Journal 51, no. 4: 1069–1088. Accessed June 10, 2019. https://doi.org/10.1017/S0018246X0800719X.

Geisler, Norman. God, Creation. Vol. 2 of Systematic Theology. Minneapolis, MN: Bethany House, 2004.

Goldberger, Paul. "Machines for Living: The Architectonic Allure of the Automobile." Architectural Digest. October 1996.

Goldingay, John and David Payne. Isaiah 40–55. 2 vols. The International Critical Commentary. New York: T&T Clark, 2006.

Grudem, Wayne A. Systematic Theology: An Introduction to Bible Doctrine. Grand Rapids: Zondervan. 2009. https://archive.org/details/WayneGrudemSystematicTheology.

Hagner, Donald A. The New Testament: A Historical and Theological Introduction. Grand Rapids: Baker Academic. 2012. ProQuest Ebook Central.

Josephus, Flavius. The Wars of the Jews. Translated by William Whiston. Accessed June 14, 2017. http://www.sacred-texts.com/jud/josephus/war-1.htm.

Kaiser, Walter C., Jr. Toward an Exegetical Theology. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker, 1981.

Kempis, Thomas á. The Imitation of Christ. Oak Harbor, WA: Logos Research Systems, 1996. Logos Bible Software.

Kennedy, John W. "The 4–14 Window." Christianity Today, July 1, 2004.

Kirby, John T. "Aristotle on Metaphor." American Journal of Philology 118 (1997): 517–554.

Kittel, Gerhard, and Gerhard Friedrich, eds. Theological Dictionary of the New Testament. Translated by Geoffrey W. Bromiley. 10 vols. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans, 1964.

Koehler, Ludwig, Walter Baumgartner, and Johann J. Stamm. The Hebrew and Aramaic Lexicon of the Old Testament. Translated and edited under the supervision of Mervyn E. J. Richardson. 2 vols. Leiden: Brill, 2001.

Lee, John. "The Art of Evangelism." Lecture, East Asia School of Theology, Singapore. May 26, 2004.

Long, Fredrick J. Ancient Rhetoric and Paul's Apology: The Compositional Unity of 2 Corinthians. Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 131. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2004. https://doi-org.dtl.idm.oclc.org/10.1017/CBO9780511488054.

Mallan, Kerry, and Natasha Giardina. "Wikidentities: Young People Collaborating on Virtual Identities in Social Network Sites." First Monday 14, no. 6 (June 2009). https://doi.org/10.5210/fm.v14i6.2445.

McKnight, Scot, ed. Introducing New Testament Interpretation. Guides to New Testament Exegesis 1. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Book House, 1989.

Mounce, William D. Greek for the Rest of Us. DVD. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2003.

Murray, Abdu. "Evangelism in an Honor and Shame Culture, Part 1." Ravi Zacharias International Ministries. May 23, 2020. Let My People Think Podcast, 26:26. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.rzim.org/listen/let-my-people-think/evangelism-in-an-honor-and-shame-culture-part-1.

Nouwen, Henri J. The Inner Voice of Love: A Journey through Anguish to Freedom. New York: Image Books, 2013. http://search.ebscohost.com.dtl.idm.oclc.org/login.aspx?direct=true&db=nlebk&AN=722312&site=ehost-live&scope=site. EBSCOhost.

Piper, John. Don't Waste Your Life. Wheaton, IL: Crossway, 2007. Accessed June 14, 2017. https://www.desiringgod.org/books/dont-waste-your-life.

Reinke, Tony. "Glory-Finding in the Gospel of John: The War in Our Social Media Feeds (Part II)." Sermon, High Pointe Theology Conference, Austin, TX, May 7, 2020. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.desiringgod.org/messages/glory-finding-in-the-gospel-of-john.

Shields, David. Interview by author. Seattle. July 22, 2016.

Sloyan, Gerard Stephen. John. Interpretation. Edited by James L. Mays. Atlanta, GA: John Knox Press, 1988.

Stambaugh, John E., and David L. Balch. The New Testament in Its Social Environment. Library of Early Christianity 2. Edited by Wayne A. Meeks. Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press, 1986.

Stuart, Douglas. Old Testament Exegesis: A Primer for Students and Pastors. 2nd ed. Philadelphia, PA: Westminster, 1984.

Swain, Scott R. "10 Things You Should Know about Systematic Theology." Crossway. October 8, 2017. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.crossway.org/articles/10-things-you-should-know-about-systematic-theology/.

Tan, Kay Kiong. "You Will Get Through This!" Covenant Evangelical Free Church, Singapore, April 26, 2020. Video of sermon. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uNcsmeDpXqA.

Tan, Kim Huat. Mark: A New Covenant Commentary. Edited by Michael F. Bird and Craig Keener. New Covenant Commentary Series. Eugene, OR: Cascade Books, 2015. Logos Bible Software.

Tan, Melody. "New Age Dawning in Singapore? It's in the (Tarot) Cards," Straits Times, May 21, 2005, S2.

Tanner, J. Paul. "The Gideon Narrative as the Focal Point of Judges." Bibliotheca Sacra 149, no. 594 (Apr–Jun 1992): 146–61.

Teng, Amelia. “NUS and NTU tie as Asia’s top university,” Straits Times, June 19, 2019. https://www.straitstimes.com/singapore/education/nus-and-ntu-tie-as-asias-top-university.

Thomas, Robert L. “1 Thessalonians.” In Expositor’s Bible Commentary, edited by Frank E. Gaebelein, 11:227–98. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 1978.

UNICEF. Generation in Jeopardy: Children in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union. Edited by Alexander Zouev. Armonk, NY: M. E. Sharpe, 1999.

Westermann, Claus, ed. Essays on Old Testament Hermeneutics. Atlanta, GA: John Knox, 1963.

Weston, Anthony. A Rulebook for Arguments. 4th ed. Indianapolis, IN: Hackett, 2009. Kindle.

Winkler, Lewis. “Abortion: From a Necessary Evil to an Essential Service and a Blessing.” Lewinkler (blog). April 14, 2020. Accessed June 8, 2020. https://lewinkler.com/2020/04/14/abortion-from-a-necessary-evil-to-an-essential-service-and-a-blessing/.

Zimmermann, Ruben. “Memory and Jesus’ Parables: J.P. Meier’s explosion and the restoration of the ‘Bedrock’ of Jesus’ Speech.” Journal for the Study of the Historical Jesus 16, no. 2–3 (Dec 2018): 156–72. Accessed June 15, 2019. https://doi.org/10.1163/17455197-01602006.

Zukofsky, Louis. “Sincerity and Objectification,” Poetry 37 (February 1931): 269. Quoted in Bonnie Costello, Marianne Moore: Imaginary Possessions (Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 1981).

Citation Management Tools[36]

1. Citation Management Tools (CMTs) produce citations according to the citation styles chosen. These tools could be in the form of apps/software, websites, or citation links.

2. Citation apps can be integrated with the computer word-processor such that the needed citations could be produced as the user writes the paper. One such citation app is Zotero. It is a free app and can be installed as an "add-in" into Microsoft Word. It is available at https://www.zotero.org/.

   Citation apps first need all the bibliographic data of the resources in users' personal library folders. Users need to manually enter the data into the designated fields for each resource item, or download the data from the internet into the citation apps when browsing the resource. The apps can only create citations of resources when there are resource items in users' personal library folders and these items contain all the necessary and correct bibliographic data.

   Students must ensure the bibliographic data in their citation apps/software libraries are entered in the correct fields and conform to the standards of abbreviation in Turabian and/or SBL Handbook. They should correct or update the data as needed in order that the citations produced by the apps conform to the citation patterns and formats required.

3. Citation websites perform a similar function as citation apps. One such citation website is eTurabian at https://www.eksendia.com/tm/index.aspx. However, users may not have a personal library folder to store the biographical data of their resources. Usually, only references or bibliography citations will be produced. Thus, users would have to use them to produce the in-text or footnote citations on their own. To create a citation, a user will need to manually enter the bibliographic data into the designated fields for each resource item. According to the chosen style, a citation would be shown. It is as accurate as the data entered by the user. The user then copies and paste the citation onto the term paper. This will have to be repeated for every new resource item the user needs.

4. Citation links can be found in most online and digital libraries. They produce the references or bibliography citations of the resources the user is viewing according to the citation style the user chooses. The user then copies and paste the citations onto the term paper.

5. Students who choose to use CMTs to help them produce citations are still ultimately responsible for the accuracy of the citations in their papers. Blaming a CMT for a citation done poorly or wrongly is not acceptable. Therefore, they must check and ensure that the citations on their term papers finally adhere to the patterns and standards of the citation styles required.

---

[36] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 147–48.

PART III AUTHOR-DATE (PARENTHETICAL) CITATION STYLE

General Instructions

1. The author-date (parenthetical) citation style is used often in Leadership and Formation (LF) courses but there are also LF courses that require the notes-bibliography (footnoting) citation style.

2. New students are allowed to use the parenthetical (author-date) style for their assignments in their first semester and when they are attending the core course on research and writing. However, by the time they complete the core course on research and writing, they are expected to know and be able to use the notes-bibliography (footnoting) style which more EAST instructors prefer and more EAST courses require. As such, it is more beneficial for students to master the notes-bibliography style early in their program studies.

3. Please clarify with your instructor/s what style is required if you are in doubt.

4. As a general rule, author-date (parenthetical) citations should include the author's last name (surname), year of publication, and the page number(s) to which you refer (do not use a punctuation mark between the author and the date).

5. If there is no page number, write "n.d." in place of the date. If there is no author, use the title of the organization.

6. A "References" list should be used for author-date style. An example is shown at the end of this chapter on pages 102–106.

7. Run over lines (i.e., the second and subsequent lines) of reference list entries should have a hanging indent of 0.5 inch or about 1.5 cm.

8. When two or more books by the same person/s are listed in the reference list, the name/s of the person/s in second and later entries are replaced with a long dash, created using six hyphens that look like this: "———."

9. See more examples of parenthetical citations and references in chapters 18 and 19 of Turabian, and chapter 6 of SBL Handbook.

10. In the following categories of resources,
    - "P" denotes the parenthetical citations in author-date style and is placed at the end of the sentence.
    - "R" denotes the reference list citations of the sources.
    - The blue colour font is used for emphasis to highlight the parts of the citations and bibliography entries that students must ensure to include or write for that type of books or resources.

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume)

1. Standalone books have these basic book data on the book covers and title pages: the name/s of the author/s, the book title and subtitle, and the publishing information.
2. They are not part of any multivolume or commentary sets or series of books. As such, one will not find the name of a multivolume or commentary set or series on their book cover or title pages.
3. They can be authored, edited, and/or translated by one or more author/s, editor/s, and/or translator/s, and be revised to a newer later edition.
4. The designs on their book covers will usually be different from other books. This is unlike books in multivolume or commentary sets or series that usually have similar looking book cover designs although they may have different authors and/or titles.

– –

One Author

- As a general rule, author-date (parenthetical) citations should include the author's last name (surname), year of publication, and the page number(s) to which you refer (do not use a punctuation mark between the author and the date).
- As such, author-date (parenthetical) citations look very similar to one another whether they are the first or last citations of the same author or they are of different authors.
- If there is no page number, write "n.d." in place of the date. If there is no author, use the title of the organization.
- "P" denotes the parenthetical citations in author-date style and is placed at the end of the sentence.
- "R" denotes the reference list citations of the sources.
- The examples are in blue colour for illustration and emphasis purposes only.
- In the follow examples of two books by Walter C. Kaiser, Jr., P[1] refers to Kaiser's Toward an Exegetical Theology because it has the date 1981. P[2] refers to his book Preaching and Teaching the Last Things because it is dated 2011.
- In the reference list, Kaiser's 1981 book is placed ahead of his 2011 book according to chronological order of the year of publishing. This is different from a bibliography under the notes-bibliography style which arranges the entries by author name then the alphabetical order of the books.

P[1]: (Kaiser 1981, 63).

P[2]: (Kaiser 2011, 49).

R: Kaiser, Walter C., Jr. 1981. Toward an Exegetical Theology. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker.

———. 2011. Preaching and Teaching the Last Things: Old Testament Eschatology for the Life of the Church. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Academic.

– –

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume)

Two Authors

- In the author-date citation, give the last names of the two authors.
- Connect them using "and."

P: (Fee and Stuart 1982, 80).

R: Fee, Gordon D., and Douglas Stuart. 1982. How to Read the Bible for All Its Worth: A Guide to Understanding the Bible. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

– –

Three Authors

- In the author-date citation, give the last names of all three authors.
- Separate the authors' names using a comma. Write "and" before the name of the third author.

P: (Köstenberger, Merkle, and Stuart 1982, 45).

R: Köstenberger, Andreas J., Benjamin L. Merkle, and Robert L. Plummer. 2016. Going Deeper with New Testament Greek: An Intermediate Study of the Grammar and Syntax of the New Testament. Nashville, TN: B&H Academic.

– –

Four or More Authors

- In the author-date citation, give only the last name of the first author. Then use "et al." to replace the names of the other authors.
- In the reference list, give the full names of all the authors.

P: (Dieter et al. 1996, 38).

R: Dieter, Melvin E., Anthony A. Hoekema, Stanley M. Horton, J. Robertson McQuilkin, and John F. Walvoord. 1996. Five Views on Sanctification. Counterpoints Series. Edited by Stanley N. Gundry. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

– –

Organization or Corporate Author/s

- Use the name of the organization or corporation in place of a human author.

P: (UNICEF 1999, 11).

R: UNICEF. 1999. Generation in Jeopardy: Children in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union. Edited by Alexander Zouev. Armonk, NY: M. E. Sharpe.

– –

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume)

A Later or Revised Edition

- Do the author-date citation as usual.
- In the reference list, insert the edition identifier or number between the book title and publishing information.
- Second edition is written as "2nd ed." Third edition is written as "3rd ed." Fourth edition is written as "4th ed." Revised edition is written as "rev."
- Word processors tend to automatically superscript the ordinal abbreviations into "2nd," "3rd," and "4th." Use the "Undo Typing" command to change these superscripts back to "2nd," "3rd," and "4th."

P: (Stuart 1984, 80).

R: Stuart, Douglas. 1984. Old Testament Exegesis: A Primer for Students and Pastors. 2nd ed. Philadelphia, PA: Westminster.

– – – – – – – – – –

P: (Thomas 2010, 24).

R: Thomas, Gary. 2010. Sacred Pathways: Discover Your Soul's Path to God. Rev. ed. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

– –

Editor/s or Translator/s without Author/s

- Some books are edited or translated. This will be written on the book covers and title pages. E.g., "Edited by," "Translated by," "ed.", and "trans.".
- In the author-date citations of an edited or translated work, use the last names of the editors or translators.
- For an edited work in the reference list, give the name/s of the editor and add "ed." behind the name to show that the person is the editor.
- For n translated work in the reference list, give the name of the translator and add "trans." behind the name to show that the person is the translator.
- If there are two to three editors or translators, give the names of all the editors and translators before adding "ed." or "trans."
- If there are four or more editors or translators, give only the name of the first editor or translator. Then use "et al." to replace the names of the other editors or translators and then add "ed." or "trans."

P: (Westermann 1963, 80).

R: Westermann, Claus, ed. 1963. Essays on Old Testament Hermeneutics. Atlanta, GA: John Knox.

– –

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume)

Author/s with Editor/s and/or Translator/s

- Some books have author/s and also editor/s and/or translators/s.
- In the author-date citation, give the name/s of the author/s.
- For editor/s in the reference list, use the abbreviation "ed." in the footnote but write "Edited by" in the bibliography.
- For translator/s in the reference list, use the abbreviation "trans." in the footnote but write "Translated by" in the bibliography.

P: (UNICEF 1999, 80).

R: UNICEF. 1999. Generation in Jeopardy: Children in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union. Edited by Alexander Zouev. Armonk, NY: M. E. Sharpe.

– – – – – – – – – –

P: (Bal 1985, 80).

R: Bal, Mieke. 1985. Narratology. Translated by Christine van Boheemen. Toronto: University of Toronto Press.

– –

One Source Quoted in Another

- Authors will often quote directly and cite other authors too. You will do well to find those other books to read in context what was quoted and their meaning. Then, if it is useful in your paper, cite those other books directly in your footnotes.
- Some of those other books may be much older or out of print and you may not be able to find and read their contexts despite your best efforts. In such cases and only in such cases, if you really have to reference or quote that older source according to what was quoted in the current book you are reading, this is how you cite it.
- In the author-date citation, give the last name of the older earlier source first. Then write "qtd. in" before the last name of the current author.
- In the reference list, write "Quoted in" between the two sources.

P: (Zukofsky 1931, 269 qtd. in Costello 1981, 57).

R: Zukofsky, Louis. 1931. "Sincerity and Objectification," Poetry 37 (February): 269. Quoted in Bonnie Costello. 1981. Marianne Moore: Imaginary Possessions. Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press.

– –

An Article or Chapter Written by an Author Found in a Book Authored or Edited by Another Author

- In the footnote citations and bibliography, the name of the person who wrote the article or chapter is entered first.

Books in General (Standalone Non-Multivolume)

- Write the title of the article or chapter in quotation marks “”.
- Then write “in” before the book title, followed by the book title and name/s of the author/s and/or editor/s of the book.
- In the bibliography, provide the range of pages of the article or chapter in the book.

P: (Feinberg 1979, 68).

R: Feinberg, Paul D. 1979. “Meaning of Inerrancy.” In Inerrancy, edited by Norman L. Geisler, 265–304. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

– –

Books in Multivolume or Commentary Sets or Series

1. Books in multivolume or commentary sets or series have more bibliographic data than the basic ones for standalone books.
2. Firstly, the multivolume or commentary set or series must be identified and properly entered. This includes the volume, set, or series number that is attributed to the book. This information can be readily found on the book cover or title page.
3. The designs on their book covers will usually be the same or similar to others that are in the same set or series, although the authors and/or titles may be different.

A Separately Titled Volume in a Multivolume Set with a General Title

- In this example, the multivolume set Systematic Theology has two volumes. The title of the second volume is God, Creation. Both of them must be italicized.
- The volume number must be indicated clearly before the title of the multivolume set.

P: (Geisler 2004, 380).

R: Geisler, Norman. 2004. God, Creation. Vol. 2 of Systematic Theology. Minneapolis, MN: Bethany House.

A Multivolume Work with No Individual Title

- In this example, the multivolume set is The International Critical Commentary set. The title of a commentary set is not italicized. This commentary set has no set number.
- The book by John Goldingay and David Payne titled Isaiah 40–55 has two volumes in this commentary set. This is written in both footnote citation and bibliography.
- The first citation is from volume 1, page 118. This is written as "1:118." The second is from volume 2, page 180. This is written as "2:180."

P[1]: (Goldingay and Payne 2006, 1:118).

P[2]: (Goldingay and Payne 2006, 2:180).

R: Goldingay, John and David Payne. 2006. Isaiah 40–55. 2 vols. The International Critical Commentary. New York: T&T Clark.

A Separately Authored and Titled Chapter in a Larger Volume in a Multivolume Set

- In this example, the multivolume set is the Expositor's Bible Commentary set edited by Frank E. Gaebelein. It is a huge commentary of the whole bible and has many volumes. Different authors comment on different books of the Bible progressively through the volumes, each forming a different chapter of the whole set.

Books in Multivolume or Commentary Sets or Series

- Robert L. Thomas is the author for the chapter on 1 Thessalonians. The chapter title is written within quotation marks “” in both the footnote citations and bibliography. Then write “in” followed by Expositor’s Bible Commentary and the name of the editor Frank E. Gaebelein.
- This chapter makes up pages 227 to 298 in volume 11. This is written as “11:227–98” in the bibliography.
- The first citation is from volume 11, page 234. This is written as “11:234.” The second is from `volume 11, page 280. This is written as “11:280.”

P[1]: (Thomas 1978, 11:234).

P[2]: (Thomas 1978, 11:280).

R: Thomas, Robert L. 1978. “1 Thessalonians.” In Expositor’s Bible Commentary, edited by Frank E. Gaebelein, 11:227–98. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

– –

A Separately Authored and Titled Volume in a Multivolume Commentary Set Without Volume Number

- In this example, the multivolume set is Interpretation. It is similar to the previous example except that each volume of the commentary set is separately authored and titled without a volume number. The title of this set is not italicized.
- The editor of the whole set is James L. Mays. This has to be written in the first footnote citation and bibliography.

P: (Sloyan 1988, 180).

R: Sloyan, Gerard Stephen. 1988. John. Interpretation. Edited by James L. Mays. Atlanta, GA: John Knox Press.

– –

A Separately Authored and Titled Volume in a Multivolume Commentary Set with Volume Number

- In this example, the multivolume set is Word Biblical Commentary. Each volume of the commentary set is separately authored and titled, with an assigned volume number. The title of this set is not italicized.
- F. F. Bruce authored volume 45 on 1 and 2 Thessalonians. Although each volume may indicate a long list of editors, they are meant for the commentary set and will be too long and cumbersome to be listed in the footnotes and bibliography.

P: (Bruce 1982, 80).

R: Bruce, F. F. 1982. 1 and 2 Thessalonians. Word Biblical Commentary 45. Waco, TX: Word.

Books in Multivolume or Commentary Sets or Series

A Volume in a Series with the Series Editor

- In this example, the multivolume series is Guides to New Testament Exegesis. It has no abbreviation. Each volume of the series is separately authored or edited, titled, with a volume number. The title of this set is not italicized.
- Scot McKnight edited volume 1. Since there is no commonly recognized abbreviation for this series, the series title has to be spelt out in full in the footnote and bibliography.

P: (McKnight 1989, 58).

R: McKnight, Scot, ed. 1989. Introducing New Testament Interpretation. Guides to New Testament Exegesis 1. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Book House.

A Volume in a Series with Author and Series Editor

- In this example, the multivolume series is the "Library of Early Christianity" series edited by Wayne A. Meeks.
- John E. Stambaugh and David L. Balch are the authors of volume 2 of the series entitled The New Testament in Its Social Environment.

P: (Stambaugh and Balch 1986, 10).

R: Stambaugh, John E., and David L. Balch. 1986. The New Testament in Its Social Environment. Library of Early Christianity 2. Edited by Wayne A. Meeks. Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press.

Books in Digital Library and Internet

1. Turabian establishes clearly, "Electronic books…are cited just like print books…. In addition, you will need to include information about the format you consulted. If you read the book online, include a URL. If you consulted the book in a commercial database, you can instead give the name of the database" (2018, 253).
2. Take note that a URL or DOI (digital object identifier) address needs to be provided. A DOI address that does not begin with http://doi.org/ needs to be appended with it to become a URL address. Whenever URL or DOI addresses need to be broken at the end of the line, the break should be inserted "after a colon [:] or a double slash [//]; before or after an equals sign [=] or ampersand [&]; or before a single slash [-], a period [.], or any other punctuation or symbol" (Turabian 2018, 304).

– –

DIGITAL THEOLOGICAL LIBRARY

- EAST is a co-owner of the Digital Theological Library (the DTL). All EAST faculty, staff, program students, and visiting (credit) students have access rights to this digital library. Students should visit www.digitaltheologicallibrary.org and log-in with their assigned access codes to view and read e-books and articles.
- Visiting (audit) students can visit the Open Access Digital Theological Library (the OADTL) for free at https://oadtl.org/ to find resources.
- While the names of DTL and OADTL need not be appended in the citations, it is a good practice to append the URL or DOI addresses used to access the resources.

ProQuest Databases

- ProQuest is a major group of databases in the DTL. ProQuest databases include ProQuest Academic Complete, ProQuest Central, ProQuest Dissertations & Theses Global, ProQuest Ebook Central, and ProQuest One Academic.
- After you have logged in using your personal DTL access code, you will also need to create or sign in to your own account with ProQuest, select "DTL – Singapore" as the institution country where your DTL provider resides in and log in further.
- In the footnote citations and bibliography, give the basic citation information for the book. Add the access date and the name of the database. Copy the URL of the book and paste it at the end of your citations so that your instructor/s can access the book and locate the same content easily.
- Note that when you read the book online or download the whole book to read using Adobe Digital Editions app, the page numbers given are generally only for the E-book version provided by ProQuest and do not correspond to the page numbers of the printed version. On the other hand, be advised that PDFs of book chapters that you download may not contain page numbers.
- Generally, when page numbers are not shown on the pages of the Ebook, or if they appear to be of the same size and font as the text of the Ebook (typically Times New Romans) or are found or given elsewhere on the webpage, they do not correspond to the actual page numbers of the printed version of the book.
- For example, in the author-date citation of the Ebook of Donald A. Hagner's The

Books in Digital Library and Internet

New Testament: A Historical and Theological Introduction in the ProQuest Ebook Central database, chapter 4 on the Gospels starts on page number 93. This page number 93 is not shown on the page view of the Ebook but given on the top right-hand corner of the Ebook page view. In the printed book however, chapter 4 starts on page 59.

- Likewise, in the subsequent citation of the same book in the ProQuest Ebook database, chapter 32 on Ephesians begins on page 706 given on the top right-hand corner of the Ebook page view. In the printed book, it begins on page 585.
- Students should quote the page number that appears either the Ebook version or the printed version but not both as it will mislead readers. If you are quoting the Ebook version, ensure that the URL or DOI of the Ebook is given.

P[1]: (Hagner 2012, 93).

P[2]: (Hagner 2012, 706).

R: Hagner, Donald A. 2012. The New Testament: A Historical and Theological Introduction. Grand Rapids: Baker Academic. Accessed 3 May, 2024. ProQuest Ebook Central. https://ebookcentral-proquest-com.dtl.idm.oclc.org/lib/dtl/reader.action?docID=3117085.

– – – – – – – – – –

Cambridge University Press

- In this example of a book published by the Cambridge University Press, the page view of the book looks exactly like the printed version.
- Add the URL or DOI of the Ebook so that readers can visit the website and read the content exactly as how you read it.

P: (Long 2004, 126).

R: Long, Fredrick J. 2004. Ancient Rhetoric and Paul's Apology: The Compositional Unity of 2 Corinthians. Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 131. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press. https://doi-org.dtl.idm.oclc.org/10.1017/CBO9780511488054.

– – – – – – – – – –

EBSCOHost

- EBSCOHost is another huge database where DTL may direct you to. The citations look similar to other examples in this section. The page numbers will again be different between different Ebook formats.
- In the example below, readers can read the book online on EBSCOHost or download the Ebook to be read using the app Adobe Digital Editions (ADE). The page numbers reading online, in ADE, and in the printed version are all different.
- Students should remain consistent in using only one version of the book and indicate clearly by appending the URL when using the online version or appending the app name “Adobe Digital Editions” when using the downloaded version. See the next section for how to cite app-based and device-based Ebooks.

Books in Digital Library and Internet

P: (Nouwen 2013, 79).

R: Nouwen, Henri J. 2013. The Inner Voice of Love: A Journey through Anguish to Freedom. New York: Image Books. http://search.ebscohost.com.dtl.idm.oclc.org/login.aspx?direct=true&db=nlebk&AN=722312&site=ehostlive&scope=site. EBSCOhost.

– –

INTERNET E-BOOKS

- In citing internet book resources, the key element to add apart from the general format for books is to ensure that the URL or DOI is appended at the end of the footnote citation and bibliography entry. The access date is also needed at times.

Internet Archive

- Internet Archive is yet another place where you may find books.
- Just as with ProQuest databases, the page numbers on the Internet Archive can be different from the printed version.
- In the example below for Wayne Grudem's widely used Systematic Theology, chapter 2 on "The Word of God" begins on page 29 on the Internet Archive Ebook version while on the printed version, the chapter begins on page 53.

P: (Grudem 2009, 348).

R: Grudem, Wayne A. 2009. Systematic Theology: An Introduction to Bible Doctrine. Grand Rapids: Zondervan. https://archive.org/details/WayneGrudemSystematicTheology.

– – – – – – – – – –

Other Examples

- Certain internet resources provide a DOI or digital object identifier. When one is provided, use it in your citation, as such this example below.

P: (Adams and Domoney-Lyttle 2019, 87).

R: Adams, Sean A., and Zanne Domoney-Lyttle, eds. 2019. Abraham in Jewish and Early Christian Literature. London: T&T Clark. http://dx.doi.org/10.5040/9780567675545.

– – – – – – – – – –

- Other resource sites may provide the URL instead and may or may not allow downloading of the book. Use the URL given in such cases, such as below.

P: (Bonfiglio 2016, 280).

Books in Digital Library and Internet

R: Bonfiglio, Ryan P. 2016. Reading Images, Seeing Texts: Towards a Visual Hermeneutics for Biblical Studies. Orbis Biblicus Et Orientalis 280. Fribourg: Academic Press Fribourg. http://www.zora.uzh.ch/id/eprint/133250.

– – – – – – – – – –

- When the internet website appears to be managed not by a publisher or organized library but by a ministry or individual, append the access date.

P: (Piper 2007, 14).

R: Piper, John. Don't Waste Your Life. 2007. Wheaton, IL: Crossway. Accessed June 14, 2017. https://www.desiringgod.org/books/dont-waste-your-life.

– –

App-Based and Device-Based Electronic Resources

1. Turabian states, "if you downloaded a book from Amazon or Apple or the like in a format that requires a specific app or device, include that information instead" (Turabian 2018, 186, 253–54).
2. E-books that are based on reading apps (e.g., Book in MacOS) and devices (e.g., Kindle) often show different page numbers from the printed versions of the books. This is because the apps and devices allow users to adjust the screen settings and resolutions and font sizes. Therefore, page numbers shown in E-book reading apps and devices are not consistent or reliable to be used for citation purposes. As such, in the footnote citations, cite the number or name of the section or chapter that the material comes under and then in both the footnote citations and bibliography indicate the app or device name, e.g., "Book" or "Kindle" (Turabian 2018, 186, 253–54).

– –

Logos Bible Software Resources

- Logos Bible Software allows users to show the page numbers of the resources. Most Logos books have page numbers that are similar to and consistent with the printed versions of the books.
- After opening the resource, select "Show page numbers" inside the "Visual Filters" feature. Scroll up and down to check what page the content is located within. Cite it like a printed version and then add the name "Logos Bible Software" at the end of the citation.

Logos Books

P: (Kempis 1996, 5).

R: Kempis, Thomas á. 1996. The Imitation of Christ. Oak Harbor, WA: Logos Research Systems. Logos Bible Software.

– – – – –

P: (Tan 2015, 58).

R: Tan, Kim Huat. 2015. Mark: A New Covenant Commentary. Edited by Michael F. Bird and Craig Keener. New Covenant Commentary Series. Eugene, OR: Cascade Books. Logos Bible Software.

– – – – –

P: (Ross 1983, 54).

R: Ross, Allen P. 1983-1985. "Genesis," In The Bible Knowledge Commentary: An Exposition of the Scriptures. 2 vols, edited by John F. Walvoord and Roy B. Zuck. Wheaton, Ill.: Victor Books, Accessed April 19, 2023. Logos Bible Software.

– – – – – – – – – –

App-Based and Device-Based Electronic Resources

Logos Videos

- Logos videos are usually part of a Logos Mobile Course. These are usually purchased and not readily available in libraries. Instructors may not possess these content or able to access them easily. Students should be ready to show these videos upon instructors' requests.

P: (Evans 2014).

R: Evans, Craig A. 2014. "The Preservation of the New Testament Manuscripts." In NT308 Reliability of New Testament Manuscripts (Video). Logos Mobile Education. Bellingham, WA: Lexham Press. Logos Bible Software.

Logos Guides and Workflows

- Students should go to more credible sources that provide more detailed in-depth content and discussion on theological topics and passages than the quick and simplified information from Logos guides and workflows.
- Nevertheless, if you use the content provided by a Logos guide or workflow, you should write and describe it clearly in your paper and you must give a citation for it. The citation can be found in the "Panel menu" option of that guide or workflow, under "Information." Below is an example.
- If this "Information" option is not available, please refrain from using that content.

P: (Faithlife 2024).

R: Faithlife, LLC. 2024. "Logos Bible Study Factbook." Logos Bible Study, Computer software. Bellingham, WA: Faithlife, LLC.

– – – – –

- Here is another example.

P: (Faithlife 2024).

R: Faithlife, LLC. 2024. "Crucifixion." Logos Bible Study, Computer software. Logos Bible Study Factbook. Bellingham, WA: Faithlife, LLC. https://ref.ly/logos4/Factbook?id=ref%3abk.%25crucifixion.

– –

ADOBE DIGITAL EDITIONS (ADE)

- Adobe Digital Editions (ADE) is a computer application commonly used to read Ebooks that various publishers through DTL databases allow users to download and read. You will need to install it on your computer before you can read the books.
- As discussed in the earlier section, the page numbers of the Ebooks may not correspond with those of the print versions. As such, it is important to append the name of the app "Adobe Digital Editions" before the URL or DOI in the footnote citation and bibliography entry to show that you are not using the printed book.

App-Based and Device-Based Electronic Resources

P: (Nouwen 2013, 78).

R: Nouwen, Henri J. 2013. The Inner Voice of Love: A Journey through Anguish to Freedom. New York: Image Books. Adobe Digital Editions. http://search.ebscohost.com.dtl.idm.oclc.org/login.aspx?direct=true&db=nlebk&AN=722312&site=ehostlive&scope=site. EBSCOhost.

– –

Device-Based E-Books

- E-books that are based on reading apps (e.g., Book in MacOS) and devices (e.g., Kindle) often show different page numbers from the printed versions of the books. This is because the apps and devices allow users to adjust the screen settings and resolutions and font sizes. Therefore, page numbers shown in E-book reading apps and devices are not consistent or reliable to be used for citation purposes. As such, in the footnote citations, cite the number or name of the section or chapter that the material comes under and then in both the footnote citations and bibliography indicate the app or device name, e.g., "Book" or "Kindle." (Turabian 2018, 186, 253–54).

Kindle by Amazon

P: (Weston 2009, chap. 4).

R: Weston, Anthony. 2009. A Rulebook for Arguments. 4th ed. Indianapolis, IN: Hackett. Kindle.

– – – – –

Books by Apple

P: (Keller 2016, chap. 2).

R: Keller, Timothy. 2016. Prayer: Experiencing Awe and Intimacy with God. New York, NY: Penguin Books. Books.

– –

Other Digital Resources

A DVD resource

P: (Mounce 2003, disc 3).

R: Mounce, William D. 2003. Greek for the Rest of Us. DVD. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

– –

Journal Articles

1. Students should begin the habit of researching journals for the latest research in various fields and studies.
2. A journal consists of its title, volume number, issue number, and date of publication. The name of the publisher is usually not named. Each issue of a journal will comprise a number of long articles and short book reviews.
3. Footnote citation of a journal article therefore must reflect the article author, article title, journal title, volume, issue, date, and article page number. In the first citation, the complete page range of the article in the journal should be given.
4. The same should be shown in the bibliography entry except that the complete page range of the article in the journal must be given.

– –

PRINTED JOURNALS

- In this example below, J. Paul Tanner wrote the article "The Gideon Narrative as the Focal Point of Judges." It is published in the journal Bibliotheca Sacra, volume 149, issue 594 which is for the months April to June in 1992. The article is on pages 146–61 of that journal issue.

P: (Tanner 1992, 150).

R: Tanner, J. Paul. 1992. "The Gideon Narrative as the Focal Point of Judges." Bibliotheca Sacra 149, no. 594 (Apr–Jun 1992): 146–61.

– – – – –

- In this example below, Lawrence Freedman wrote the article "The Changing Roles of Military Conflict" published in the journal Survival, volume 40, issue 4 which is in 1998. The article is on pages 35–56 of that journal issue.

P: (Freedman 1998, 42).

R: Freedman, Lawrence. 1998. "The Changing Roles of Military Conflict." Survival 40, no. 4: 39–56.

– – – – –

- In this example below, John T. Kirby wrote the article "Aristotle on Metaphor" published in the journal American Journal of Philology, volume 118 in 1997. The article is on pages 517–554 of that journal issue.

P: (Kirby 1997, 523).

R: Kirby, John T. 1997. "Aristotle on Metaphor." American Journal of Philology 118: 517–554.

– –

Journal Articles

Printed Journals Made Available Online

- When an online journal article is quoted, you must cite the URL or DOI (digital object identifier) of the article (Turabian 2018, 145, 254). Journal articles should contain "a date of publication or posting or the date the source was last modified or updated;" but in case this is missing in certain articles, an access date must be included (2018, 145–6). Generally, it is best to consult with your course instructor or to just include it as an additional precaution.

P: (Mallan and Natasha 2009).

R: Mallan, Kerry, and Natasha Giardina. 2009. "Wikidentities: Young People Collaborating on Virtual Identities in Social Network Sites." First Monday 14, no. 6 (June). Accessed June 15, 2019. https://doi.org/10.5210/fm.v14i6.2445.

– – – – –

P: (Zimmermann 2018, 164).

R: Zimmermann, Ruben. 2018. "Memory and Jesus' Parables: J.P. Meier's explosion and the restoration of the 'Bedrock' of Jesus' Speech." Journal for the Study of the Historical Jesus 16, no. 2–3 (Dec): 156–72. Accessed June 15, 2019. https://doi.org/10.1163/17455197-01602006.

– – – – –

P: (Gaskil 2008, 1074).

R: Gaskill, Malcolm. 2008. "The Pursuit of Reality: Recent Research into the History of Witchcraft." Historical Journal 51, no. 4: 1069–1088. Accessed June 10, 2019. https://doi.org/10.1017/S0018246X0800719X.

– –

Newspaper and Magazine Articles

1. Newspapers and magazines are cited quite similarly to journals.
2. They have fewer elements such as volume or issue numbers to be shown in the citation.

Printed Newspaper

- Newspaper articles are cited in the body of the paper; but often not in the Bibliography (Turabian 2018, 192–93). Turabian recommends to "[i]nclude a specific article in your bibliography only if it is critical to your argument or frequently cited" (2018, 192).

P: (Tan 2005, S2).

R: Tan, Melody. 2005. "New Age Dawning in Singapore? It's in the (Tarot) Cards," Straits Times, May 21, 2005, S2.

Digital or Electronic News

- News is also available in digital and electronic formats. When citing digital and electronic news, make sure the URL or DOI is given.

P: (Teng 2019).

R: Teng, Amelia. 2019. "NUS and NTU tie as Asia's top university," Straits Times, June 19, 2019. https://www.straitstimes.com/singapore/education/nus-and-ntu-tie-as-asias-top-university.

P: (Goh 2022).

R: Goh, Yan Han. 2022. "Parliament Repeals Section 377A, Endorses Amendments Protecting Definition of Marriage." Straits Times, November 30, 2022. https://www.straitstimes.com/singapore/politics/parliament-repeals-section-377a-endorses-amendments-protecting-marriage-definition.

- This is from CNN.

P: (Zdanowicz 2019).

B: Zdanowicz, Christina. 2019. "Women Have Abortions for Many Reasons Aside from Rape and Incest. Here Are Some of Them." CNN, May 22, 2019. https://edition.cnn.com/2019/05/21/health/ women-reasons-abortion-trnd/index.html.

Newspaper and Magazine Articles

- This is from Reuters.

P: (Reuters Fact Check 2021).

R: Reuters Fact Check. 2021. "Termination of Pregnancy Can Be Necessary to Save a Woman's Life, Experts Say." Reuters, December 28, 2021. Accessed March 27, 2023. https://www.reuters.com/article/factcheck-abortion-false-idUSL1N2TC0VD.

– –

Printed Magazine

- Magazine articles are cited very similarly to newspaper articles.

P: (Kennedy 2004, 55).

R: Kennedy, John W. 2004. "The 4–14 Window." Christianity Today, July 1, 2004.

– – – – –

P: (Goldberger 1996, 82).

R: Goldberger, Paul. 1996. "Machines for Living: The Architectonic Allure of the Automobile." Architectural Digest. October 1996.

– –

Digital or Electronic Magazines

- Whenever a digital or electronic resource is cited, its URL or DOI must be provided.

P: (Dickey 2008).

R: Dickey, Christopher. 2008. "Reflecting on race barriers." Newsweek, November 15, 2008. Accessed June 22, 2009. http://www.newsweek.com/id/169302.

– –

Websites and Social-Media

1. Many resources and contents are available on websites nowadays. This section and its examples refer specifically to content published on a website that is not part of a bible reference website, study bible website, journal, newspaper, or magazine.
2. They may be an author's ministry website, an individual's blog, or a church website.

– –

Websites and Blogs

- In the three examples below, Desiring God is the title of the website.

P: (Butterfield 2020).

R: Butterfield, Rosaria. 2020. "Can the Pandemic Be an Answered Prayer?" Desiring God. May 23, 2020. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/can-the-pandemic-be-an-answered-prayer.

– – – – –

P: (Bloom 2014).

R: Bloom, Jon. 2014. "Relentlessly Call Abortion What It Really Is." Desiring God, January 22, 2014. Accessed Mar 23, 2023. https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/relentlessly-call-abortion-what-it-really-is.

– – – – –

P: (Piper 1989).

R: Piper, John. 1989. "Ten Reasons Why It Is Wrong to Take the Life of Unborn Children." Desiring God, April 7, 1989. Accessed Mar 23, 2023, https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/ten-reasons-why-it-is-wrong-to-take-the-life-of-unborn-children.

– – – – –

- This is from The Gospel Coalition website.

P: (Wax 2012).

R: Wax, Trevin. 2012. "10 Questions a Pro-Choice Candidate is Never Asked by the Media." The Gospel Coalition, October 24, 2012. Accessed April 20, 2023, https://www.thegospelcoalition.org/blogs/trevin-wax/10-questions-a-pro-choice-candidate-is-never-asked-by-the-media/.

– – – – –

- This is from Crossway website.

P: (Swain 2017).

R: Swain, Scott R. 2017. "10 Things You Should Know about Systematic Theology." Crossway. October 8, 2017. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.crossway

Websites and Social-Media

.org/articles/10-things-you-should-know-about-systematic-theology/.

– – – – –

- Lewis Winkler is a resident faculty of EAST. This is his blog post about abortion.

P: (Winkler 2020).

R: Winkler, Lewis. 2020. "Abortion: From a Necessary Evil to an Essential Service and a Blessing." Lewinkler (blog). April 14, 2020. Accessed June 8, 2020. https://lewinkler.com/2020/04/14/abortion-from-a-necessary-evil-to-an-essential-service-and-a-blessing/.

– – – – –

- This is from Saddleback Church website.

P: (Wood 2024).

R: Wood, Andy. 2024. "A Better Way to Live." Resource Details, Saddleback Church. May 19, 2024. https://saddleback.com/connect/Articles/MAP/2024/5/20/map.

– –

Social-Media

- Social-media posts are short and brief in the content they provide. At best they function as triggers to introduce a certain topic or discussion. Due to their brevity and subjectivity, they would not do much to substantiate academic research at the post-graduate level.
- This example no longer available. However, it demonstrates very clearly how a social-media post such as on Facebook should be cited.

P: (Chicago Manual of Style 2015).

R: Chicago Manual of Style. 2015. "Is the world ready for singular they? We thought so back in 1993." Facebook. April 17, 2015. https://www.facebook.com /ChicagoManual /posts/10152906199367915 1.

– –

Papers, Sermons, Lectures, and Others

1. This is the last set of resource students might consider using in their academic papers. These are either unpublished content such as sermons and presentations or those already written by others or taught in class by teachers which do not amount to much original thinking by students.
2. Nevertheless, if there is a reason to refer to them in academic writings, here are some examples how to cite them.

– –

Papers, Lectures, and Others

- Unpublished dissertations, theses, research papers, or course handouts may be cited in as shown below.

P: (Lee 2004, 3).

R: Lee, John. 2004. "The Art of Evangelism." Lecture, East Asia School of Theology, Singapore. May 26, 2004.

– –

Sermons Transcripts

- Sermon transcripts should be accessible to the academic community.

P: (Reinke 2020).

R: Reinke, Tony. 2020. "Glory-Finding in the Gospel of John: The War in Our Social Media Feeds (Part II)." Sermon, High Pointe Theology Conference, Austin, TX, May 7, 2020. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.desiringgod.org/messages/glory-finding-in-the-gospel-of-john.

– –

Video or Sound Recording (YouTube)

- In citing a video or sound recording, students should indicate in the author-date citation the time from which the extracted content begins. This is a necessary locator equivalent to the page number for a book.

P: (Tan 2020, 40:00).

R: Tan, Kay Kiong. 2020. "You Will Get Through This!" Covenant Evangelical Free Church, Singapore, April 26, 2020. Video of sermon. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uNcsmeDpXqA.

– – – – –

P: (Shapiro 2018, 2:24).

R: Shapiro, Ben. 2018. "Ben Shapiro Shreds Pro-Choice Argument." UBCFSC Talk on YouTube. November 16, 2018. Accessed March 29, 2023. https://www

Papers, Sermons, Lectures, and Others

.youtube.com/watch?v=ZF3cUjl2WG0&t=6s.

– – – – –

P: (Baucham 2014, 11:35).

R: Baucham, Voddie. 2014. "Is Gay the New Black: Unlocking the Mysteries in Genesis." Video of Sermon, Institute of Creation Research Conference, October 10-12 2014. Accessed 28 March, 2024, https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZkL3lT95vOU&t=231s.

– –

Podcasts

- Just as the earlier examples, indicate in the citations the time during the podcast when the content can be located.

P: (Harwood 2024, 14:45).

R: Harwood, Mark. 2024. "Creation in 6 Days? Part 1 – Young Earth View." East Asia School of Theology. February 28, 2024. EAST Express Podcast. Accessed June 7, 2024. https://youtu.be/DXKX5xIaNm8?si=Qs2iXVpuwpYDjCaE.

– – – – –

P: (Murray 2020, 26:26).

R: Murray, Abdu. 2020. "Evangelism in an Honor and Shame Culture, Part 1." Ravi Zacharias International Ministries. May 23, 2020. Let My People Think Podcast. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.rzim.org/listen/let-my-people-think/ evangelism-in-an-honor-and-shame-culture-part-1.

– –

Interviews and Personal Communications

- For interviews and personal communications where no published transcripts or recordings are available, this is the only way to cite them.

P: (Shields 2016).

R: Shields, David. 2016. Interview by author. Seattle. July 22, 2016.

– –

If you need further quick reference help online, you can bookmark this website on your browser so as to refer to it whenever you need it: http://libraryguides.bennett.edu/home/writing/chicago-turabian-style/turabian-style-in-text-parenthetical-citations--reference-list.

[1 inch from the top]

References

[leave 2 blank lines]
[between the title and the first entry]

Mayor, Joseph B. 1977. The Epistle of St James. Minneapolis, MN: Klock & Klock Christian Publishers (Orig. pub. London: Macmillan & Company, 1913.)

Singleton, Robert C. 1992. "Mentoring and Professional Socialization in a Theological Seminary Setting." PhD diss., University of Texas.

Westermann, Claus. 1981. Praise and Lament in the Psalms. Translated by Keith R. Crim and Richard N. Soulen. Atlanta, GA: John Knox Press.

NB:
• In References, the year of publication is placed right after the author name(s).
• A complete reference list of all the examples quoted in this section on author-date citation style is shown in the next few pages.

References

Adams, Sean A., and Zanne Domoney-Lyttle, eds. 2019. Abraham in Jewish and Early Christian Literature. London: T&T Clark. http://dx.doi.org/10.5040/9780567675545.

Bal, Mieke. 1985. Narratology. Translated by Christine van Boheemen. Toronto: University of Toronto Press.

Bruce, F. F. 1982. 1 and 2 Thessalonians. Word Biblical Commentary 45. Waco, TX: Word.

Butterfield, Rosaria. 2020. "Can the Pandemic Be an Answered Prayer?" Desiring God. May 23, 2020. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.desiringgod.org/articles/can-the-pandemic-be-an-answered-prayer.

Chicago Manual of Style. 2015. "Is the world ready for singular they? We thought so back in 1993." Facebook. April 17, 2015. https://www.facebook.com/ChicagoManual/posts/10152906199367915l.

Dickey, Christopher. 2008. "Reflecting on race barriers." Newsweek, November 15, 2008. Accessed June 22, 2009. http://www.newsweek.com/id/169302.

Dieter, Melvin E., Anthony A. Hoekema, Stanley M. Horton, J. Robertson McQuilkin, and John F. Walvoord. 1996. Five Views on Sanctification. Counterpoints Series. Edited by Stanley N. Gundry. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

Fee, Gordon D., and Douglas Stuart. 1982. How to Read the Bible for All Its Worth: A Guide to Understanding the Bible. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

Feinberg, Paul D. 1979. "Meaning of Inerrancy." In Inerrancy, edited by Norman L. Geisler, 265–304. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

Freedman, Lawrence. 1998. "The Changing Roles of Military Conflict." Survival 40, no. 4: 39–56.

Gaskill, Malcolm. 2008. "The Pursuit of Reality: Recent Research into the History of Witchcraft." Historical Journal 51, no. 4: 1069–1088. Accessed June 10, 2019. https://www.jstor.org/stable/20175215.

Geisler, Norman. 2004. God, Creation. Vol. 2 of Systematic Theology. Minneapolis, MN: Bethany House.

Goldberger, Paul. 1996. "Machines for living: The architectonic allure of the automobile." Architectural Digest (October 1996): 82.

Goldingay, John and David Payne. 2006. Isaiah 40–55. 2 vols. The International Critical Commentary. New York: T&T Clark.

Grudem, Wayne A. 2009. Systematic Theology: An Introduction to Bible Doctrine. Grand Rapids: Zondervan. https://archive.org/details/WayneGrudemSystematicTheology.

Hagner, Donald A. 2012. The New Testament: A Historical and Theological Introduction. Grand Rapids: Baker Academic. ProQuest Ebook Central.

Kaiser, Walter C., Jr. 1981. Toward an Exegetical Theology. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker.

Kempis, Thomas á. 1996. The Imitation of Christ. Oak Harbor, WA: Logos Research Systems. Logos Bible Software.

Kennedy, John W. 2004 "The 4–14 Window." Christianity Today, July 1, 2004.

Kirby, John T. 1997. "Aristotle on Metaphor." American Journal of Philology 118: 517–554.

Kittel, Gerhard, and Gerhard Friedrich, eds. 1964. Theological Dictionary of the New Testament. Translated by Geoffrey W. Bromiley. 10 vols. Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans.

Lee, John. 2004. "The Art of Evangelism." Lecture, East Asia School of Theology, Singapore. May 26, 2004.

Long, Fredrick J. 2004. Ancient Rhetoric and Paul's Apology: The Compositional Unity of 2 Corinthians. Society for New Testament Studies Monograph Series 131. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press. https://doi-org.dtl.idm.oclc.org/10.1017/CBO9780511488054.

Mallan, Kerry, and Natasha Giardina. 2009. "Wikidentities: Young People Collaborating on Virtual Identities in Social Network Sites." First Monday 14, no. 6 (June). https://doi.org/10.5210/fm.v14i6.2445.

McKnight, Scot, ed. 1989. Introducing New Testament Interpretation. Guides to New Testament Exegesis 1. Grand Rapids, MI: Baker Book House.

Mounce, William D. 2003 Greek for the Rest of Us. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan. DVD.

Murray, Abdu. 2020. "Evangelism in an Honor and Shame Culture, Part 1." Ravi Zacharias International Ministries. May 23, 2020. Let My People Think Podcast, 26:26. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.rzim.org/listen/let-my-people-think/evangelism-in-an-honor-and-shame-culture-part-1.

Nouwen, Henri J. 2013. The Inner Voice of Love: A Journey through Anguish to Freedom. New York: Image Books. http://search.ebscohost.com.dtl.idm.oclc.org/login.aspx?direct=true&db=nlebk&AN=722312&site=ehost-live&scope=site. EBSCOhost.

Piper, John. 2007. Don't Waste Your Life. Wheaton, IL: Crossway. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.desiringgod.org/books/dont-waste-your-life.

Reinke, Tony. 2020. "Glory-Finding in the Gospel of John: The War in Our Social Media Feeds (Part II)." Sermon, High Pointe Theology Conference, Austin, TX, May 7, 2020. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.desiringgod.org/messages/glory-finding-in-the-gospel-of-john.

Shields, David. 2016. Interview by author. Seattle. July 22, 2016.

Sloyan, Gerard Stephen. 1988. John. Interpretation. Edited by James L. Mays. Atlanta, GA: John Knox Press.

Stambaugh, John E., and David L. Balch. 1986. The New Testament in Its Social Environment. Library of Early Christianity 2. Edited by Wayne A. Meeks. Philadelphia, PA: The Westminster Press.

Stuart, Douglas. 1984. Old Testament Exegesis: A Primer for Students and Pastors. 2nd ed. Philadelphia, PA: Westminster.

Swain, Scott R. 2017. "10 Things You Should Know about Systematic Theology." Crossway. October 8, 2017. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.crossway.org /articles/10-things-you-should-know-about-systematic-theology/.

Tan, Kay Kiong. 2020. "You Will Get Through This!" Video of sermon. Covenant Evangelical Free Church, Singapore, April 26, 2020. Accessed June 7, 2020. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=uNcsmeDpXqA.

Tan, Kim Huat. 2015. Mark: A New Covenant Commentary. Edited by Michael F. Bird and Craig Keener. New Covenant Commentary Series. Eugene, OR: Cascade Books. Logos Bible Software.

Tan, Melody. 2005. "New Age Dawning in Singapore? It's in the (Tarot) Cards," Straits Times, May 21, 2005, S2.

Tanner, J. Paul. 1992 "The Gideon Narrative as the Focal Point of Judges." Bibliotheca Sacra 149, no. 594 (Apr–Jun 1992): 146–61.

Teng, Amelia. 2019. "NUS and NTU tie as Asia's top university," Straits Times, June 19, 2019. https://www.straitstimes.com/singapore/education/nus-and-ntu-tie-as-asias-top-university.

Thomas, Robert L. 1978. "1 Thessalonians." In Expositor's Bible Commentary, edited by Frank E. Gaebelein, 11:227–98. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan.

UNICEF. 1999. Generation in Jeopardy: Children in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union. Edited by Alexander Zouev. Armonk, NY: M. E. Sharpe.

Westermann, Claus, ed. 1963. Essays on Old Testament Hermeneutics. Atlanta, GA: John Knox.

Weston, Anthony. 2009. A Rulebook for Arguments. 4th ed. Indianapolis, IN: Hackett. Kindle.

Wilhoit, James C. 2008. Spiritual Formation as if the Church Mattered: Growing in Christ Through Community. With a foreword by Dallas Willard. Quoted by Lau Ying Kheng. 2018. “Research Writing.” Lecture, EEC, Phnom Penh, Cambodia, April 30.

Yu, Hansel. 2012. Wo de mong xiang [My Dreams]. HK: HK University Press.

Zimmermann, Ruben. 2018. “Memory and Jesus’ Parables: J.P. Meier’s explosion and the restoration of the ‘Bedrock’ of Jesus’ Speech.” Journal for the Study of the Historical Jesus 16, no. 2–3 (December): 156–72. Accessed June 15, 2019. https://doi.org/10.1163/17455197-01602006.

PART IV GUIDE ON GENERAL STYLE AND FORMAT OF PAPER

Front Matters for Assignments Papers

1. For shorter written assignments of 5 pages or less, use the following format at the top of the first page of the assignment.
   - Use single spacing for the headings.
   - Set one inch (2.5 cm) from top of page.
   - Leave two single spaces before Title of Assignment.
   - All page numbers of the paper should be at the top right corner of each page.
   - An example is shown on page 109.
   - Check with your instructor to confirm that you may use of this form in your shorter written assignments.

Name of Course
Name:_____ Mailbox#_____ Date Submitted:_____

Title of Assignment

2. For major papers, use a title page like the one shown on page 111. Page 110 shows the proper spacings between the various elements of the title page. Check with your instructor on the requirement of table of contents in your written assignment.

   Students are advised to use the "Writing Template" available on the EAST's Learning Management System to write their papers. This template has been properly formatted according the required paper style.

   Students should do the following steps:
   - Download the Term Paper Template to their computer.
   - Make a duplicate copy of the template.
   - Give the duplicate copy a new name that matches their course title or paper content, e.g. "Theology 1 paper" or "Exegesis of Mark 11."
   - Use the new file to write their papers by typing over the existing paragraph contents, headings, and subheadings. Unwanted sections and their headings can be deleted.
   - Do not change the format of the page numbers. They have been set according to requirements.
   - Examples of in-text and footnote citations are given in the template. Students can use them by typing over them.
   - Finally, delete any excess contents, sections, or pages before submitting the paper.

BS534 Greek Exegesis
Name: Johnny Lee Mailbox 4 18 April 2017

Word Study on “Rejoice” in Philippians 4:4

This paper examines the meanings and usages of the word “rejoice” that Paul used in Philippians 4:4. …

[2 inches from the top]

East Asia School of Theology

[leave about 10 single-spacing blank lines]

Name of Course

[leave about 15 single-spacing blank lines]

Title of Paper

[leave about 10 single-spacing blank lines]

Submitted to: Your Instructor's Title and Name
Submitted by: Your Name, Mailbox #
Submitted on: Date Submitted

East Asia School of Theology

BS534 Greek Exegesis

An Exegetical Paper on Philippians 4:4–9

Submitted to: Dr. Douglas Pang
Submitted by: Johnny Lee, Mailbox 4
Submitted on: 18 April 2017

Headings and Sub-headings[37]

Sections in a paper are usually given its own headings and sub-headings. Multiple levels of subheads are designated first-level, second-level, and so on. The first section of a paper begins two inches from the top.

- First level: centered, boldface, headline-style capitalization, and followed by a blank line. E.g.:

Background of Jonah

- Second level: centered, regular type, headline-style capitalization, and followed by a blank line. E.g.:

Author of Jonah

- Third level: flush left, boldface, italic type, headline-style capitalization, and followed by a blank line. E.g.:

Assyria and Nineveh

- Fourth level: flush left, regular type, sentence-type capitalization, followed by a blank line. E.g.:

The city that offended God

- Fifth level: run in at beginning of paragraph (no blank line after), boldface, sentence-style capitalizations, terminal period. E.g.:

Population of Nineveh. There are more than 120,000 children who are below the age of four….

The proper formats and styles of headings and sub-headings have been neatly arranged for students in a "Writing Template" available in EAST's Learning Management System. Please refer to page 108 for guided steps on how to use this template.

[37] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 404–5.

Bibliography or References Page for Assignments Papers[38]

The titles "Bibliography" or "References" should be centered and set five centimeters from the top of a new page. There should be 2 blank lines between the title and the first entry. Each entry should be single-spaced. Separate different entries using a blank single-spaced line. Use the correct citation form for each entry according to the citation style you use for your paper.

- In notes-bibliography style, place the year of publication at the end of the bibliography entry. A detailed sample of a Bibliography is shown on pages 71–75.
- If you use author-date style, use the title "References" and place the year of publication right after the author's name/s. A detailed sample of a Reference list is shown on pages 102–106.
- Regardless of References or Bibliography, the entries should be arranged in alphabetical order according to the family names or last names (surnames) of the (first) authors of your sources.

[38] Turabian, A Manual for Writers, 411.

Bible Book Names and Abbreviations

1. When you use biblical quotations, use them in text documentation rather than in footnote or endnote.

2. When a Bible book is first referenced or mentioned, spell out its name in full. Thereafter, its abbreviation may be used.

3. The following are the two acceptable methods of documenting biblical quotes and writing the Bible book name on the first occurrence.

   John instructed the tax collectors, "Don't collect any more than you are required to" (Luke 3:13 NIV).

   Ecclesiastes 5:5 says, "It is better that you should not vow than that you should vow and not pay" (NASB).

4. When referring to whole chapters of a Bible book, the word "chapter" or "chapters" may be written or dropped. If it is the first occurrence that the book is mentioned, spell out its name in full. Otherwise, its abbreviation may be used.

   Jeremiah chapters 42–44 records the flight of the Jews to Egypt when Jerusalem fell in 586 BCE.

   OR

   Jeremiah 42–44 records the flight of the Jews to Egypt when Jerusalem fell in 586 BCE.

5. When citing scriptural passage references, spell out the book name in full if it is the first occurrence in the paper or use its abbreviation is it is not the first occurrence. Write the chapter and verse numbers in Arabic numerals with a colon between the chapter and verse numbers without spaces.

   1 Chronicles 7:14; 9:10 Zech 3:5 Phil 4:1–5 Revelation 3:1–4, 20

6. Refer to the tables below for the abbreviations of Bible versions and Bible books.

Bible Versions

Full Name	Abbreviations
American Standard Version	ASV
Contemporary English Version	CEV
English Standard Version	ESV
King James Version	KJV
New American Standard Bible	NASB
New International Version	NIV
New Revised Standard Version	NRSV
New English Translation	NET

Old Testament Books

Full Name	Traditional Abbreviations	Shorter Abbreviations
Genesis	Gen.	Gn
Exodus	Exod.	Ex
Leviticus	Lev.	Lv
Numbers	Num.	Nm
Deuteronomy	Deut.	Dt
Joshua	Josh.	Jo
Judges	Judg.	Jgs
Ruth	Ruth	Ru
1 Samuel	1 Sam.	1 Sm
2 Samuel	2 Sam.	2 Sm
1 Kings	1 Kings	1 Kgs
2 Kings	2 Kings	2 Kgs
1 Chronicles	1 Chron.	1 Chr
2 Chronicles	2 Chron.	2 Chr
Ezra	Ezra	Ezr
Nehemiah	Neh.	Neh
Esther	Esther	Est
Job	Job	Jb
Psalms	Ps. (singular) / Pss. (plural)	Ps (singular) / Pss (plural)
Proverbs	Prov.	Prv
Ecclesiastes	Eccles.	Eccl
Song of Solomon	Song of Sol.	Sg
Isaiah	Isa.	Is
Jeremiah	Jer.	Jer
Lamentations	Lam.	Lam
Ezekiel	Ezek.	Ez
Daniel	Dan.	Dn
Hosea	Hosea	Hos
Joel	Joel	Jl
Amos	Amos	Am
Obadiah	Obad.	Ob
Jonah	Jon.	Jon
Micah	Mic.	Mi
Nahum	Nah.	Na
Habakkuk	Hab.	Hb
Zephaniah	Zeph.	Zep
Haggai	Hag.	Hg
Zechariah	Zech.	Zec
Malachi	Mal.	Mal

New Testament Books

Full Name	Traditional Abbreviations	Shorter Abbreviations
Matthew	Matt.	Mt
Mark	Mark	Mk
Luke	Luke	Lk
John	John	Jn

Full Name	Traditional Abbreviations	Shorter Abbreviations
Acts of the Apostles	Acts	-
Romans	Rom.	Rom
1 Corinthians	1 Cor.	1 Cor
2 Corinthians	2 Cor.	2 Cor
Galatians	Gal.	Gal
Ephesians	Eph.	Eph
Philippians	Phil.	Phil
Colossians	Col.	Col
1 Thessalonians	1 Thess.	1 Thes
2 Thessalonians	2 Thess.	2 Thes
1 Timothy	1 Tim.	1 Tm
2 Timothy	2 Tim.	2 Tm
Titus	Titus	Ti
Philemon	Phlem.	Phlm
Hebrews	Heb.	Heb
James	James	Jas
1 Peter	1 Pet.	1 Pt
2 Peter	2 Pet.	2 Pt
1 John	1 John	1 Jn
2 John	2 John	2 Jn
3 John	3 John	3 Jn
Jude	Jude	-
Revelation	Rev.	Rv

Selected Religious Publishers in Short Form[39]

This following list contains the shortened form of some well-known religious publishers. A comprehensive list can also be found in SBL Handbook.[40] Note that some cities are well-known enough that the state names may be omitted but be consistent. Use the two-letter postal codes for the names of states in the United States of America and provinces in Canada.[41]

Publisher	Location	Short-Form Name
Abbey Press	St. Meinrad, IN	Abbey
Abingdon Press	Nashville, TN	Abingdon
Accent Books	Denver, CO	Accent
Antioch Publishing Co.	Yellow Springs, OH	Antioch
Augsburg Fortress, Publishers	Minneapolis, MN	Augsburg Fortress
Ave Maria Press	Notre Dame, IN	Ave Maria
Back to the Bible	Lincoln, NE	Back to the Bible
Baker Book House	Grand Rapids, MI	Baker
Ballantine/Epiphany	New York	Ballantine/Epiphany
Banner of Truth	Carlisle, PA	Banner of Truth
Baptist Publishing House	Texarkana, TX	Baptist
Bethany House Publishers	Minneapolis, MN	Bethany House
Broadman & Holman Publishers	Nashville, TN	Broadman
Concordia Publishing House	St. Louis, IL	Concordia
Cowley Publications	Cambridge, MA	Cowley
Crossway Books	Westchester, IL	Crossway
Doubleday Co.	Garden City, CA	Doubleday
Eerdmans Publishing Co., Wm. B.	Grand Rapids, MI	Eerdmans
Fortress Press	Philadelphia, PA	Fortress
HarperSanFrancisco	San Francisco, CA	HarperSanFrancisco
Harold Shaw Publishers	Wheaton, IL	Harold Shaw
Harvest House Publishers	Eugene, OR	Harvest House
Herald Press	Scottdale, PA	Herald
Ignatius Press	San Francisco, CA	Ignatius
InterVarsity Press	Downers Grove, IL	InterVarsity
John Knox Press	Atlanta, GA	John Knox
Kregel Publications	Grand Rapids, MI	Kregel
Macmillan Co., The	New York	Macmillan
Moody Press	Chicago, IL	Moody Press
Multnomah Publishers	Portland, OR	Multnomah
NavPress	Colorado Springs	NavPress
Nelson Publishers, Thomas	Nashville, TN	Nelson

[39] Robert Hudson, ed., The Christian Writer's Manual of Style, Rev. ed. (Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2004), 336–39.

[40] Society of Biblical Literature, SBL Handbook, 76–82.

[41] Society of Biblical Literature, 118.

Publisher	Location	Short-Form Name
Servant Publications	Ann Arbor, MI	Servant
Tyndale House Publishers	Wheaton, IL	Tyndale House
Victor Books	Wheaton, IL	Victor
Walk Thru the Bible Ministries	Atlanta, GA	Walk Thru the Bible
Westminster Press	Philadelphia, PA	Westminster
Word	Waco, TX	Word
Zondervan Publishing House	Grand Rapids, MI	Zondervan

Checklist for Assignment Papers

(Based on Turabian's Manual for Writers, 9th edition)

Use this checklist to review your papers prior to submission. This will ensure that your grade will not be discounted for format errors.

Title Page:

____ School name 2" from the top edge of the paper
____ Course code and name about 10 lines below the school's name
____ Title of paper about 15 lines below the course code and name
____ Submission section about 10 lines below the title of paper
____ Headline style
____ Correct spelling

Body of Paper:

____ One-inch margin on all sides
____ Page numbers to be at the top right on all other pages except main heading pages
____ Text is double-spaced
____ Paragraph indented 0.5"
____ Subheading begins 3rd line below text
____ Text begins 2nd line below subheading
____ Proper format for subheadings
____ All direct quotes in quotation marks
____ Block style used for quotations of five or more lines
____ Proper use of ellipsis

Footnotes:

____ Proper numbering in text and note
____ Proper placement
____ Number in superscript position
____ Text and footnote separated by a short rule or separator
____ Separator at bottom of page
____ Proper format for type of reference
____ Short title used where appropriate

Author-Date and Footnote Citations:

____ Sources used for quotes or significant ideas properly cited ____ n.p. and n.d. used where appropriate
____ All entries listed in Bibliography or References

Table of Contents:

(only for long papers with many sections or headings)

____ Heading 1" (5 lines) from top
____ First entry 2nd line below heading
____ Leading dots to page number
____ Outline follows text
____ Proper format and spacing

Main Headings:

____ 1" from top
____ Headline style (Introduction, Appendix, Bibliography or References)
____ Leave 2 spaces below heading
____ Page numbers to be at the bottom center of the first page or main heading pages

Bibliography/References:

____ Heading 1" from top
____ Leave 2 spaces below heading
____ Run over line indented 0.5"
____ Proper format for type of entry
____ Listed in alphabetical order according to the last names of the (first) authors of your sources
____ All entries are cited in the paper

Bibliography

Hudson, Robert, ed. The Christian Writer's Manual of Style. Rev. ed. Grand Rapids, MI: Zondervan, 2004.

Markman, Peter T., Alison L. Heney, Roberta Markman, and Marie L. Waddell. 10 Steps in Writing the Research Paper. 7th ed. Hauppauge, NY: Barron's Educational Series, 2011.

SBL Handbook of Style: Explanations, Clarifications, Expansions. "Citing Reference Works 2: Lexica." 30 March, 2017. https://sblhs2.com/2017/03/30/citing-reference-works-2-lexica/.

Society of Biblical Literature. The SBL Handbook of Style: For Biblical Studies and Related Disciplines. 2nd ed. Atlanta, GA: SBL Press, 2014.

Turabian, Kate L. A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations: Chicago Style for Students and Researchers. Edited by Wayne C. Booth, Gregory G. Colomb, Joseph M. Williams, Joseph Bizup, William T. FitzGerald, and The University of Chicago Press Editorial Staff. 9th ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2018.